JUDGE DENIES WALKER'S PLEA TO HALT TRIAL

Raps Quiz Methods; Court Powerless.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—In a decision criticizing Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's manner of conducting the Walker removal trial, Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley late today refused to interfere with the proceedings on the ground that "the court had no jurisdiction."

JUSTICE ELLIS J. STALEY.

"Gov. Roosevelt is responsible only to the people and his own conscience," said Justice Staley in his three thousand word ruling which denied both the plea filed by John J. Curtin, head of the mayor's legal staff, as well as that of George Donnelly of the Bronx for an order to halt the proceedings.

Questions Right of Quiz.

Justice Staley, formerly a Republican leader in Albany, and serving his twelfth year of a fourteen year term to which he was elected, questioned the right of Gov. Roosevelt to hear testimony taken by an investigating committee "where the accused officer has not been represented by counsel or afforded the opportunity of cross-examination." The justice also held that charges must relate to "the official conduct and not to the private conduct," as well as ruling that they must not be related to a "prior term" of office.

Meanwhile the hearing of the removal charges against Mayor Walker was held up until Friday by the death of the mayor's youngest brother, George Walker, in a Saranac, N. Y., sanitarium.

Gov. Roosevelt ordered a recess until after the funeral, which will be held in New York City Thursday afternoon. The next session will be on Friday afternoon and continue until midnight.

Called Victory for Walker.

Mr. Curtin, who had come to Albany for the Staley ruling, termed it "a great victory for Mayor Walker," and added that "it is an even greater victory for law and order and respect for the constitution."

"Justice Staley," said Mr. Curtin, "has sustained the three contentions we have made from the beginning of the trial."

The contentions as outlined by the lawyer were:

"The hearing of testimony taken by the Hofstadter committee without giving Walker a chance for cross-examination of witnesses who testified against him.

"The argument that charges must relate to official conduct and not private conduct.

"The contention that the charges must relate to acts in the present and not in the previous terms of office by Mayor Walker.

Approves Mayor's Pleas.

"In brief, Justice Staley has approved judically all the things we have contended for except the unconstitutionality of section 122 of the city charter [this provides for the removal of the mayor in the same manner as a sheriff], which was a mere incident in our position.

"I see no occasion for an appeal until we know what the governor proposes to do in complying with the principles laid down by the court."

Gov. Roosevelt declined to comment on Justice Staley's ruling until he had had an opportunity to discuss it with his legal advisor, Martin Conboy. He also said he might want to talk over the decision with Judge John E. Mack, who has assisted him in the Walker matter.

After citing a number of legal cases bearing on the present removal proceedings against Mayor Walker, Justice Staley's decision read:

"No local law has been passed and approved by the constituted city authorities of the city of New York and its electors to repeal, amend, or modify the removal section of the charter, and it remains unaltered and as originally enacted. . . . The removal section of the charter places no limitation on the nature of the act for which the mayor may be removed. It confers, without specifications, the naked power of removal and subjects

ELEVEN POLICE HURT IN IOWA FARM BATTLE

Pickets Use Stones, Clubs and Pipe.

Sioux City, Ia., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Eleven Woodbury county special deputy sheriffs were injured tonight when they engaged in a fight with several hundred farm holiday sympathizers near Cushing, Ia. The fight started after a county force of 50 deputy sheriffs had escorted five truckloads of hogs from the farm of William Turner of Moville to the Ida county line. All of the injured were brought to Sioux City in ambulances. Several were taken to a hospital.

The deputies had succeeded in escorting the trucks into Ida county. Several hundred farmers, in automobiles and trucks, were said to have followed the trucks to within three miles of Battle Creek, where they were overtaken. At that point, according to word received by Sheriff C. H. Dahlquist of Ida county, the hogs were unloaded, although a report from Moville said they were being returned to the Turner farm.

The deputies said they were attacked with stones, gravel and sticks en route from Moville. Near Cushing the blockaders, they said, attacked them with lead pipe and sticks.

Sheriff Davenport of Sioux City said he would attempt to learn the identity of the blockaders, looking toward action against them.

BREAK PICKET LINES

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—"Peaceful persuasion" gave way to violence as the farm holiday pickets sought to blockade the highways leading into Des Moines today. The result was an ignominious one for the holiday pickets, several of whom were arrested.

There were sluggings, fist fights and melees as Polk county farmers plowed through the picket posts with heavily guarded trucks and took their milk and other products to market. A khaki shirt, one of the bonus marchers who have appointed themselves overseers of the picketing activities, was slugged at the Marquisville camp of the pickets. An unidentified truck driver covered the man, Walter Hiatt of Des Moines, with a gun, and the driver of an automobile clipped him from behind, knocking him temporarily unconscious.

Sheriff Forced to Action.

Sheriff Charles F. Keeling, a farmer and a holiday sympathizer, was forced into action for the first time today by the demands of the milk producers and truck drivers, whose complaints convinced him that the farmers of Polk county are overwhelmingly opposed to the holiday scheme.

On complaint of E. J. Such of the Meadowbrook farms at Merle Hay and Camp Dodge roads the sheriff arrested Ray Michael, farmer, and Sam Patterson, another khaki shirt, charging them with malicious injury to property. Such said that he succeeded in plowing through the pickets on the Merle Hay road, but that Patterson and Michael chased him in an automobile. When his truck got caught in a traffic jam they got out and broke the headlights before he got away.

Sheriff Scatters Pickets.

Sheriff Keeling and his deputies were out late tonight scattering the pickets from their posts on the various highways leading to Des Moines. All trucks approaching the picket posts and desiring safe conduct were provided with escort. On highway No. 60 north of Des Moines, where several hundred spectators had gathered deputy sheriffs seized two more pickets, a farmer and a khaki shirt. They were taken into the county jail, but Sheriff Keeling refused to say what charges they were being held on. It was believed that the prisoners, Dick Wilson, khaki shirt, and Cecil Dirskin, the farmer, had been identified by truck drivers, whose property they had damaged.

"The highways must be kept open," said the sheriff, who had all his seven deputies patrolling the roads. "I'm not opposed to peaceful picketing, but if the farmers want to get through they must get through. I'm going to get warrants for every picket that can be identified as having committed acts of violence."

Tells of Running Blockade.

"BLACK SHIRT" ORDER SEEKS RECRUITS FOR WAR AGAINST "ISMS"

From Atlanta, home of other organizations that have waxed and faded—the Ku Klux Klan and Esskaye among them—a new order has reached out to Chicago and is seeking to enlist organizers willing to "make $25 to $50 a day" signing up recruits.

This new brotherhood is the American Fascisti [Order of Black Shirts] and membership is limited to white persons, male and over 18 years of age. Among its tenets is undying opposition to atheism and communism. Of these isms the Fascisti literature says:

"Atheism seeks to undermine religions. It asks that 'In God We Trust' be taken from our coins and attacking us by organizing school children into No-God societies. The communists not only seek to destroy property right but advocate the amalgamation of the white and colored races which would destroy both races and our present great civilization."

The organization is pledged to fight for lower taxes and to limit the ballot to persons who have paid poll taxes.

In general, the platform appears to be less intolerant than that of the Klan or Esskaye. However, in a letter written to a Chicagoan recently by the national secretary, W. B. Cobb of Atlanta, it was stated: "Of course there are lots of things in an order that cannot be printed."

There are three classes of memberships for which the fees are $3, $5 and $25. The $25 membership is lifelong, is free from dues and carries "emoluments and honors."

Haizlip Spans Nation by Air in Ten Hours

BY HUGH SEXTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—James G. Haizlip, former army flyer and right hand man of Maj. James H. Doolittle, flashed across the finish line at the National air races this afternoon at 3:04 p. m. eastern standard time, to win the Bendix dash from Burbank, Cal., and roared on to New York to establish a new transcontinental record of 10 hours 19 minutes.

Haizlip beat the transcontinental record of 11 hours 15 minutes 11 seconds set by Maj. Doolittle last year in the Bendix dash by approximately 57 minutes. His average speed to Cleveland, 2,041 miles, was 245 miles an hour, including time out for fuel stops at Goodland, Kas. and Ford airport, Lansing, Ill. His elapsed time was 8 hours 19 minutes.

Crossed Rockies at 18,000 Feet.

He flew the fogbound Rockies at 18,000 feet and pushed his Wedell Williams low wing racer to almost 300 miles an hour to maintain his 255 miles per hour air speed average. Between Cleveland and New York, 429 miles, his average speed dropped to 209 miles per hour because of fog over the "Hell stretch" of the Alleghenies.

Haizlip landed at Floyd Bennett airport, New York, at 5:04 p. m. [E. S. T.]. His start at Burbank was made at 6:45 a. m. [E. S. T.]. The plane he flew was powered by a 575 horsepower Wasp Jr. motor, the same type used by Maj. Doolittle last year in his Laird, Chicago-built racer, except for an increase of 40 horsepower.

Turner Also Breaks Mark.

Roscoe Turner landed at Floyd Bennett airport at 6:28 p. m. [E. S. T.], completing the cross-country dash in 10 hours 57 minutes, also breaking Doolittle's mark. Turner finished in the Bendix race here at 3:32 p. m. with an elapsed time from Burbank of 9 hours 20 minutes. He landed for 30 gallons of gas but had nothing to say. He flew a Wedell low wing Williams racer with a Wasp Jr. motor.

Almost before Turner was out of sight, James R. Wedell, designer of the Wedell Williams racers, flashed over the finish line at 3:42 p. m. His elapsed time from Burbank was 8 hours 47 minutes, which gave him second place in the race and Turner third.

Loses Time in Chicago.

Wedell also flew one of his racers, powered by a Wasp Junior motor of 575 horsepower. He landed his plane, dubbed "Miss Patterson" for the Louisiana town in which he lives, and told reporters who rushed up that he had lost forty minutes at Chicago air-

TROPICAL STORM BRINGS HIGH WIND AND RAIN TO FLORIDA

Miami, Fla., Aug. 29.—(AP)—A tropical storm from the West Indies brought high winds and heavy rain to the lower east coast of Florida tonight, but no damage was reported in any section except to crops in the Redlands district, about 30 miles south of Miami.

Washington and Miami weather bureau reports as to the storm center varied. At 9:30 p. m. the Washington bureau ordered hurricane warnings extended northward to Palm Beach, but at 10 p. m. Richard W. Gray, Miami forecaster, said the wind direction had changed and its velocity diminished. This, with an accompanying rise in the barometer, indicated that any threat to the east coast had passed, he said, and that the storm was moving inland, south of here.

The Key West weather bureau meanwhile predicted the center of the disturbance would cross the Florida keys about midnight.

During the 12 hour period ending at 9 p. m. four inches of rain fell in the Miami area, and gusts of wind estimated as high as 50 miles an hour at times made the streets uncomfortable for homeward bound office workers. Shortly before minight it still was raining, but the wind had dropped to between 20 and 25 miles an hour.

The Homestead correspondent of the Miami Herald reported that 75 per cent of the avocado and one-third of the citrus crops in the Redlands district had been destroyed by the wind.

From Fort Myers on the west coast late tonight came reports that the weather was squally, but the wind velocity was not high.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Aug. 29.—Twenty-two persons were killed today when a motor truck carrying sixty delegates from a Liberal party rally plunged from a bridge and dropped thirty feet to a rocky stream bed. Thirty of the occupants were injured. Several are not expected to recover. Francisco Fonseca Vazquez, the driver, who was injured, said the jam in the truck so crowded him that he lost control at a sharp turn in the road.

Deported Chicago Gunman Killed in Fall from Roof

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Described as an English born Chicago gunman, who was deported after serving 14 years in Sing Sing, Robert Hall died today hurling slate shingles and chimney pots at police who had surrounded him on a roof top after an attempted robbery. He held police at bay until he slipped and fell twenty feet to the ground. He died in a hospital with a fractured skull.

Chicago Craft of Millionaire Under Guard

The Kenkora II., a 170 foot Diesel motored yacht owned by Kenneth G. Smith, millionaire president of the Pepsodent company, was taken into custody last night by the United States customs service and choice liquor valued at approximately $2,500 was confiscated. No arrests were made, but a customs guard remained in charge of the yacht at its moorings in the harbor at the foot of Monroe street.

The liquor stock included the following: Two cases of Johnny Walker whisky, one case of Courvoisier champagne, more than a dozen bottles of Bass' Dogshead ale, forty quarts of Dewar's Scotch whisky, and bottles of Vermouth, Sauterne, Burgundy, creme de menthe, chartreuse, and other liquors. One unmarked pint bottle half full of gin was included in the assortment. In all there were 281 bottles of liquors.

Face U. S. Quiz Today.

Neither Mr. Smith nor Capt. Claude Newman, master of the vessel, would make a statement. The commanding officers and the owner will appear at 2 p. m. today to be examined by Anthony Czarnecki, customs collector. The possibility that the yacht might be confiscated as the carrier of smuggled merchandise was mentioned by customs officials.

Discovery of the contraband came about through the desire of Capt. Newman to avoid violating the immigration laws. Early in the afternoon he appeared at the federal building and stated the yacht had just returned to Chicago after a cruise in Canadian waters. Two aliens had been brought to Chicago as guests of the owner, and Capt. Newman wished to make the necessary arrangements to permit them a short visit here.

A customs inspector was sent to the harbor to clear the yacht in accordance with the regulations. On board the yacht Capt. Newman said there was no merchandise on board to declare and prepared for a cursory inspection. According to the inspector, he objected to a thorough customs Finds Liquor in Lockers.

In a separate storeroom the inspector came across the store of liquor, openly placed in a row of lockers. Fred Gardner, special agent of the customs service, and Frank Smolek, chief customs investigator, were sent to the harbor for a complete investigation. Their report was not made public, but the order for confiscation of the liquor and the placing of a guard on the boat followed.

The Kenkora II., named after an earlier boat of the same name which burned a year ago, is of American registry and, according to coast guard officers, is valued at approximately $500,000. It is a luxurious cruising yacht with a 26 foot beam and draws 14.5 feet of water. It is said to be one of the largest pleasure boats on the great lakes.

Collector Czarnecki said last night that any action against the officials or owners of the yacht would depend on the action of United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green, following the conference this afternoon. Mr. Green went to the federal building last night following the raid and listened to preliminary reports, but would make no statement.

FIND SPOT WHERE CHRIST FED 5,000 WITH FIVE LOAVES

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 29.—The Vatican was informed today that the exact spot where Christ performed the miracle of feeding 5,000 persons with five barley loaves and two small fishes [Mark 6, 32-44] has been identified by Evarist Andrew Mader of the Order of the Holy Saviour, who represents at Jerusalem the German historical society, Goerresgeselishaft.

By the shore of the Lake of Tiberias were found the remains of an ancient basilica answering in every detail the description left by the pilgrim Silvia Aquitania at the end of the fourth century of a basilica built soon after Constantine recognized the Christian religion over the spot where the miracle was performed.

The basilica found by Mader is decorated with beautiful mosaics and contains an exquisite baptismal font. Under the altar was found a large natural rock. It is supposed that this is the original rock on which Christ sat when he was performing the miracle.

The Lake of Tiberias is in the upper part of Palestine, 60 miles north of Jerusalem. It is traversed by the Jordan river and is better known as the Sea of Galilee. There is still in existence on its western shore a town called Tiberias. The lake is 14 miles long and 8 miles wide at its widest. On its eastern shore are beautiful hills. The town of Nazareth is a few miles west of the lake.

WILL OF EDITH R. M'CORMICK PUT ON RECORD

Executor Is Given Unlimited Power.

The last will of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, dictated and signed by her on Aug. 4, exactly three weeks before her death, was filed for probate yesterday afternoon.

EDWIN KRENN.

As previously revealed, Edwin Krenn, the Austrian architect who was Mrs. McCormick's closest business adviser and friend, is the principal beneficiary under the will. He is bequeathed five-twelfths of the estate. The remaining seven-twelfths is divided among Mrs. McCormick's two daughters and her son.

Unlimited Power to Executor.

The Chicago Title and Trust company, of which Abel Davis is chairman of the board, was named as executor. The will gives the executor unlimited power to conduct the affairs of the estate.

Mr. Davis said the value of the estate would be known in a few days. Charles S. Cutting, former Probate judge, who drew the will and who will be the legal representative of the estate, said it was impossible for any person to set a value on the property owned by Mrs. McCormick.

The estate was once estimated to have a value of 40 million dollars. Such items as the $7,000,000 Villa Turicum estate in Lake Forest, the $4,000,000 town mansion at 1000 Lake Shore drive, and $2,000,000 worth of jewels were included in this $40,000,000 valuation. [illegible] items in the estate has shrunk in the last few years.

May Be Deciding Factor.

An unusual feature of the will is the power given in its final clause to the executor, a power which, some legal authorities contend, may eventually solve the question of whether Edward A. Dato, partner of Krenn in the real estate firm of Krenn & Dato, will obtain the five-twelfths of the estate which was left to Krenn. It has been revealed that shortly before Mrs. McCormick's death Krenn signed an agreement with Dato by which he waived all claims to the estate as well as his interest in the firm of Krenn & Dato, and accepted in lieu thereof a guarantee of $2,000 a month income for life.

Oscar Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner, said that the final clause of the will was unusual. This clause gives the executor the same powers over the estate that Mrs. McCormick would have retained if she had lived. This clause may become famous in the event of any legal dispute involving the will, according to several lawyers who scanned the document.

The Concluding Phrase.

After several paragraphs detailing the powers to be assumed by the executor in the ordinary legal phraseology used in most wills, the will concludes with this phrase: "and in general to do and perform all acts and things whatsoever which the executor could do or perform if it were the absolute owner thereof."

"That phrase would indicate that the executor is given power to set aside any agreements which have been made by heirs to the will," Mr. Caplan commented.

The will is a four page typewritten document. On each page and at the end is the signature of Mrs. McCormick in a wavering hand. The three witnesses to the will, who also signed their names, were Mr. Cutting and his law partner, James F. Oates Jr., and W. Clyde Jones.

The other feature of the will which aroused comment was the strong wording given to the paragraph dealing with the situation that would arise if any of the legatees begin any proceedings to contest the will. Such a person would immediately forfeit his or her legacy and his or her share will become the property of Krenn, the will states emphatically.

Text of Document.

The will is entitled the "Last Will and Testament of Edith Rockefeller McCormick. It follows in part:

"I, EDITH ROCKEFELLER McCORMICK of the city of Chicago, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby revoke any and all former wills and codicils by me made and do make, publish and declare this to be my last will and testament.

"First: I direct my executor to pay all my just debts and funeral expenses, and to pay out of the principal of my general estate all valid estate, inheritance, transfer and succession taxes, which may be imposed or assessed during the period of administration of my property or estate, or on the transmission thereof by my death, or on any bequest, devise or interest hereunder.

"Second: I give, devise and bequeath unto my daughter, Muriel McCormick Hubbard, one-third [1-3] of all my estate of every kind and nature, real, personal, and mixed.

"Third: I give, devise and bequeath unto my daughter, Mathilde McCormick Oser, one-sixth [1-6] of all my estate of every kind and nature, real, personal, and mixed.

Fourth: "I give, devise and bequeath unto my son, Fowler McCormick, one-twelfth [1-12] of all my estate of every kind and nature, real, personal, and mixed.

Remainder to Krenn.

"Fifth: I give, devise and bequeath all the remainder of my estate, real, personal, and mixed, of every kind and nature, unto my friend, Edwin D. Krenn. I make this provision because I am justly indebted to the said Edwin D. Krenn for large sums of money and securities loaned by him to me at my request, and the amount hereby given him will not fully compensate him for the loss which he has and will sustain by reason of such debts, loans and advances to me from time to time.

"Sixth: Should any or either of the legatees mentioned in this will die before my death, it is my will that the amount of the legacy herein provided for such person so dying shall be redistributed among my legatees in proportion to the amounts herein given to them severally. In case any legatee herein named or any heir at law or other beneficiary under this will shall begin any proceedings to contest the same, the legacy or the interest of such person shall thereupon be forfeited and his or her legacy shall become void. The amount herein given, bequeathed and devised to such person so beginning any such proceeding shall fall into the residuum of my estate and become the property of my residuary legatee, Edwin D. Krenn.

"Seventh: I hereby nominate and appoint Chicago Title and Trust company executor of this, my last will and testament."

Describes Executor's Duties.

There then follows the description of the executor's duties, ending with the phrase extending unlimited power to the executor.

The will concludes: "In witness whereof I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed my seal this 4th day of August, 1932." There follow Mrs. McCormick's signature and the statement of the witnesses that the will was signed by Mrs. McCormick in their presence and that they certify that they believe her to have been "of sound and disposing mind and memory when the will was made."

A will made previous to this will and drawn at Mrs. McCormick's orders some years ago was reported to have made no mention of Krenn and to have donated the Lake Forest estate and town house to the cities of Lake Forest and Chicago as museums. Most of the estate was given to the children under the older will, it was said.

Lawyer Explains Loans.

The phrase of the will referring to Mr. Krenn's loans to Mrs. McCormick was explained by former Judge Cutting, who verified the story published previously that Mr. Krenn had given Mrs. McCormick $1,260,000, his entire personal fortune, when she needed it.

"Theirs was a beautiful friendship," said the lawyer. "Their relationship was that of mother and son."

Mrs. McCormick made the will with no knowledge that her death was so near, Attorney Cutting said. She made the suggestion that the estate be divided into twelfths because her finances were so involved that there was no manner in which definite sums could be bequeathed, he said.

"I know nothing concerning the statement that Krenn has surrendered by agreement his share in Mrs. McCormick's estate," he continued. "When Mrs. McCormick signed the will she informed me that Krenn had arranged to relinquish his interests in the firm of Krenn & Dato, but I have no knowledge of any subsequent agreement whereby he has consented to give up his share allotted by her in her last will."

The attorney said he did not know whether or not Krenn was aware of the exact provisions of the will. It has been learned, as previously published, that he signed the agreement to renounce his claims to the estate on Aug. 14, ten days after the will was written and eleven days before Mrs. McCormick's death.

Next Step Up to Dato.

Probating of the will is to go ahead just as if Krenn had not waived his share to the estate, the lawyer said. The next step must come from Dato, whose attorney, it was reported, will probably file the agreement with Krenn in the Probate court and put in Dato's claim for Krenn's five-twelfths.

In this event, the import of the final phrase giving the executor unlimited powers may be determined by the Probate judge. The question probably will arise, lawyers said, as to what Mrs. McCormick would have thought of Dato's purchase of Krenn's five-twelfths. If the court decides that Mrs. McCormick would not have approved of the Krenn-Dato agreement, then the agreement may be declared null and void and the executor, under the will, may be directed to oust Dato as an heir by proxy.

Dato may also be removed as trustee of the Edith Rockefeller McCormick trust, the lawyers pointed out. Mrs. McCormick, Krenn, and Dato were the three trustees, and Dato remains the sole trustee because of Mrs. McCormick's death and Krenn's withdrawal under his agreement.

The trust agreement, however, provides that the owner of two-thirds of the shares in the trust shall have power to oust the trustees. The shares were not divided equally among the three trustees as had been supposed at first, however. Of the 52,350 shares, Krenn and Dato had only 15 shares each and Mrs. McCormick retained the rest. The Chicago Title and Trust company, as executor, therefore, will have legal possession and control of the vast majority of the shares and will have power to oust Dato as trustee if it wishes.

Hold Janitor for Quiz on $5,000 Threat Letter

After receiving an anonymous letter several days ago threatening death unless she paid $5,000, Mrs. Mildred Holbrook, owner of a flat building at 6515 Kimbark avenue, told police she suspected a janitor whom she had discharged. Last night the ex-janitor, Roy Facil, 37 years old, 7920 Burnham avenue, was arrested for questioning by Policemen Joseph Brady and Michael Nolan.

STATE PUTS TAX OF $2,553,936 ON WRIGLEY ESTATE

Record Levy Made on $19,000,000.

Heirs of the late William Wrigley Jr., chewing gum manufacturer and owner of the Chicago Cubs, will pay Illinois inheritance taxes totaling $2,553,936, the largest total ever levied on an Illinois estate, it was disclosed yesterday. The amount of the tax became known when County Judge Jarecki approved an appraisal made by the state for the purpose of determining the amount of the tax.

$19,000,000 Illinois Holdings.

The appraisal, made under the direction of Harry A. Ash and Joseph Rolnick, assistants to Attorney General Carlstrom, places the net worth of Mr. Wrigley's holdings in Illinois at $19,186,724, of which $18,863,742 is personal property and $323,000 real estate.

The previous record payment of inheritance taxes in Illinois was approximately $2,100,000 on the estate of James A. Patten, the "wheat king." The Wrigley tax payments will be about equal to all of the other inheritance tax collections in Illinois since Jan. 1, Mr. Ash estimated.

The gross value of the personal property was fixed at $21,410,390. From this debts of $621,648, administration costs of $750,000, and an estimated federal inheritance tax of $1,175,000, or a total of $2,546,648, were deducted.

Outside Holdings Excluded.

The appraisal, being only for those properties which Mr. Wrigley held in Illinois, did not include his holdings in Wisconsin, where he has an estate at Lake Geneva, or in Arizona, where his holdings included the hotel at Phoenix, where he died last Jan. 26, or some of his California properties. Catalina island, however, is held by an incorporated company, and the stock of that company was included in the Illinois personal property.

Mr. Wrigley, in his will, provided that the inheritance taxes should be paid out of the trust in which he placed his residual estate after making specific bequests, which, except for the outright bequest of the Cubs to his son, Philip K. Wrigley, were of a comparatively minor nature.

Bulk Goes to Philip.

Mrs. Ada Wrigley, the widow, is to receive the income from the trust during her life. Eventually Philip Wrigley will receive six tenths of the trust and a daughter, Mrs. James R. Offield, her husband, and two grandchildren of William Wrigley Jr. the remainder.

The proportions of the state inheritance tax which were assessed against the various heirs were made public yesterday. Against the widow, $414,415 was assessed, against Philip K. Wrigley, $1,292,810, against Mr. and Mrs. Offield, $235,578, and against the minor heirs, $10,862. Under the Illinois inheritance tax law, the tax is not based solely upon the amount of the inheritance, but also upon the age of the heir and the degree of relationship to the testator.

Rosina G. Wolff Obtains New York Marriage Permit

Miss Rosina G. Wolff, daughter of the late Aaron R. Wolff, wealthy Chicago druggist, and George J. Eising, New York broker, obtained a license to marry yesterday in New York, stating that the ceremony was to be performed later in the day at the Ambassador hotel there. Both are 26 years old. Miss Wolff eloped to Crown Point in November, 1923, and was married to Irving C. Stone of Chicago. She divorced him in 1927.

Baby Boy, 2 Months Old, Left on Bungalow Porch

A smiling baby boy, about two months old, was abadoned about 1 o'clock this morning on the front porch of a bungalow at 9925 Calumet avenue. He was found resting on a pillow, busily at work on a partly filled bottle of milk. No notes were discovered. Burnside police were notified, and Policeman Forest Watson and Terry McGrath took the child to St. Vincent's orphange

CERMAK SPENDS QUIET DAY IN GAY PAREE; SEES OFFICIALS TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Mayor Cermak of Chicago, who arrived here today with his party from Switzerland, spent a quiet day. His only official activity was a courtesy call on Norman Armour, counselor at the American embassy.

Tomorrow he will see Ambassador Walter E. Edge, call on the president of the municipal council of Paris and confer with French officials regarding the 1933 Chicago World's Fair. He will also be guest of honor at the weekly luncheon of the American club of Paris.

One of the mayor's first acts on his arrival here was to visit the travel information service office of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. He then adjourned to a nearby "scribe" bar to welcome newspaper men and admirers who came trooping in during a good part of the afternoon.

3 SONS GET BULK OF MRS. FERRY'S $500,000 ESTATE

The will of Mrs. Abby Farwell Ferry of Lake Forest was filed in Waukegan for probate yesterday. Mrs. Ferry, the daughter of the late John V. Farwell, was active in Chicago and north shore society for more than half a century. Her death occurred a week ago in the Alice Home hospital of Lake Forest. She was 81 years old, the widow of William Henry Ferry.

Francis Farwell Ferry, one of her three sons, was named executor of the estate which has an estimated value of $500,000. The sons receive all her personal effects except her silver service, which goes to a grandson, Francis Farwell Ferry Jr. A trust fund of $100,000 is set aside for a granddaughter, Phyllis Ferry, daughter of Montague Ferry. The balance of the estate is divided among the sons, Francis, Montague, and the Rev. Montague Ferry.

The Chicago law firm of Defrees, Buckingham, Hoffman & Jones filed the will in the office of John R. Bullock, probate clerk of Lake county. Acting Probate Judge Theodore S. Forby fixed no date for a hearing upon it.

Breaks Every Major Bone, Lives; Dies of Pneumonia

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Fred Simon, 42, a sign painter who amazed physicians by recovering after almost every major bone in his body was broken in a 110 foot fall, is dead of pneumonia. He fell from a water tank in 1915.

SUMMER WANING, BUT HEAT SETS ALL-TIME MARK

The thermometer performed a few acrobatics yesterday, scooting up to 93 between 3 and 4 p. m., to break all local records for heat on Aug. 29. At 5 p. m. it had dropped to 92. The former mark was 89, registered in 1925.

Warm winds from the southwest brought the change from chill rainy weather of Sunday, the combination of heat and moisture keeping practically everybody busy mopping perspiring brows. There is no relief in sight for today, but tomorrow will be cloudy, probably followed by showers and cooler, according to the forecaster.

Summer Drawing to Close.

Tomorrow ends the last of the three summer months, although there remain three weeks of summer, which is ended by the equinox. But already the straw skimmers are showering around the umpires in Wrigley field and Comiskey park with end of August nonchalance. And up at the weather bureau in the dome of the federal building, they're closing the summer books tomorrow.

Up there the maps and charts, and C. A. Donnel, chief forecaster, call it an unusual summer, but not a record breaking one. As the meteorologist summed it up yesterday, it was quite in line with the comment any Chicagoan could make to another at almost any time — "as usual, we're having unusual weather."

Other Summers Hotter.

Specifically, the three months just ending were warm and wet. But not the warmest in the city's sixty-two years of keeping tab on the elements by any means. The three months come seventh in the list to date, with the corresponding period of 1921 recorded as the hottest, 1931 second hottest, and thereafter in the following order: 1874, 1901, 1919, 1880, and 1932.

The month that ends tomorrow was much the driest of the three, and it received almost half its total rainfall in the slow, soaking rain of Sunday. With 2.97 inches up to yesterday, it lacked 0.12 of the average for August, which is 3.09. June and July were well in advance of their average precipitation, however. June showed a rainfall of 4.79 inches, as against the average of 3.36, and July had 4.67 inches, as against 3.33.

Rain Helps Relief Gardens.

Sunday's rain reached a depth of 1.45 inches locally and brought joy in its wake to truck gardeners, especially the unemployed whose Cook county gardens glowed green after the drenching. Dairymen also benefited materially. Pastures were found yesterday to have started up new growth for September, usually the period of lightest milk production in southern Wisconsin, northern Illinois and Indiana.

The fruit belt of Michigan rejoiced in the downpour. In that region the rainfall was even heavier than around Chicago, reaching 2.62 inches at Lansing.

Corn farmers said the moisture did them little good, since the ears are past the "dough" stage and rain will not offset the dry weather now. In southern Wisconsin drought for the third successive summer caused hundreds of farmers to start cutting corn for silage during the last two months.

FRANCIS E. LOCY NAVY MEDICAL OFFICER, IS DEAD

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Lieutenant Commander Francis Eastman Locy, a member of the navy medical corps for 16 years, died in the naval hospital here yesterday after an illness of four months.

Born in Lake Forest, Ill., he was graduated from Northwestern university medical school in 1915. During the world war he served with a marine regiment in France. As a specialist in eye, nose, and throat ailments he was at Port au Prince, Haiti, with the First brigade of marines when he became ill.

He is survived by his widow and two children. Burial will be in Arlington cemetery, near Washington, tomorrow.

FOUND DEAD IN AUTO.

William Konovsky, 24 years old, of Riverside, was found dead yesterday in his automobile near Lincoln, Ill. Death was apparently due to carbon monoxide gas breathed with suicidal intent.

Missing Husband Returns Home

Norvall C. Wolcott of Wilmette, who disappeared two years ago and had been practically given up for dead, and his wife, Gloria, and their daughter, Nancy Lee. Wolcott's father notified police yesterday that he had returned home.

REPORTED DEAD, RETURNS HOME AFTER TWO YEARS

Wilmette Man Called Amnesia Victim.

Norvall C. Wolcott, 23 years old, who disappeared two years ago and who was once reported dead and cremated in San Pedro, Cal., has returned to the home of his father, Carl P. Wolcott, 2144 Chestnut avenue, Wilmette.

The report of his return was given to the Chicago police yesterday by the elder Wolcott. He said his son had arrived on Thursday.

"My son tells me," Mr. Wolcott added, "that he remembers little of his early wanderings. He worked on ranches and in towns along the Pacific coast.

"He appears to have been a victim of amnesia. He believes that his memory was lost because of a blow on the head. How he got the blow I can't say. Recently this condition improved and he decided to come back home."

Disappears After Marriage.

Young Wolcott mysteriously disappeared in July, 1930, some six months after he had been married to Miss Gloria Kirkpatrick of 1917 Estes avenue. She and a daughter born to her late in 1930 continued to live there for some time, but have since moved and could not be reached yesterday.

No report of the young man's departure was made to the police until Nov. 12, 1930. One week later, on Nov. 19, the authorities here were notified that a body answering to the description of Wolcott had been taken from the ocean at San Pedro. Ernest Bishop of Los Angeles, an uncle of the youth, viewed the body and declared it that of his nephew. The body was cremated before other relatives arrived on the coast.

Insists on Further Search.

Mrs. Gloria Wolcott, however, insisted that the body was not that of her husband and pointed to discrepancies in the description. His relatives, she said, had opposed their marriage. She insisted that the search for Wolcott be continued and the cause was held open in the records of the missing persons bureau.

The Wolcott home was closed last night and neighbors said they understood the family had gone to Michigan to occupy a cottage for several weeks. It was not definitely established whether young Wolcott's wife and baby had rejoined him, but one neighbor said she had seen a small child at the house a few days ago.

Chicago Will See Sun as a Thin Crescent Tomorrow

Chicagoans who gaze through smoked glasses at the sun tomorrow afternoon will see it, at about 3:20 p. m., in the form of a new moon. Barely 21 per cent of the glowing sphere will be visible; the other 79 per cent will be obscured by the moon.

The eclipse of the sun will be total over a belt a hundred miles wide in New England and in eastern Canada, and hundreds of scientists have gathered in those regions to make close observations regarding temperatures, the appearance of the flaming corona of the sun, and the validity of theories —notably those of Einstein on relativity.

A Great Day for Science.

Only at times of eclipse can accurate data be obtained on many questions which puzzle the savants. A more nearly correct measurement of the distance of the sun from the earth, as an instance, may be obtained through the observations tomorrow. There are still unsolved mysteries about the nature of the sun's power, still unknown factors that may be exposed and that lead to an understanding of the atom and, as a consequence, of the structure of all matter.

From the Chicago area have gone several parties to view the phenomenon in New England. One party, from the Elgin National Watch company, is seeking to time the event to a nicety that will permit an error of less than 1-200th of a second. In recent eclipses it has been found that astronomers have been slightly at fault in the calculations, the onrush of the moon across the face of the sun coming from three to twelve seconds off the announced schedules.

Northwestern university has sent a delegation which will make its tests in the air. Three planes will be sent to high altitudes and each will bring back photographs which are expected to show whether curvature of light rays is affected by the atmosphere or is due to the fact—if it is a fact—that space is built in curves, too.

From the University of Chicago a party of scientists, headed by Dr. George A. Van Biesbroeck, professor of practical astronomy, and Dr. Walter Bartky, assistant professor of astronomy, have gone to Island Pond, Me. They are to study particularly the sun's corona.

Test Drop of Temperature.

At Fryeburg, Me., planes will ascend to varying altitudes to test the changes in temperature and atmospheric pressure during the totality of the eclipse. In England five years ago it was discovered that thermometer readings dropped ten degrees with the shutting off of sun rays. Tomorrow's tests are expected to demonstrate whether this was due to the eclipse or to local conditions.

For the scientists the eclipse is a series of natural phenomena to be tested. But for the nonscientific it is a spectacle. The shadow of the moon moves across the earth's surface at 1,200 miles an hour. The sun shrinks and—in the area of totality—is blotted out except for the corona. Chickens go to roost. Animals are puzzled. Many times, in the childhood of the human race, terror gripped those who watched the orb grow dim and die for a brief time.

Warned to Protect Eyes.

To those who wish to view the event as a spectacle warnings have been issued to protect the eyes. To gaze with uncovered vision at the sun may cause serious troubles. The use of smoked glass or of dense, developed photographic film is recommended by physicians.

The time for the start of the eclipse near Chicago is 3:07 p. m., daylight saving time. The maximum obscuration will occur about an hour and quarter later. The end of the eclipse will occur at about 4:29 p. m.

So many spectators have gathered in the darkness belt of New England that one New Hampshire town alone ordered an additional 30,000 hot dogs to feed them.

Hitch Hikers Get There.

Freyburg, Me., Aug. 29.—[Special.] John Corbett, Edward Prahin, Max Glassman and David Malkemus, students at Crane Junior college, Chicago, have arrived here after hitch hiking 1,500 miles to view the total eclipse. The boys said they were seven days on the road, but they spent two days sightseeing. Their food has cost them an average of fifty cents a day each and they flopped for nothing a night in the open fields.

Odor Bombs Hurled Into Bakery; Union Is Blamed

Bottles containing odorous fluids were thrown into the bakery of Perry Scaro at 543 Noble street last night. Scaro told police he believed the stench bombing was a result of his refusal to become a member of the Italian Master Bakers' association. Business agents of the union have been after him to join, he said.

HITLER LUNCHES WITH VON PAPEN; BREACH WIDENS

Nazi Chief Denied Place in German Cabinet.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—(AP)—On the eve of the opening of the new reichstag Chancellor Franz von Papen flatly told Adolf Hitler today he could not take a hand in the government of Germany and Hitler replied in kind tonight.

After the National Socialist chieftain had broken bread with the chancellor and Minister of Defense Kurt Von Schleicher it was learned from an authoritative source that Hitler had been told it was too late to consider his proposals for a seat in the cabinet.

Hitler Is Defiant.

In a spirited address to the 230 National Socialist members of the reichstag, by far the strongest bloc, the repulsed Fascist leader indicated the breach between him and Von Papen had widened to a point where he could not possibly support or tolerate the present government.

Returning violently to the death sentences imposed on five of his adherents for a political slaying, Hitler said:

"So long as the government makes Beuthen possible the Nazis cannot support it. To me it is not understandable why five Nazis should be placed under the knife because of one Polish insurgent who fought against our brothers in Silesia."

Will Fight for Goal.

Intimating that his delegation in the reichstag had been told to behave themselves at the opening tomorrow, he administered the oath of fidelity to them and told them:

"You will give the German people who look on you today an example of boundless discipline. All the same we will never surrender but fight to the goal."

After the luncheon the chancellor and the defense minister, accompanied by Minister of the Interior Wilhelm von Gayl and Presidential Secretary Otto Meissner, left for Neudeck in East Prussia to get President von Hindenburg's approval of the baronial cabinet's plans for the regeneration of Germany.

Ordinarily the attention of those awaiting political decisions would be focussed on Berlin, where not only the reichstag opens tomorrow but also the Prussian diet.

Steals Parliament's Thunder.

But Chancellor von Papen stole the parliamentary thunder by going to Neudeck on the very day when the reichstag and the diet expected him to appear in the seats of the chancellor and the state premier.

Thus attention has been effectively diverted to the real source of authority in Germany today—Paul von Hindenburg.

Many observers saw in the chancellor's visit to Neudeck a studied gesture of disdain for parliamentarism.

However this may be, the fact is that everything hinges upon Von Hindenburg. The reichstag and the diet are mere safety valves for blowing off steam.

Has President's Confidence.

The entire German press features the Neudeck confab as of historic moment. There is no doubt that Von Papen enjoys the president's full confidence and the chancellor will not yield even to a Nazi-Centrist combination unless the president can be shown that such a coalition would set up a presidential and not a party cabinet and that it would offer a concrete program of action, acceptable to the majority of the reichstag and at least as good or better than Von Papen's.

In political circles it was generally taken for granted that the new reichstag would be dissolved unless it supports the Von Papen cabinet, or sets up majority government with ministers responsible and acceptable to Von Hindenburg and with a constructive program ready for action.

The chancellor's departure was preceded by a series of parleys in Berlin, where the political pot boiled merrily. The most important of these meetings was the Hitler luncheon. It was reported that Hitler also had conferred with former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, Catholic Centrist leader, and there were several reichstag party caucuses.

WILMETTE MAY LOSE A FAMILY BY TUITION PLAN

An "exodus" of one Wilmette family was threatened last night as the result of the plan of the village school board to collect a tuition loan of $80,000 from the parents of children attending the four Wilmette elementary schools.

The threat was made at a meeting of sixty parents with members of the school board at the Stolp school. Henry E. Cutler, president of the board, explained that $80,000 was needed to maintain the schools for five months, and warned that unless the funds were raised by Sept. 15, the schools would not open as scheduled on Sept. 19. Under the plan, he said, $10 would have to be advanced monthly for each child. Parents would receive tax warrants in exchange for the loans, he added.

Several parents protested. One said the $50 loan would be difficult to meet. That difficulty might be avoided, he remarked, by moving to Highland Park. He probably would move, he said. Another believed the $80,000 should be raised among nonparents as well as parents. Most of the parents indicated approval of the scheme, however, by purchasing $2,500 of warrants as tuition loans. Another parents' meeting will be held tonight.

WOMAN RED, 75, CALLS REICHSTAG TO ORDER TODAY

Militant Clara Zetkin to Wield Gavel.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Seventy-five year old Clara Zetkin, communist member of the reichstag, who is entitled by tradition and law to preside at the opening session of the German reichstag tomorrow, was making plans today to exercise her right. Her age gives her this prerogative.

She is hiding near Berlin tonight out of fear of an attack upon her life from radical Hitlerites and Nationalists, who are protesting vigorously against permitting her to open parliament. They describe her as a "non-German Jewess," but her friends insist there is not a drop of Semitic blood in her veins.

"I have presided at many stormy meetings in my life," Mrs. Zetkin said before taking refuge tonight. "I will keep order among the 608 members tomorrow."

A Fighting Woman.

White haired, wrinkled, partially crippled, "Mother" Clara, by dint of her sharp wit, her energy, her achievements, is one of the most interesting personalities in the reichstag. One forgets she is a communist on talking to her. She is a fighting woman and is fiercely energetic for equal rights for women and a fair chance for children.

She only switched to communism in her old age. Though she was a friend of Lenin, communism is not the dominant note in this woman's life. One might call it "militant feminism."

Her father was a public school teacher in Saxony, belonging to the lower middle class of the 'sixties and seventies.

Trained for Teacher.

As a girl Clara Zetkin saw the underfed children of the poor and their overworked mothers. What luxuries the family could afford usually went to the "master" of the house. Wife and daughter took their orders from him. She decided she was just as good as any men of her age and set out to obtain the same rights they had.

It was a struggle to get money and permission to attend a teachers' training school in Leipzig. The head of this school was Auguste Schmidt, one of the prominent figures of the feminist movement of the time. Clara Zetkin was in her twenties. She came into contact with exiled radicals of Russia. Ossip Zetkin, whose wife she became, was deeply engaged in the study of Marxism and socialism. But those were the days of the kaiser. Zetkin was deported as an undesirable alien. His German wife went with him.

In Switzerland Clara met Russian revolutionists. Lenin in his memoirs speaks warmly of this woman's "clear mind and brave heart." She followed her husband to Paris. A penniless German in Paris shortly after the war of 1870-'71, Zetkin was stricken with an incurable disease. His wife supported the family—her husband and two sons—by means of language lessons, translations, and journalistic work.

In 1899 Zetkin died and his widow returned to Germany. She became editor of Equality, a Social-Democratic publication struggling for equal rights for women.

When the world war broke out, Mrs. Zetkin sided with the small group of German Socialists who voted against it. She had to go to jail.

Elected to the reichstag, she was one of the few communists who did constructive work in and out of parliament. She played a big part in enforcing labor laws which provide protection for servant girls, who had been exploited most mercilessly.

Mrs. Zetkin has just returned from Russia, studying women problems.

Silent on Terms

New York, Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Settlement of the $600,000 in suits by Mrs. Riza Von Sternberg, wife of Joseph Von Sternberg, film director, against Marlene Dietrich, German film actress, whose pictures are made under Mr. Von Sternberg's direction, was disclosed today. Stipulation for the discontinuance of two suits was filed in the county clerk's office. It was signed by House, Grossman & Vorhaus for Mrs. Von Sternberg and by Nathan Burkan for Miss Dietrich.

One action was for $500,000 for the alienation of Mr. Von Sternberg's affections and the other for $100,000 for libel in the publication in a Viennese newspaper of an interview which the plaintiff asserted was an insinuation that her husband was about to sue for a divorce.

Because the discontinuance contained no mention of the terms of the settlement inquiry was made to Mr. Burkan. An associate said, "The suits are discontinued. That's all."

Leo J. Rosett, who acted for Mrs. Von Sternberg, said:

"The settlement was made six months ago in California. Miss Dietrich wrote a letter of apology and there was a retraction published in European newspapers. No money was involved."

Mrs. Von Sternberg now lives in Westchester county. Miss Dietrich and the director are said to be in Hollywood.

LETTER TELLS OF YOUTH'S DEATH; ASK POLICE QUIZ

Denver police were asked last night to investigate the death of Charles Silverstein, 22 years old, of 1348 South Springfield avenue, who left home two months ago bound for California.

Word of his death reached the family yesterday in a letter written by Carl Fisher, of Kansas City, Mo., one of his five companions. According to Fisher, Silverstein was killed Aug. 21 while boarding a freight train, near Denver. Fisher and the other companions buried him on a mountain side, the letter said.

Fisher stated that after the accident he wrote to a Miss Edith Springer, who lives near 15th street and Holman avenue, asking her to notify Silverstein's family. She replied, Fisher stated, that she had no heart for such a mission. Fisher's letter to the family followed. The missive was given to Lieut. Edward Birmingham at the detective bureau by Louis Silverstein, a brother.

Highland Park Council to O. K. Reduced Budget

The Highland Park council indicated last night that it will approve the 1932 tax levy, providing for a reduction of $137,430 as compared to the 1931 levy. A vote on the ordinance will be taken a week from tonight. The saving will amount to 11½ cents on each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

SPRAGUE REVIVES ROAD PAVING BY PRIVATE BIDDERS

$89,637 Broadway Contract Awarded.

Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, yesterday revived the practice of resurfacing streets by private contract instead of by city labor. He let a contract for the resurfacing of Broadway between Wilson and Foster avenues and has had specifications prepared for bids on a proposal to repave the Navy pier roadway.

The contract for the Broadway job was let to the Barber Construction company on its bid of $89,637, the lowest one received, the highest bid being $106,595. The Navy pier job may involve the expenditure of a like amount, the two jobs being among the largest to be paid for this summer out of the vehicle tax fund.

Authority to have vehicle tax work performed by private contract was written into the 1932 budget by the city council finance committee, with the provision that plans must first be approved by the council. A recess approval was given to the Broadway job by Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee.

"I am positive," said Col. Sprague when asked if he would extend the work to be done by private contract next summer, "that with good supervision and good foremen the city could pave as well and as cheaply as a private contractor, but the only way to determine that is to experiment."

'MA' FERGUSON LEADS STERLING ON REVISED VOTE

Nets 921 by Two Corrections in Texas Count.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson assumed a lead of 220 votes over Gov. Ross S. Sterling tonight on the basis of tabulation of 945,182 votes in Saturday's Democratic gubernatorial run-off primary.

The latest candidates' totals are: Ferguson, 472,701; Sterling, 472,481.

The changes which swung the pendulum in favor of Mrs. Ferguson after Sterling had led all day were accounted for in two corrections which netted the woman candidate 921 votes and in returns which continued to seep in slowly.

"Most Amazing Primary."

The Texas election bureau compilation accounted for figures from all of Texas' 254 counties, but returns were complete from only 219. That left 35 counties to continue to contribute returns slowly in the most amazing primary election the state ever has seen.

The unofficial election bureau, after announcing it would close for the night, maintained a skeleton force to tabulate any other returns available. It was pointed out that all precincts excepting those extremely remote and inaccessible had reported.

The vote had veered and swayed from the incumbent to Mrs. Ferguson in such dramatic manner that A. F. Henning, head of the Texas election bureau, declined to forecast either the possible outcome of the race or the probable total vote.

When the bureau stopped work last night Mrs. Ferguson was in the lead by 423 votes. On its first tabulation today the governor led by 2,007.

He kept in front throughout the day. His majority fell to 855, rose to 1,427, and then he fell into second place.

Returns from the primary will be canvassed by the county committees Saturday and by the state committee Sept. 12.

Bitter California Battle Today.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 29.—(AP)—A primary campaign enlivened by a feud in Democratic ranks and attracting national interest in the contests for both the Democratic and Republican nominations for United States senator closed in California today with a record registration of voters eligible to decide the issues tomorrow.

A last minute report that Alfred E. Smith had entered the campaign by urging support of Justus S. Wardell as against William G. McAdoo for the Democratic senatorial nomination was denied in New York by Smith.

South Carolina Has Primary.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 29.—(AP)—With prohibition a sharply drawn issue, chief interest in the South Carolina Democratic primary tomorrow will be the nomination for senator among the four candidates for the seat now held by E. D. [Cotton Ed] Smith, who has been a senator from South Carolina longer than any other man in the state's history. He is opposed by the colorful Cole L. Blease, former governor and former senator; Ashton H. Williams, former state senator, and Leon W. Harris, former circuit solicitor.

DEMAND SEARCH FOR LOST ASSETS OF EDDIE TANCL

Lawyer Under Fire in Probate Court.

Shades of Eddie Tancl, a squat, flat nosed pugilist who rose to power as a Cicero divekeeper and then was killed on Nov. 24, 1924, soon after Dion O'Banion was slain, will be recalled in the courtroom of Acting Probate Judge Ray Sessler today. Attorneys representing heirs of Tancl's wife, Jean, who died in 1930, and his two daughters by an earlier marriage, are demanding a search for assets alleged to be missing from his estate.

Although Tancl's estate was listed at $35,000 when his will was filed shortly after his death, Attorney James Basta, who now is counsel for his daughters, Mrs. Mildred Purvis and Mrs. Helen Plaehn of Los Angeles, asserts that actually the estate was in the neighborhood of $500,000.

Girls' Guardian Called.

Attorney Charles J. Michal, 2410 South Clifton Park avenue, a friend and lawyer for Tancl, who continued to act as legal adviser for Mrs. Tancl and her stepdaughters, has been ordered to appear for examination. Attorney Michal also was guardian for the estates of Tancl's daughters following Mrs. Tancl's death.

At a recent hearing in the Probate court Attorney Basta charged that since her death Attorney Michal had signed the name of Mrs. Tancl to 39 checks and dividend vouchers totaling $15,000 and pocketed the money.

Attorney Basta also charged Michal had continued to collect funds from mortgages belonging to the estate after Mrs. Tancl's death and abstracted that money.

Denies Giving Authority.

The present citation is the third issued by the court for Michal. On two earlier occasions he informed the court that he had been acting on the authority of Joseph Tancl, brother of Eddie and owner of a roadhouse near Hinsdale. Joseph Tancl was brought before the court and denied knowledge of the missing assets.

Attorneys Basta, John H. Bishop and John E. Van Natta, the latter two counsel representing other members of the family, charge that the estate has dwindled to $50,000.

MRS. POLLAK GOES ON TRIAL TODAY; FATHER IS SOUGHT

Missing Man Regarded as Important Witness.

Simon Myszu, father of Mrs. Dorothy Pollak, was missing yesterday on the eve of his daughter's trial for the murder of her husband, Joseph, whom she shot and killed on July 27 in their home at 1936 Garfield boulevard. Myszu was in the Pollak home at the time of the shooting and was regarded by the state as an important witness. Prosecutor Frank Mast disclosed yesterday that state's attorney's detectives had been seeking the missing witness for more than two weeks.

Mrs. Pollak is to go on trial today before Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher of the Criminal court, who is returning from New York to hear the case. Both the prosecution and defense have indicated that they will seek no further delay.

Defense Attorney W. W. O'Brien yesterday surprised the prosecution with the announcement that he would strive to impanel a jury of women to hear the case. Prosecutors Mast and Harry Gabel pointed out that the Supreme court has ruled that a jury of women is not legal in Illinois. The prosecutors spent yesterday in questioning witnesses and preparing for the trial.

At a previous hearing before Judge Fisher, Attorney O'Brien had agreed to dispense with a jury and allow the court to decide the fate of his client. The prosecution at that time gained a continuance because the state was not ready for trial and indicated that a jury would be demanded.

The defense attorney yesterday indicated that Mrs. Pollak would plead that she shot in self-defense. She has told police that her husband attacked her with a butcher knife and that she halted him with a revolver shot.

Mrs. Victoria Schultz, cousin of Mrs. Pollak and a witness to the shooting, is under indictment as an accessory after the fact. She will not be tried until the conclusion of the trial of Mrs. Pollak.

DIES AS RESULT OF FALL.

John Plair, 32 years old, a Negro, died yesterday in the county hospital of a fractured skull received Aug. 20 when he fell down a flight of stairs in his home at 407 East 50th place.

SHOW CONGRESS HOW 1½ BILLIONS CAN BE SAVED

Tax Waste Foes to Quiz All Candidates.

The National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures sent an appeal yesterday to 24 state organizations to urge a cut in federal government expenses to the extent of $1,499,921,000.

G. W. ROSSETTER.

When the organization was formed in Chicago last June, with George W. Rossetter as general chairman, it advocated a reduction of $750,000,000. Now it is proposed to pledge the candidates for senator and congressman throughout the nation to a cut of twice the original amount.

List Only Big Savings.

In the statement sent yesterday to the chairmen of the various state organizations, Mr. Rossetter lister 112 different classes of governmental expense which the committee believes could be sliced. More than that, the statement tells how much each item could be trimmed, and Mr. Rossetter adds that only economies which total more than $100,000 each have been listed.

The plan is to have the existing organizations, allied together by states, question each candidate for federal office, and later give his views to his constituents.

In this way it is planned to line up the candidates in every congressional district for a substantial reduction in federal expenditures. The form of the questionnaire to be submitted to the candidates was sent out last week.

"We are rushing along our organization," said Mr. Rossetter yesterday. "Thirty states already have joined the movement and we are hoping that every state will have joined the crusade before many more weeks. Every letter, telegram and conversation shows plainly that the sentiment for economy has spread all over the nation. Our task is to get this sentiment in such shape that it will insist upon action by the next congress."

JUDGE DENIES WALKER'S PLEA TO HALT TRIAL

Raps Quiz Methods; Holds Court Is Powerless.

Pointing out that the governor had declined to submit himself of the subject matter of this proceeding to the jurisdiction of the court, Judge Staley said:

"Under such circumstances the power and responsibility for the acceptance or rejection of the application of these rules in the conduct of the proceedings before the governor is one that rests solely with him. It is not within the power of the court to impose or coerce compliance therewith upon the executive. With jurisdiction of the proceedings, wherein the governor is required to perform an executive act, the judicial branch of the government is powerless to command him how to act or that he refrain from action. . . . Courts have no power over his person, and they cannot commit him for a disobedience of judicial process. For errors, if any, of law or of fact in the proceeding now pending before him he is responsible not to the courts but to the people and his own conscience."

Despite the above decision that the courts had no jurisdiction in the matter the Supreme court justice proceeded to take a few digs at the manner in which the Walker ouster trial was being conducted.

"The requirements for a fair trial," said the justice, "and the provisions of section 24 of public officers law, do not countenance, in my judgment, the wholesale receipt and use of testimony taken by an investigating committee where the accused officer has not been represented by counsel or afforded the opportunity of cross-examination. The essentials for an adequate and fair hearing, conducted by administrative officers as well as by courts, have been generally held to afford an accused the right to be faced by his accusers, bound under the sanctity of an oath, and subject to cross examination. These essentials in every proceeding where the opportunity to be heard exists have been jealously guarded and preserved when the power to do so could be exercised by judicial authority."

Referred to Private Life.

The part of Justice Staley's decision relating to the charge that Samuel Seabury had been going to Mayor Walker's private life to dig up evidence against him is found near the end of the statement.

"That the act or neglect justifying the removal must have relation to the administration of office during the term which the officer is serving," said the justice, "has been pronounced and followed by numerous executive and judicial authorities. No greater power should be read into the removal section by implication. The application of this principle precludes the consideration of charges dealing with official acts or omissions occurring prior to the present term of the officer or in the transaction of his personal affairs, not within the scope of or affecting official action, unless such acts amount to moral turpitude."

Gov. Roosevelt has made every effort to keep any reference to Mayor Walker's private life out of the record and there has been no official reference to any "moral turpitude" other than possible inferences drawn from the matter of a check to an unnamed person which has cropped out on several occasions. The woman's name on the check has been published in newspapers, but never has been written into the record.

Doesn't Confirm N. Y. Power.

Justice Staley's ruling, in the opinion of lawyers here, failed to uphold the contention frequently advanced by Tammany Hall that it was within Tammany's power to strip the governor of his removal powers. Justice Staley, early in his decision pointed out that a general election vote would be necessary:

"Section 15 of the city home rule law expressly provides that any local law which changes the method of removing an elective officer shall be submitted for approval at a general election, and shall become operative only when approved at such election by the affirmative vote of a majority of the qualified electors of said city voting upon the proposition."

The justice pointed out that the power to repeal or amend local laws vested in the city of New York is not a self executive one, and the power of the governor under the removal section of the charter is not affected."

Curtin Called by Judge.

Justice Staley sent for Mr. Curtin and conferred with him for almost an hour while reporters waited outside the chamber for copies of the decision. A court stenographer was called while Mr. Curtin was in the room and remained with the justice and his visitor.

A copy of the Staley decision was sent to the governor at his home and he was said by aids to have "looked it over and appeared quite pleased."

It is not likely, according to those close to the governor that the decision will in any way affect the procedure of the Walker hearing when it again gets under way.

Legislator Promises Probe of Court Reporter System

State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, chairman of the local government committee of the legislature and a leader in the movement for economy in governmental affairs, announced yesterday that he intended to bring about an investigation of the "official reporter" system of the Cook County Criminal court. He said he believed a saving of many thousands of dollars could be made for the taxpayers.

The state provides salaries of $300 a month for nine stenographers for the Cook County Criminal court, theoretically one reporter for each judge, although the number of judges assigned to the criminal branch is seldom more than five and there is usually only one judge sitting in the court in the summer. However, the salaries of all the reporters go on even though they do outside work.

County Pays Extra.

Two other features of the system interested Representative Schnackenberg: The fact that Cook county must pay extra for any court testimony taken by the official reporters, who are permitted by law to charge 20 cents a hundred words for their typewriting, and the power of the judge to suppress portions of testimony or courtroom conversation.

"I am going to find out," Mr. Schnackenberg said, "if there is any good accomplished by having these court reporters, and if there is any good reason why there should be more than one to a judge."

The legislator said it was first decided to create the official reporter system for downstate judges, who travel to various cities in their circuits, which comprise a number of counties. This was because of the difficulty often experienced of procuring competent court reporters in some of the cities which the circuit judges seldom visit.

County Gets 9 Reporters.

Cook county judges took advantage of the statute and at the last session of the legislature an appropriation of $32,400 was made for nine reporters.

"If it can be shown there is any benefit to the people the Chicago reporters might be considered as earning their pay," Mr. Schnackenberg asserted. "But in general state subsidized court reporters take on the appearance of the government engaging in business and competing with private business. I presume the nine 'official reporters' are unfair competition to others in that business.

"But in any event the transcript of court testimony must be made available for the general public. After a study our committee will undoubtedly have a recommendation to make at the next session of the legislature."

Mr. Schnackenberg's remark concerning the need of publicity was occasioned by the refusal of one of the reporters to furnish a transcript [at the regular rate of 20 cents per 100 words] of a part of the proceedings in connection with the granting of probation by Judge James J. Kelly to three confessed shotgun bandits.

2 Boys, 6 and 9 Years Old, Drown in Park Lagoon

Two boys were drowned in park lagoons yesterday. Samuel Tarnbella, 6 years old, of 324 South California avenue, lost his life while playing on a board raft in the Douglas park lagoon. Thomas Goddard, 9 years old, of 1310 Webster avenue, was drowned in a lagoon inlet off the Fullerton avenue beach after he dived from a 20 foot perch and struck bottom.

Attacked While Leading Bull; Dies of Injuries

Benjamin Rassmussen, 64 years old, a farmer near Millington, in Kendall county, died yesterday in an Aurora hospital of injuries received Saturday when he was gored and trampled by a bull. Rassmussen knew the bull to be vicious and carried a hammer as a weapon when he went into the field where the animal was grazing. The bull allowed the farmer to place a chain on him, only to charge his master suddenly as Rassmussen led him toward the barn.

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

$7,201,146 PAID; NONE FOR CITY OR SCHOOL SALARY

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough distributed $7,201,146.55 in tax collections yesterday to the 416 local governments in Cook county. The employés of some of these governments have been led to believe that they would be able to obtain their overdue salaries from the seven million.

It was stated, however, that few, if any, of the governmental units within the city of Chicago, which received $5,653,086.34, will be able to pay any salaries. That is especially true of the employés of the school board and of the city itself. The city and the schools obtained 68 per cent, or $3,852,324.32, of the total assigned to units within the corporate limits. All of this cash must go to retire tax anticipation warrants or into pension and bond and interest retirement funds.

$1,548,060 Outside City.

The governments outside of the city received $1,548,060.21. It is believed that some of these may have some cash for salaries after meeting obligations.

"This distribution is possible," explained Treasurer McDonough, "only because of the audit I started on Aug. 5; and I have handed out not only every dollar, but every cent, which the auditors recommended, as I promised. This is the first time there has been an audit in 30 years before the close of the tax books.

"All of the books were audited at least up to Aug. 1. Difficulties were encountered by the auditors which they said made it impracticable to go beyond that point on the country towns. On the city towns they have audited up to Aug. 25, and all of that money has been distributed, too."

How Money Is Distributed.

The distribution to the larger units, which are larger within Chicago than amounts recently published because the audit was extended for them from Aug. 1 to Aug. 25, are as follows:

State	$ 547,631.73
County	40,843.25
City	2,112,229.42
Schools	1,740,094.90
Forest preserves	169,039.35
Sanitary district	637,634.23
South park	245,309.30
West park	77,769.33
Lincoln park	90,436.14
Town governments	11,023.73
Small parks	41,686.96
Country areas	1,548,060.21
Total	$7,201,146.55

Of the amount turned over to the city, Controller Szymczak said that none of it can be used to pay salaries. The judgment tax, of which $25,979.03 was paid yesterday, must be used to pay judgments.

Limitations Made by Law.

The $86,566.78 of cash fund taxes received by the city is required by law to be placed in that fund. The taxes levied for payment of bonds and interest, of which $554,027.39 was paid the city, cannot be diverted for salaries. The $1,185,984 paid into the corporate fund, $60,596 to the library, $64,925 to the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium and the $25,970 paid the firemen's pension fund must be used to retire tax anticipation warrants outstanding against the 1930 taxes.

The $69,263 paid the policemen's and the $38,955 paid the municipal employés' pension funds cannot be diverted.

Like conditions exist regarding the money paid the board of education. It is not available for salaries.

Distribution in Suburbs.

In the suburbs the larger beneficiaries were the following: Berwyn-Stickney High school, $31,079; two Cicero school districts, $57,037; Town of Cicero, $30,853; city of Evanston, $54,393; Evanston High school, $40,441; two Evanston school districts, $58,142; New Trier High school, $36,797; New Trier grade schools, $25,553; village of Oak Park, $23,513; Oak Park High school, $36,513; Oak Park grade schools, $47,009; Proviso High school, $39,960; Proviso grade school, $36,097; Berwyn, $23,061, and Maine High school, $23,704.

No other government in the country towns received as much as $23,000. The entire township of Orland received only $588.73, which had to be divided among seven units with the highest getting only $147.45.

Among the smallest items were $4.19 to the Lansing road and bridge fund, 98 cents to the Harvey road and bridge fund, 1.56 to the Arlington Heights road and bridge fund, $3.78 to the same fund of Des Plaines, $4.68 to the same fund of Park Ridge, $1.05 to the same fund of Glenview, while the Glenview park district was mailed $4.41.

Another Glenview road and bridge fund was handed 63 cents, the Evanston road and bridge fund 85 cents. The North Riverside road and bridge tax got an even dollar, while the Western Springs fund got $2.22.

PARK ABANDONS OAK ST. BEACH BUILDING PLANS

Urges Speed on North Avenue Project.

The riparian rights of property owners along Lake Shore drive make it impossible to erect bath houses in the Oak street beach territory, President Warren Wright of the Lincoln park board announced in a formal statement yesterday. Persons in the 42d and 43d wards had asked the park commissioners to install the conveniences.

"The commissioners are not disposed to get into any lawsuit," said Mr. Wright in announcing the decision, "which might result in certain property along the lake reverting back to the property owners."

Old Settlement Binding.

The statement was based on a legal opinion prepared by W. H. Beckman, attorney for the park board. The opinion pointed out that "after ten years of bitter controversy and litigation the commissioners of Lincoln park in 1886 settled all questions existing between them and the property owners abutting Pine street [now known as Lake Shore drive] between North avenue and Oak street.

"The riparian rights were settled by the commissioners taking deeds from the property owners which waived all of their rights to the submerged lands of the lake to the commissioners on the following condition:

"'That the area then lying, or at any time in the future that should lie, between the water line of Lake Michigan and the west line of Pine street should always remain free and open, that no buildings of any kind should ever be erected thereon; that nothing but walks, lawns, shrubbery statuary and bridlepath could be maintained on that area.'

Granted Roadway Permit.

"The commissioners of Lincoln park in 1927 reaffirmed this condition without any limitation or restriction whatever by a second agreement with the owners of the property abutting on Lake Shore drive, in which the owners consented that a second roadway be erected parallel to the then existing roadway from North avenue to Oak street."

Mr. Wright said the board was working to complete a bathing beach with proper facilities between North and Fullerton avenues.

1,600 LA SALLE COUNTY FARMERS DEMAND 30% CUT IN ASSESSMENTS

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—E. C. Van Norbeck, chairman of the La Salle county board of review, was booed lustily by 1,600 farmers today when he appeared before them to answer their demand for a 30 per cent reduction on the assessments on farm lands in the county.

The march of the farmers upon the county seat was the culmination of a campaign for reduction of farm land assessments which has been going on in the county since May. They demand that farm assessments be reduced from their present average level of $73 an acre to the neighborhood of $50 an acre, the rate in Grundy and other neighboring counties.

S. B. Ebersol, a dirt farmer and assessor of Rutland township, repeated his charge that the board of review cut the assessments which he had placed on the property of industrial corporations in Marseilles, at the same time boosting assessments on farms.

Van Horbeck drew the jeers and boos of his audience when he denied that the board of review is favoring large corporations owning real estate in the county at the expense of the farmers. He made no reference to the 30 per cent reduction in farm assessments asked of the board.

The board of review is expected to announce its decision in a few days.

TEACHERS DENIED APPOINTMENT AS TAX COLLECTORS

New Demand on Treasurer Upsets Meeting.

Discord marked the meeting of Chicago teachers yesterday with County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough, whom they have asked to authorize a house to house campaign for the collection of delinquent taxes.

The teachers demanded that they be deputized as collectors and be allowed to collect tax money individually. The treasurer refused to consider their demand, asserting that the teachers had changed their position since Saturday's conference, when, he said, they agreed to act as guides and spokesmen to urge payment of taxes to deputy collectors at substations to be placed in various parts of the city.

Teachers to Reconsider.

Treasurer McDonough urged the teachers to stand by Saturday's arrangement, saying that he had worked out details of this plan with his attorney, Thomas D. Nash, and Chief Clerk Otto Woerter. Miss Mary L. Leitch, chairman of the teachers' committee, promised reconsideration by the teachers at a massmeeting to be called later this week.

"This business of getting in taxes by personal visits to taxpayers' homes is a selling job," said Miss Leitch in stating the teachers' position. "Teachers are known in the neighborhoods of their own schools.

"They have entry to homes through the children and it would be to lose the psychological effect of the whole thing if you refused to allow the teachers to be collectors."

Fears Racketeers Invasion.

Attorney Nash replied for the treasurer, saying: "If this point is the keystone of the affair then we all have been squandering our time. The treasurer has decided that it would be too costly to bond all those thousands of teachers. He feels also that it would be an invitation to racketeers to prey upon unsuspecting home owners. Any credentials that could be given out could easily be forged, and many thousands of dollars probably would be fraudulently taken in by such persons."

"They do the same thing with tax warrants," replied Miss Leitch. "You still issue tax warrants. If we did this thing I believe that we could collect 25 per cent of all the delinquent taxes, other than those upon which objections have been filed. Surely that would be worth some risk."

Defend Bonding Costs.

"Sure it would be," spoke up George Schrock, a member of the teachers' committee. "The city, school board and other tax bodies have to pay interest on anticipated taxes spent in the form of warrants. It wouldn't cost anywhere near that amount to bond all the teachers, or for the other expenses of our program.

"You people can't have any idea of the difficulties my office has with racketeers," Treasurer McDonough said. "Those people even come in, take off their coats and hats as if they are employés, and every now and again get hold of some poor taxpayer and take his money. It costs me several thousand dollars a year.

"I simply can't deputize thousands of people. Why can't we get together on the other phase of this program which your own lawyer thought out. My people have gotten up the details of that. We will need from 100 to 200 teachers to help prepare the tax bills and then we can start.

"I'll give the teachers the bills, they can go out to every home and make their sales talks. I believe we might get results from that sort of thing."

Miss Leitch and other members of the committee then explained that they would present the treasurer's arguments to a massmeeting of their colleagues, and the conference adjourned.

CUSTOMS AGENT IS ARRESTED FOR CARRYING LIQUOR

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 29.—(AP)—A customs agent, returning from Chester, Pa., where he had assisted in the seizure of a sloop containing more than 1,000 cases of liquor, was arrested on a charge of transporting intoxicants after his automobile had collided with a taxicab today.

Police said they found four pints of whisky and two watermelons in the car of the agent, Leonard E. Hackett. They said Hackett told them he found the liquor and watermelons, part of a cargo used to camouflage the cases, in his car when he entered it to return home.

URGES HIRING OF JOBLESS TO FILL OLD CANAL

Suggests Road on Course of Abandoned Waterway

Capt. Louis Larson, president of the Pure Air corporation and a member of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, is the author of a plan to employ the jobless men now receiving state aid for their families to fill up the old Illinois and Michigan canal and thus remove a health and navigation peril. When filled, he maintains, the old canal would be a perfect base for a superhighway leading from Chicago to the Mississippi river.

President Samuel W. Hastings of the Manufacturers' association has explained the plan in a letter to Dr. Scott E. W. Bedford, appointed by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission to direct work relief throughout the state.

Lists Relief Expenses.

"Illinois is now paying an average of $3,000,000 a month for relief purposes," Mr. Hastings quotes Capt. Larson, "mostly for the support of unemployed persons. A total of nearly $29,000,000 already has been expended. All of this money has been raised in the state with the exception of approximately $8,000,000 obtained from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, $6,000,000 of which has not been expended. This will last, I am informed, until about the middle of October.

"Most unemployed men would much prefer to work for the aid they receive from the state than to lose their self-respect by taking doles.

"The canal has been filled for a mile and a half at the Chicago end. There is no reason why it should not be filled for its entire length of 100 miles. In its present condition it is a disease cesspool—a haven for millions of mosquitoes.

Benefits for Counties.

"The various counties through which the canal passes would, I am sure, be grateful for the proposal to give employment to the citizens within their boundaries and to give them the benefits of this splendid and much needed highway.

"Running alongside of the canal is the sanitary drainage canal, on the other side of which are great piles of stone, earth and other debris excavated from the sanitary canal—probably 150,000,000 tons. This would furnish the material for filling a canal which for many years survived its usefulness. I do not believe the war department would raise any objection to filling the old Illinois and Michigan canal."

Open Relief Offices.

The headquarters for the 1932 campaign for relief funds was opened yesterday at 10 South La Salle street, where the Joint Emergency Relief commission occupied quarters for the original drive last fall. Robert A. Gardner, appointd on Saturday as general chairman of the campaign, was reported yesterday to be out of the city until after Labor day, but is expected to take up the duties of his new post immediately on his return.

Before leaving, Mr. Gardner began his selection of the personnel for the drive, for which the quota has not yet been designated. It is hoped, however, that it will be less than was needed last fall to supplement the work of the established relief agencies and to care for the jobless and homeless. Budgets are nearly exhausted, according to a preliminary survey, and prompt action must be taken to continue the relief activities.

CHAPLIN TRIAL GOES TECHNICAL; WIFE GETS WRIT

Comedian Introduces Settlement Paper.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—An alternative writ of prohibition, directing Superior Judge H. Parker Wood to appear before the Appellate court Sept. 8 to prove that he has a technical right to hear the case, was obtained by Lita Grey Chaplin here today in the court fight with her former husband, Charley Chaplin, over the screen careers of their two sons. This move halted the trial.

Announcement was simultaneously made that the two children, Charles Spencer Chaplin Jr. and Sydney Earl Chaplin, and Mrs. Chaplin will be featured in a motion picture. This was disclosed by David W. Butler, director of Fox Film studios, who gave his opinion that both children are "exceptionally talented."

Property Settlement Shown.

C. E. Millikan, Chaplin's attorney, offered in evidence a portion of a property settlement between the Chaplins made at the time of their divorce five years ago. This document, signed by both parties, contained a clause providing that the children should not be employed in any line of endeavor without written consent of both parents.

It stated that Chaplin had provided for a $200,000 trust fund and payments of $1,000 a month for the support and education of the children. Mrs. Chaplin has already been served with a temporary order restraining her attempt to place them in films, and the comedian seeks a permanent enjoinment.

Wife's Plea for Writ.

In Mrs. Chaplin's petition for the alternative writ of prohibition she stated that the children will have opportunities of the finest nature without impairment of their physical and mental well being if they are permitted to act in motion pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. Chaplin sat on opposite sides of the court room today and did not look at each other during the proceedings.

Cuban Police Chief's Home Is Wrecked by a Bomb

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 29.—A dynamite bomb today wrecked the residence of Capt. Estanislao Mansip, chief of police of Marianao, a suburb of Havana. No one was hurt. Authorities believe the bomb was thrown by enemies of President Machado's government and indicates the beginning of another terrorist campaign.

3 COAST GUARDS ARE DISMISSED IN LIQUOR CASE

Two Others Are Reduced by Capital Order.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 29.—[Special.] Huge liquor seizures at Third Cliff, Scituate, and at the Glades in Minot, exclusive club formerly headed by Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, resulted today in dismissal of three Scituate coast guards.

At the same time it was learned that two other coast guards, one at the Hull base and one at the Gurnet station, have been reduced from motor machinist mates, first class, to surfmen.

Raid on Club Property.

The dismissals grew out of a $45,000 liquor seizure at Third Cliff last January by Chief of Police Michael Stuart of Scituate and some of his officers, and a raid last October in which three men were captured by Scituate police and $75,000 worth of choice liquors were found in a barn on the property of the Glades club.

Ten days ago in the absence of Capt. John J. Glynn, officials from Washington visited the Scituate coast guard base and held a secret hearing at which practically all members of the station were called before the officials.

Word Comes from Capital.

Then the officials left for Washington with a statement that word of the outcome would be sent back from the capital. The "word" came in the form of the dismissals of Nelson, Brown and Flores.

While the Washington officials were here they also held secret hearings at the Hull base and the Gurnet station as a result of which Motor Machinist Mate Willard E. Mills of the Hull station and Motor Machinist Mate Frank Silver of the Gurnet station found themselves demoted today to surfmen because of their "conduct," according to the official notification.

HAIZLIP SPANS NATION BY AIR IN 10 HRS. 19 MIN.

port in an unscheduled refueling. That delay cost him a chance at the transcontinental record as well as first place in the race, he said. He was dirty and his eyes were bloodshot. He waved his hand feebly and smiled in a distraught manner for the camera men.

"I had pretty good weather all along, except over the mountains," he said. "I had to go to 18,000 feet to get on top of fog over the Rockies. The rest of the way I flew at 4,000 feet. I landed for gas at Pueblo, Colo., and Chicago, but I didn't see any of the other racers along the way."

Oil Tank Springs Leak.

Fourth place was won by Lee Gehlbach, former army pursuit flyer, in a Gee Bee low wing racer powered by a Wasp Junior of 575 horsepower. Gehlbach crossed the finish line at 5:01 p. m. with an elapsed time of 9 hours 41 minutes. He landed and said that the oil tank of his plane had sprung a leak and that caused his late arrival.

C. K. Vance, the only other starter, in a "Flying Wing" of his own design, powered by a 575 horsepower Wasp Junior motor, turned back to Burbank and did not come through.

Haizlip won prizes totaling $9,280 for his great dash from California to New York, $6,750 for winning the Bendix race to Cleveland and the additional $2,500, posted by Mr. Bendix for the new transcontinental record. He lives in St. Louis and his wife, Mae, is one of the best women speed racers in the country.

Wedell won second prize of $3,750. Turner won $2,250 by finishing third, and Gehlbach $1,500 by taking fourth place.

Turner is from Los Angeles and Gehlbach from Mount Clemens, Mich. Wedell averaged 232 miles an hour into Cleveland. Turner averaged 226 miles and hour and Gehlbach 210 miles an hour.

Haizlip exceeded Doolittle's average speed of 223 miles an hour between Burbank and Cleveland by 12 miles an hour. The distance is 2,041 miles by air line. The average speed includes time spent on the ground for refueling, indicating that speeds close to 300 miles an hour must have been attained by Haizlip and Wedell on parts of the course to raise their averages.

Strike Plan Called On.

The demand made upon the officials of the National Air races last night that the $28,750 prize money offered for the closed course races be doubled or the pilots would not fly came to nothing today when Cy Caldwell asked them to be better sportsmen than the race officials and carry out their end of the racing contract despite the failure on the part of race officials to post the $100,000 in prize money that was promised.

The pilots agreed to go back to their flying. In making their demand they pointed out that the racing planes brought here represent an investment of more than $500,000, that $50,000 worth is sure to be destroyed. Also, when they started designing and building the planes they were assured of a total of $100,000 in prize money, they said.

Pilots Are Thanked.

L. W. Greve, president of the National Air Races, Inc., thanked the pilots for the "spirit of coöperation and good sportsmanship" they showed in not pressing their demands. He said a request would be made of the National Aeronautic association that the entire entry fee, and not only half, be returned to all pilots who compete. E. M. [Matty] Laird, Chicago plane builder and racing pilot, who represented the pilots in presenting the demand, said that an organization of racing pilots will be formed here this week to pass upon prizes offered in future racing meets.

Heavy rain this morning threatened to cause postponement of the racing program, but the rain ceased at 1 p. m. Only a few handfuls of people dotted the large stands, however.

HAIZLIP HALTS AT CHICAGO.

Capt. Jimmie Haizlip of St. Louis made a four minute stop to refuel at the Ford airport at Lansing yesterday afternoon in his air dash from the Pacific coast to New York. He had traveled approximately 1,900 miles from Burbank, Cal., to Chicago in 7 hours and 5 minutes, a rate of about 245 miles an hour.

There was only a matter of seconds between the appearance of the little racing plane and its descent to the field at a landing speed of 110 miles an hour. It bounced several times as Capt. Haizlip brought it down. . . .

Liner Brings Two Unlisted Passengers—One via Stork

New York, Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Two persons whose names did not appear on the passenger list were on the White Star liner Baltic with 552 others when the vessel docked today from Liverpool. They were Anne Loring, infant daughter of Mrs. Helen Loring of Somerville, Mass., who was born at sea six days ago, and Michigan Finnegan, 28 year old stowaway. Mrs. Loring, whose husband, Alfred, is a laborer, was in County Kerry, Ireland, and hurried back here when the arrival of Anne became imminent, but a miscalculation upset her plans to have the baby born on American soil.

BOY, 5, STEALS RIDE ON TRUCK; FALLS TO DEATH

5 Deaths Raise Total for Year to 770.

Stanley Sabry, 5 years old, 1257 North Maplewood avenue, was killed near his home yesterday when he fell from the rear of a Consumers ice truck and was struck by another truck.

This death and four others yesterday brought the motor toll in Cook county to 770 since Jan. 1. The other victims:

Francis Gates Porter, 51 years old, of the Drake hotel. Died yesterday in the West Suburban hospital several hours after his automobile crashed into a tree at Erie street and Waller avenue. Porter was a salesman for the Stack-Goble Advertising agency, 8 South Michigan avenue.

Alfred Witkowski, 17 years old, 1514 West Jackson boulevard. Died yesterday in the county hospital. He was struck Sunday by a car driven by Russell Schwartz, 27, of 1408 South 13th avenue, Maywood, at Jackson boulevard and Laflin street. Schwartz and six others suffered minor injuries when their car crashed into a bus after striking Witkowski.

Axel Petersen, 75 years old, 4744 North Kildare avenue. Died in Belmont hospital last night. He was hurled against a street car near his home Sunday by an automobile driven by Stewart Nielson, 6719 Oliphant avenue, who was charged with reckless driving.

William Frank, 56 years old, 1406 Warner avenue. Died yesterday in the Augustana hospital. He was struck by a hit and run driver at Jackson boulevard and Turner avenue Sunday night. His companion, Miss Jeanette Hanley, 34, 1041 Pleasant street, Oak Park, also was knocked down by the car.

Emil Draminsky, 47 years old, of 5426 Greenwood avenue, a mechanic, died suddenly last night in a cell at the South State street station, where he had been lodged on a charge of driving when intoxicated following an automobile accident several hours earlier. An examination will be made today to determine if unsuspected internal injuries or a heart attack caused his death.

The accident occurred at the inner drive and 14th street, and involved two cars. Four persons suffered suspected skull fractures and were taken to St. Luke hospital. They were Samuel Nudelman, 26 years old, 2842 North Whipple street; Mrs. Ida Lebovitz, 55, of 2852 North Albany avenue, and Mrs. Nellie Beer, 57, of 3104 Douglas boulevard, who were in one car, and Robert Webster, 55, of 2221 Prairie avenue, who was in Draminsky's car.

TEACHER HACKED TO DEATH; FARMER CONFESSES CRIME

Crawfordsville, Ind., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Repulsing the advances of a young farm hand, Miss Lila Jones, 23, a school teacher, was hacked to death today by Morris Green, 22, Sheriff V. L. Bowers said.

The sheriff said Green confessed tonight to the crime several hours after Miss Jones died in a hospital here. She was a teacher in the Richmond, Ind., public schools.

Green told Sheriff Bowers, the officers related, that he found the woman alone at her parents' farm home 15 miles from here when he went there to borrow a tool kit. When the teacher resisted his attentions the laborer became enraged and struck her four times with a hatchet, he admitted.

Besides being hacked, Miss Jones' body bore evidence of having been kicked and beaten, Sheriff Bowers said. Green worked on a nearby farm.

The young man reported to county authorities he had gone to the Jones farm and found the teacher unconscious. He was held for questioning and, the sheriff said, confessed after being examined.

CAPT. MOLLISON WANDERS IN FOG OVER NOVA SCOTIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Nova Scotia, Aug. 29.—Capt. J. A. Mollison, the flying Scot who yesterday launched the second half of his solo round trip Atlantic flight from New York, landed this afternoon at Coxheath, near here, after a long struggle with fog and clouds.

Capt. Mollison this morning flew from Nerepis, N. B., where he was forced down by fog yesterday, to St. John, N. B., about 13 miles away. After refueling he took off at 11:02 a. m., Chicago daylight saving time, for Sydney.

Fog Prevents Landing.

He arrived over Sydney about 2 p. m., Chicago time, but the fog was so thick he could not make a landing. A plane from the Cape Breton Flying club went up to act as a guide, but after an hour of vain circling Capt. Mollison decided to come down at Coxheath, where better visibility prevailed.

The flyer intends to go on to Harbor Grace, N. F., from where he will start his ocean hop as soon as weather conditions are favorable. In view of the fog it was expected he would remain at Coxheath until tomorrow.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 29.—The government steamer Argyle today towed into the port of Argentia the sesquiplane in which Thor Solberg and Carl Petersen dove into Paradise sound last week on their ill-fated trans-Atlantic attempt. Solberg and Petersen plan to return to New York after shipping their craft back to the United States.

Meanwhile the "flying Hutchinson family" still awaited favorable weather reports on Anticosti island, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, before proceeding on their flight by easy stages to Europe over the northern route. Their next stop will be Labrador. They reached Anticosti island five days ago.

PRINTERS MEET EMPLOYERS TO FIGHT PAY CUT

Union book and job printers met yesterday with a committee of closed shop employers in an effort to avoid an arbitrary 15 per cent wage reduction in violation of contract. The pay cut is scheduled to become effective on Thursday. What progress was made neither side would say, but it was intimated that there would be an announcement after today's session at the Franklin association, 332 South Wells street.

The present contract of the Chicago Typographical union with the Franklin association has two years to run, but employers contend that to comply with this agreement means the ruin of the industry in Chicago. The printers contend that they already have taken a reduction by working since June 1 for $1.29½ an hour when the contract calls for $1.42½. Notices have been sent out by the association that after Sept. 1 the rate will be reduced to $1.10 an hour.

Open Verdict Returned In Kidnaping and Murder

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder by unknown persons yesterday following investigation of the death of Nello Pelligrini, 24 years old, who was abducted from his speakeasy at 1215 South Damen avenue last Tuesday by two men and shot to death. In spite of the verdict, police continued to hold Walter Leonard, 24 years old, 1705 West 19th street, an alcohol runner, who was identified as having threatened Pelligrini an hour before the murder for not buying alcohol from him.

ELEVEN POLICE ARE INJURED IN FARM FIGHTING

Iowa Pickets Use Pipe and Stones.

highway 65," said Randolph. "We had seven trucks guarded with a total of 25 men and an escort car went ahead of us. We went through them damn pickets in every direction. But when we got to town we learned that one of our neighbors, C. G. Harrison of Freemont, couldn't get through on highway 63. We went out to bring him through and went through the picket lines, but the sheriff drove up. He told us we could get back to Des Moines if we went peacefully, but not to try and bring that truck through. That's the kind of a sheriff he is."

In the Des Moines Coöperative Marketing association plant at 1935 East Des Moines street twenty-five farmers sat among the milk cans and butter crates, eating cheese and crackers, expressing their contempt for the pickets. All these farmers had come through the lines simply by giving the pickets more violence than they could take.

Without Milk to Sell.

"More than 90 per cent of these pickets have no milk to sell," said Fred Reynolds, whose farm is three miles east of Ankeny. "I know one of them, H. M. Sexhauer, leader of the post on East 14th street, who doesn't sell any milk. Mr. Sexhauer shipped all his cattle to Chicago one week before the picketing started and warned his brother to get rid of his stuff before it started.

"That's the kind of people these pickets are. We're 10 to 1 stronger than they are and our coöperative sells more than 30 per cent of the milk in the Des Moines market. The sheriff sympathizes with them because he thinks they're stronger than we are, and election time is coming up. But he'll find out. We don't need his help. We came through this morning and we'll keep on coming and if these pickets and khaki shirts get tough we'll get tougher."

"All I want to do is to get into town and sell my milk so I can meet expenses and keep going," interposed Art Fletcher, who lives 17 miles north of Des Moines.

The Farm Holiday association has been negotiating with the Producers' coöperative in an effort to gain its sympathy and a meeting is scheduled for Wednesday.

"They know they can't put this thing over without us," said Randolph. "Just wait till we get to that meeting. We'll vote 100 per cent against it."

J. H. Mason, manager of the coöperative and one of those who called on Sheriff Keeling for action today, called the holiday outfit "a disorganized mob of farm hands, khaki shirts and floaters who are trying to fight an organization."

Few Fail to Reach Town.

Only about five trucks destined to sell their milk to the coöperative and less than 10 per cent enroute to the dairy companies failed to reach town today, it was estimated. Eighteen farmers on a delivery route in the vicinity of Grimes, 18 miles northwest of here, kept their milk at home voluntarily because they feared it would be impossible to get through. They will send it into town tomorrow, pickets or no pickets, they say.

Ernest Ettreim, one of these farmers, was not at home, but his wife stood among six 10 gallon cans of milk on the back porch, skimming off the cream.

"I'll save the cream anyway and make butter out of it," she said. "We can feed the skimmed milk to the hogs. I don't know how much we'll get out of the butter for we haven't been selling any butter.

Members of the coöperative point out that they deliver 500 gallons of milk a day, free of charge, to the unemployed, and that the khaki shirts are consuming most of that brought into town by the pickets.

Brookhart Lauds Movement.

The holiday movement was lauded in a telegram received today from Senator Smith W. Brookhart. Said Brookhart:

"The farmers' holiday movement is creating a deep nation-wide interest. If it could be extended through the whole nation it would greatly aid in passing effective farm relief legislation. Further spread of the movement may bring a special session of congress to devise this legislation."

Reno, long a political apostle of Brookhart, wired back:

"Your wire sincerely appreciated. This movement is already nation-wide. We are organizing from Maine to California and from Canada to the gulf. We will win because our cause is just."

INQUIRY MAY BRING CHANGE IN NEWSPRINT RATE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Newsprint paper users will pay higher freight rates than they pay now if a proposed report issued today by Examiner John H. Howell, in the general newsprint paper investigation, is adopted by the interstate commerce commission.

The examiner based his recommendations on sixth class rates prescribed by the commission in the recent eastern class rate investigation.

The railroads had proposed changes in the rates, covered rates on newsprint paper from producing and shipping points in the eastern part of the country, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota and Canada to points in the eastern and southern sections of the country and to points in Illinois, Lake Michigan ports in Wisconsin and Mississippi river crossings.

Establishment of rates on newsprint paper originating in Canada, applying from the Canadian border line to the destination points in the United States, was recommended by the examiner. He said the carriers should propose the particular rates as he could not from the record.

Shippers and receivers of newsprint paper are expected to object to the examiner's recommendations. This case will come before the commission in argument this fall.

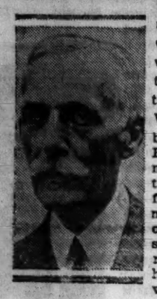
MELLON THINKS STOCKS' REVIVAL IS HERE TO STAY

Upturn in Prices Inevitable, He Says.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Confidence that the current rise in security and commodity prices will be sustained was expressed at the White House today by Andrew W. Mellon, ambassador to Great Britain and former secretary of the treasury. The former cabinet member's views on the business situation were made known after he had conferred with the President prior to his departure for London Wednesday.



ANDREW W. MELLON. [Acme Photo.]

While declining to issue a statement for quotation, Mr. Mellon said that it was his opinion that the upturn in prices of commodities and securities was a perfectly natural and corrective movement. Prices, he explained in discussing the subject, went down too far, and now, like a pendulum, they must come back up. He pointed out in this connection that commodity prices in many instances have been below cost of production.

1929 Level Artificial.

Asked regarding the prospects for higher stocks and commodity prices, Mr. Mellon said that when securities go as low as they did this last year it is inevitable that they will come back to a normal level. It was his opinion that stocks would not go back as high as the abnormally high levels of 1929. He gave the impression that he believed the rise of values of the last few weeks would continue gradually.

The ambassador's optimistic reflections on the current business situation came as President Hoover and government officials were taking up the task of framing the budget for the 1934 fiscal year beginning July 1 next. Whether or not that year will be begun with a substantial deficit will depend largely upon economies in government effected through this fiscal year. Should the current upturn be sustained, the likelihood of a deficit for the year would be lessened.

Too Early to Guess Budget.

Treasury officials said today that all government departments have been instructed to hold their budgetary estimates for the next fiscal year down to their minimum needs. It was said, however, that it was still too early to estimate the size of the 1934 budget which would go forward to congress. The opinion was expressed that the budget would be lower than the one submitted last year, which called for 3 billion 942 million dollars.

Congress last winter approved appropriations amounting to 3 billions 886 millions for expenditure during the 1933 fiscal year. Of this amount 322 million dollars represented public works items added to the two billion dollar emergency relief bill. Of this amount 200 millions was to be expended only if in the opinion of the treasury department the funds were available or could be obtained at a reasonable rate of interest.

Estimates Incomplete.

Treasury officials said today that only a part of this fund will be spent. The bill permits expenditure of 100 millions on new public buildings, principally postoffices. Of this sum, officials said, but $20,000,000 will be spent during the 1933 fiscal year. The bill also permits expenditure of $45,000,000 for rivers and harbors and flood control; $22,000,000 for army housing, and $10,000,000 for navy yard repairs and additions.

Officials said today that the interested departments have estimates indicating the amounts they could expend during the balance of the year. Decision as to the amount which the departments will be permitted to spend will be announced shortly, it was said.

No official estimates of the exact amount which the government will spend during the current fiscal year have been prepared. As the fiscal year runs until July 1 next, at least two deficiency bills probably will be passed this winter and these will boost the total of expenditures.

QUEEN IS ILL

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Queen Alexandrine is suffering from a severe cold, it was learned today. She and the king, who are at their summer residence at Marselisborg in Jutland, were to have returned to Copenhagen this week, but her illness will delay their departure.

WOMEN TO TALK GREATER PART IN G. O. P. CAMPAIGN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—More women will take the stump for the Republican presidential ticket this fall than in any previous campaign, Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, director of women's activities for the Republican national committee, asserted today after a conference with President Hoover at the White House. She predicted that women generally would vote for Mr. Hoover because "of his activities in behalf of children and the home."

MRS. ELLIS A. YOST.

Among the women who will carry the message of Republicanism to the country, according to Mrs. Yost, are Mrs. Christine Bradley South of Kentucky, wife of John Glover South, American minister to Portugal; Mrs. Grace Brosseau of Connecticut, former head of the D. A. R.; Mrs. John F. Sippel, former president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Frank Mann of Huntington, W. Va., who bolted to the Hoover-Curtis ticket in 1928. Mrs. Albert G. Simms, the former Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, will take part in the campaign, Mrs. Yost said.

"The women of the country are for President Hoover," Mrs. Yost said, "because, burdened as he is with the problems of economic readjustment in these complex times, he has continued his work for conservation of the human resources of the country. His work in behalf of children and the home goes right on. He never loses sight of the fact that the United States is more than soil and steel and stone."

Prospects today were that there will be a slight lull in Republican activities, so far as the President's official family is concerned, until after Labor day. Secretary Mills will not make another speech until Sept. 10, when he goes to Portland, Me. Secretary of War Hurley said today that he expects to go to Portland, Ore., for the American Legion convention on Sept. 12. It is probable he will deliver an address at that time.

100 POUND STONE TOPPLES FROM ABBEY'S CEILING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Visitors to Westminster abbey had narrow escapes today when a part of the ceiling of the Henry VII. chapel fell to the floor just as the afternoon service was about to commence.

The ornate ceiling is divided into panels with carved pendants. A block of stone weighing 100 pounds fell in front of the altar and close to the tomb of Queen Caroline. The visitors were just moving toward the door to enter the chapel when the ornamental cusp crashed.

GLENN LABELS ROOSEVELT'S N. J. TALK "LUDICROUS"

Hits Garner Failure in Congress.

Republican national headquarters in Chicago yesterday distributed a press statement by Senator Otis F. Glenn in which the Segfirt speech of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was branded as "not only amusing but also highly ludicrous."

SENATOR GLENN. [Walinger Photo.]

The Illinoisan based his criticism on the Washington situation immediately after the two big party conventions, insinuating that Gov. Roosevelt was the one who was pussyfooting at that time in hope that the prohibition issue would be kept alive for the campaign.

"If Candidate Roosevelt," said Glenn, "had used 1 per cent of the words he used in his New Jersey speech to direct his congressional followers to vote for immediate modification of the Volstead act his language would have brought results.

"Faced with his failure to do so, his torrent of language in New Jersey will be looked upon as the insincere statement of a vote seeking politician, a man of words and promises rather than of action and performance.

"The nation is already trembling at its possible destiny in case the weak, vacillating and verbose Roosevelt or the wild, impulsive and extravagant Garner were in charge of its government in these times of world-wide crises—times that require all there is in American statesmanship to make America a leader in a return to world-wide prosperity and security.

"A sober, thoughtful and intelligent people will not intrust the nation to inexperienced and incompetent hands."

In his detailed discussion of the anti-prohibition maneuvering during the closing days of the congressional session, Senator Glenn particularly poked fun at Speaker Garner, the Democratic nominee for Vice President.

"Garner," he said, "refused to use his influence to permit the vote, and the debate raged so warm that Congressman Britten forced him to flee from the rostrum on three occasions when his failure to follow his party platform was making him the absurd and pitiable picture of a Democratic captain of a ship in distress. He laid down the new law that the captain should be the first to flee."

Republican state, county and Municipal court candidates will be hosts to their friends at a special rally at White City tomorrow night. There will be parades from six different sections of the city.

Robert H. Lucas, assistant chairman of the Republican national committee, will speak at a political tea at the home of Mrs. Franklin M. Miller, 1500 Lake Shore drive, tomorrow afternoon.

About 400 leaders of the Young People's Democratic league, many coming from distant counties, attended a lawn party at the summer home of Mayor Cermak at Antioch on Sunday afternoon.

DRY LEADER HITS DR. WILSON FOR HOOVER ATTACK

New York, Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Dr. S. E. Nicholson, secretary of the Anti-Saloon League of America, today took up the cudgels for President Hoover and the President's stand on prohibition.

In a statement issued from Media, Pa. where he is convalescing after a serious illness, he took exception to an attack made by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, on the prohibition policy of the President.

Dr. Wilson questioned the sincerity of Mr. Hoover's early stand on prohibition, stressing the fact the president had appointed a majority of wets to his cabinet, had appointed two to the United States Supreme Court and appointed a majority of wets to the Wickersham committee.

In his statement, Dr. Nicholson said: That Dr. Wilson had erred when he assumed that the President should show "bias" in his appointments, in favor of individuals personally favorable to the eighteenth amendment, declaring that such a policy would condemn both the President and the issue with a large element of the people.

LEGISLATORS OF W. VA. FORGET THEIR LIQUOR

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—B. S. Carney, head statehouse janitor, today asked Gov. William G. Conley what to do with three bushel baskets of empty whisky bottles and several gallon moonshine jugs that were found when the state legislature adjourned its special tax reduction session early Sunday morning. Also Carney reported two weeks will be required to repair the damaged furniture in the legislative halls.

A few of the bottles, he said, were partly full, as was one gallon jug. Scotch whisky labels were prominent in the collection, but West Virginia moonshine was predominant.

Liquor bottles, Carney told the governor, had been removed from the legislative chambers all during the last six weeks while the legislators had been in special session, the first in the new $10,000,000 capitol. Saturday's session of the legislature was featured in both houses by song fests that sprang up in impromptu fashion whenever the senators and delegates felt the urge.

SON OF BRITISH LEADER PLANNING TO ELOPE TO U. S.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—John Amery, 20 year old son of L. S. Amery, prominent British political leader, and his actress fiancée, Una Wing, returned today from the continent, where they had gone on a futile pilgrimage to get married. They are going to try America next. When their parents refused to consent to their marriage the couple traveled some 2,000 miles, but everywhere they were turned away because Amery is under age. The elder Amery is at present hurrying home from Canada in an effort to break up the romance.

"It is infuriating to think that because I am six months short of being 21 I cannot marry whom I choose, yet I am allowed to handle thousands of dollars and conduct business on my own," young Amery declared indignantly. "I am going to the United States as soon as I can get passage arrangements."

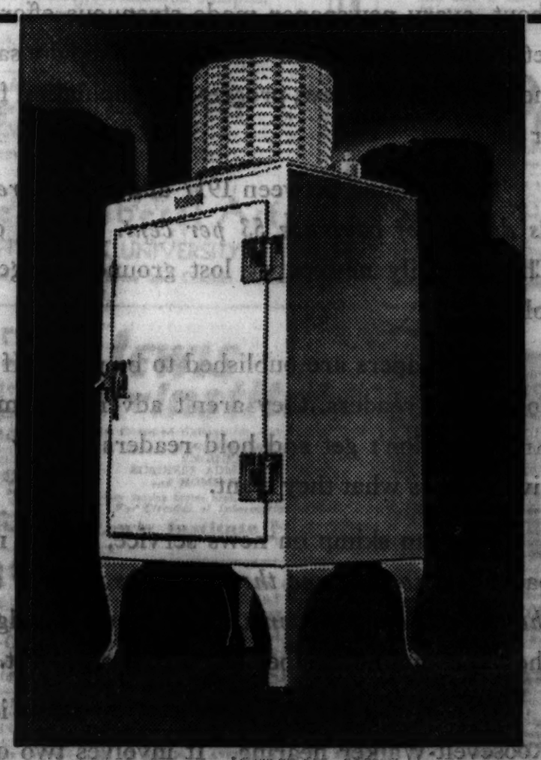
CAN YOU AFFORD TO GAMBLE WITH A "CHEAP" REFRIGERATOR?

Now every home can have a General Electric

General Electric offers you a safe and lasting refrigerator investment—not a questionable gamble. Thousands of Chicago people have proved that "cheap" refrigeration is no bargain. There is usually a "catch" in it . . . Extras for delivery . . . extras for installation . . . extras for service. You really never finish paying for a "cheap" refrigerator.

It's folly now to gamble with so-called "bargains". Your money can be paying for a dependable, trouble-free General Electric. You can have a refrigerator that you will be proud to own. You can enjoy the lowest cost refrigeration for only a few cents more a month than you have to pay for a potential "orphan".

Protect your refrigerator investment. Insure against costly repair bills and service expense by deciding on General Electric now. 'Phone Franklin 5720 and let us give you facts and figures, gathered from thousands of Chicago owners, which prove that it is cheaper to own a General Electric than a "cheap" refrigerator.



READ THIS BOOK—Actual cases of Chicago people who bought "cheap" refrigeration, only to find that they never stop paying for it, have been assembled into a book entitled "Positive Proof that General Electrics are Cheapest to Own". Read this book before buying any refrigerator. 'Phone Franklin 5720 for free copy.

What will 1933 Prices be?

It is an old adage that "coming events cast their shadows before." Today, rising commodity prices forecast higher price ranges, new price levels—less purchasing power for your dollar in the months to come.

Needless to say, rising commodity prices will affect hotel rentals. A few months from now, you will find yourself confronted with an advanced rate scale.

Today's rate arrangement at Hotel Shoreland will carry you into 1933—at prices well below anticipated 1933 levels—offering you values that will probably never be obtainable again.

Contrary to the general tendency to curtail service in order to meet price competition—here, at Hotel Shoreland there has been no compromise with the recognized high standards which have established and maintained Shoreland leadership.

Catering to Chicago's most distinguished clientele—with its cultured environment and social prestige—Hotel Shoreland presents the few available apartments for the consideration of a select prospective clientele—in the light of a value that people, who appreciate and do demand the finest of living, cannot afford to overlook.

The management cordially welcomes an opportunity of discussing your living problem with you!

NOT WHAT SHE USED TO BE!

YOU can larrup her as hard as you want but if "the old gray mare ain't what she used to be," she just can't pull the load.

You need real power to put across a product or a merchandising idea in Chicago and suburbs. And no newspaper with less coverage than it had before the war has got it. You can't lose readers, prestige, and influence for fifteen years and deliver the wallop that advertisers need in a market this large.

You need coverage to do a job in Chicago and suburbs. Only one Chicago newspaper has it, because it is the only one that kept up with this community as it increased from 748,136 families to 1,157,677 families.

During the past fifteen years when hardly an institution, idea or habit was left untouched by the great expansion and changes which the war brought about, every newspaper made strenuous efforts to get and hold circulation. Those which did not satisfy the demands of a new, progressive population faded or failed.

The Tribune between 1917 and 1932 increased its density of coverage 53 per cent. Every other Chicago daily newspaper lost ground, merged or folded up.

Newspapers are published to be read. If they don't have readers, they aren't advertising media. And they don't get and hold readers if they don't give readers what they want.

You can skimp on news service, milk a newspaper just so long and then it begins to show up in the circulation statements. The sharpest judges of the value of a newspaper are the readers of it.

One of the biggest news stories today is the Roosevelt-Walker hearing. It involves two of the best known political figures in the country, one of them possibly the next president. The Tribune sent one of its best reporters from Chicago to cover the story at Albany. No other Chicago newspaper has seen fit to do so.

Economies may force some newspapers to accept handouts by propagandists. The acceptance enjoyed by the Tribune was not won by stinting on print paper and by trimming on cables or reporters' expenses.

The Tribune sent one of its best staff men to Hawaii to get first hand the truth about the Massie case, to New Zealand to report the bloody rebellion that disrupted government in that country. He is now in the Philippines writing for Tribune readers the facts about the movement there for independence. Readers of no other Chicago newspaper get such service.

In its search for news of vital importance in this country and throughout the world, the Tribune spares no expense. The news belongs to the public. The Tribune gathers it with trained men, prints it accurately, completely, promptly.

These are the policies which today make the Tribune the most popular newspaper and the most powerful advertising medium in Chicago and suburbs. By constantly increasing its news service to readers the Tribune is steadily increasing their preference for its news columns.

The Tribune is the only Chicago newspaper which reaches every other family in Chicago and suburbs. It is the only publication that has the coverage to build the sales volume available in this market and needed by advertisers.

Ask a Tribune salesman for further facts and about the new discounts which mean more sales at lower cost.

From 1917 to 1932 Chicago and its suburbs increased by 409,541 families—55 per cent.

Only one Chicago daily newspaper kept pace with this growth. The News, which had a 57 per cent daily coverage of the city and suburbs in 1917, dropped to 35 per cent in 1932. The American dropped from 42 per cent in 1917 to 40 per cent in 1932. Other papers in existence in 1917 either lost ground, merged or failed.

As the newspaper which got volume of circulation for itself it is the advertising medium that gets volume of sales for advertisers. It has 36 per cent more daily city and suburban circulation than any other Chicago newspaper and reaches practically as many readers as any two other Chicago newspapers combined.

ARBITRATE MINE WAR IN CENTRAL ILLINOIS TODAY

Guard Officer Arranges for Conference.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Taylorville, Ill., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Efforts toward arbitration of the troubles in the central Illinois coal mining fields were put in motion tonight by Capt. Carl J. Meacham of the National Guard, who has been on observation duty here for ten days.

JOHN H. WALKER.

A meeting of the miners, officials of the Peabody Coal company, which owns four mines in the midland tract, prominent citizens and the militia officers stationed at Taylorville is scheduled for tomorrow morning and, through it, Capt. Meacham hopes to start a series of conferences which will put an end to the turbulence which has reigned for two weeks.

The miners are on strike for a triple purpose: A protest against the $5 wage scale, improvement of working conditions here, and the removal of John H. Walker, president of the Illinois district United Mine Workers of America.

Both Sides Stubborn.

The Peabody company is limping along, hoisting a few tons of coal each day from two of their mines, but it remains stubborn in its determination that it will not close its mines. It is anticipated that the company will import outside labor if the miners remain out.

To date the matter has rested in that status: the miners won't work, the company won't close the mines.

The miners' next conference comes Thursday, when the "policy" committee meets in Gillespie. About 400 men are expected to attend. One point they will argue concerns a second expedition into Franklin county, where they would like to picket the largest mines in the world, now operating profitably. The first march last week was routed at the county line.

The Peabody company has set tomorrow as the deadline for the miners to return to work. "But we won't shut down as long as one man shows up," said W. C. Argust, general superintendent.

Pass Through Picket Lines.

Today there were about 100 men working in the Langley and Hewittville mines. To and from work they passed through long, silent lines of pickets—men they worked with until two weeks ago.

Mr. Argust said that he could hire 10,000 union men from Illinois and other states who would be willing to go to work immediately, with the knowledge that the mines are being picketed. "But we don't think that would be a good move," he said.

One move which would complicate the situation could be made by the United Mine Workers of America, which can revoke union charters.

5,000 Miners at Work.

West Frankfort, Ill., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—All Franklin county mines continued to work today, with more than 5,000 men in the crews. Mines working are Orient 1 and 2, Peabody 18 and 19, Old Ben 8 and 15, Bell & Zoller 1 and 2, Franklin County Coal company, and Valier Coal company.

Chile to Create Dictator Over Prices and Production

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 29.—A law creating a general commissariat for food prices will be passed by parliament this week, it was learned today. The bill provides for drastic measures to be used against producers who refuse to work their industries or do not turn out "proper quantities" of food products at the stipulated prices. In both cases the government will declare these industries "concerns of public benefit" and will institute expropriation procedure. The prices of all living commodities are soaring.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

FLENSBURG, Germany, Aug. 29.—Twelve children were deserted by their mothers at the Flensburg welfare relief office today. The parents had been given reduced doles. The mothers promptly staged an indignation meeting and decided to leave their children on the hands of the officials, as they were no longer able to feed them. Police succeeded in restoring eight children to their homes. The other four were placed in a children's home to be kept until their parents are located.

Los Angeles, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Announcement was made today that a son was born here last week to Virginia Lee Corbin, former film star, and Ted Krol, New York. Shortly afterward Richard Dix, motion picture luminary, stated he and his wife, the former Winifred Coe of San Francisco, expected to become parents next March.

ATTORNEY SAYS RUDY VALLEES PLAN DIVORCE

New York, Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Valee, whose long distance matrimonial romance bloomed a year ago in July, seriously are meditating a divorce, it was admitted this afternoon by former Magistrate Hyman Bushel, attorney.

Rudy is touring New England with his orchestra. His wife, the former Fay Webb, is in New York with her father, who is a police chief of Santa Monica, Cal., and her mother. The Webbs and their daughter plan to return to the coast on Friday.

Mr. Bushel, who is acting in a capacity of referee, promised a formal statement Friday noon. While attempting to reconcile the pair, he said he had little hope he would succeed.

"There is no other man or woman in this," said Mr. Bushel. "Their differences are temperamental."

Vallee announced at the time of his marriage to the pretty California girl that they would be separated a great deal of the time and he didn't wish incorrect inferences of estrangement to be drawn. His bride, he said, would pass much of her time in California, preferring that climate to New York's, and he necessarily would be predominantly in the east.

Vallee has denied upon several occasions that the romance had faded.

PICKPOCKET HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Charles Wolf, 51 years old, known to police as a pickpocket, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Leon Ettelman in bond of $2,000 on a larceny charge.

Bound for Denver

Violet and Daisy Hilton, Siamese twins, paused yesterday in Chicago on their way to Denver, Colo., where they will make several stage appearances. The sisters arrived from New York yesterday morning and left for Denver on the Columbine of the Chicago and North Western.

JAPAN'S CABINET NEAR FALL; LOSES ARMY'S BACKING

Majority Party in Diet Opposes Rule.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 30.—[Tuesday.]—The Japanese government this morning gave up all hope of breaking a deadlock which was reached last night with the Seiyukai, the majority party in the diet.

The uncompromising attitude of the Seiyukai party may now force the resignation of the cabinet, headed by Admiral Count Makoto Saitu. The party's unusually strong front was attributed to the fact that its leaders, who feared that the army was backing the cabinet, discovered yesterday from army and navy quarters that the military factors will stand aloof.

The government has abandoned efforts to reach a compromise with the Seiyukai leaders.

Jap Planes Pursue Chinese.

MUKDEN, Manchurian, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Japanese air bombers were sent out from Mukden today with orders to attack concentrations of Chinese guerrillas blamed for the series of raids which caused terror throughout the city last night.

The Chinese troops were reported to have taken up positions at Hun Hopu, four miles from Mukden.

During the morning the city's entire fire department succeeded in conquering fires at the large arsenal and the airplane base, which had been set by the raiders. There were no explosions at the arsenal and about the only damage at the plane base was the loss of several old ships. Most of the raiders retired at daylight.

Admiral's Visit Stirs Interest.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Japan's action in sending one of its foremost naval officers to the United States on an unofficial goodwill mission stirred considerable interest and speculation today in official Washington.

As an evidence of the informality of the impending visit of Vice Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, state department officials pointed out that the first word they had of it came through Tokio press dispatches. Observers of international affairs saw several points on which informal, good humored discussion might bring Japanese and American views closer together.

The Japanese press is particularly agitated about the prolonged tour of the United States Atlantic fleet in Pacific waters and reports that it will remain in the Pacific all this winter. At the navy department it was stated today that no decision has been made as to whether the Atlantic fleet will stay in the Pacific after Oct. 1.

International investigations and squabbles are no novelty to Admiral Nomura. He has many friends, especially in naval circles, in the United States as well as in Europe."

STARVING BABY HELD PRISONER; PARENTS SEIZED

Gallipolis, O., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Hoctor, who are alleged to have held an unwanted child in an upstairs room of their home naked, half starved, unwashed, and speechless, were formally arrested today. They were held for action of the Gallia county grand jury and then released without bond.

At the county children's home meanwhile three year old Loren Hoctor frolicked at intervals in sunlight he had almost forgotten. The matron said the boy was "practically a skeleton" from starvation, but belief was expressed that with care he would recover full health.

Mrs. Hoctor said the boy was confined "to keep him out of trouble." She and her husband are 32. They have four children now. Another died some time ago.

HOLD UP INVESTMENT OFFICES.

Three armed men yesterday took $560 from the office of the Sheridan Investment company, 4746 North Damen avenue, after threatening ten employes and two customers with revolvers. The robbers overlooked two small safes, which contained $200.

THE ALTERNATIVE TO BANK FAILURES.

A good deal of criticism has been directed at American banking methods because 5,000 banks have failed in this country in recent years. The reply that the failures represent, in all, only 2 or 3 per cent of the total of bank deposits in this country is inadequate, even if it is true. Bank failures ought to be made as nearly impossible as anything can be made in a changing world.

The examples of Great Britain and Canada are frequently cited to show what can be done to prevent failures. In all of Great Britain there are only half a dozen commercial banks and in Canada about as many. If we in this country had the same system of national branch banking which is to be found in Britain and Canada we, too, might expect to have fewer failures.

The question, then, is whether the people of this country are willing to pay the price which experience has shown must be paid for safety of bank deposits. It seems fairly clear that a bank with branches scattered all over the United States would be far less subject to sectional influences than a bank with a purely local sphere of operations. A failure of the cotton crop can wreck banks all through the south; a collapse in the price of corn and hogs can and did wreck banks all through the corn belt; but a bank which was not dependent on any one industry or one section might be expected to ride the storm more successfully.

Likewise, a bank which covers a state ought to have more stability than a bank confined to a single county, and a bank covering a county ought to have more stability than a bank doing business in a single neighborhood.

The question remains, however, whether the American people wish to authorize the concentration of the banking power in a few hands. If that is what we want, we can have as great security, no doubt, as has been given to depositors in Great Britain and Canada. But if the laws forbidding branch banking are withdrawn we may find, as many spokesmen for unit banking have predicted, that the small merchant, the struggling business man and the farmer will have much greater difficulty in obtaining credit than they have had under our present system.

Like everything else in this world, security of bank deposits can be had at a price. That price is the concentration of banking power. Are the people of the United States, of Illinois, of Cook county, willing to pay the price? Do we want security of deposits more than we want readier access to bank credit?

THE NEW GREEKS.

A note in the story of Mayor Cermak's visit to Berlin relates that two of his companion tourists, Mr. Bauler and Mr. Weber, undertook a study of the nudist movement in the spirit of scientific curiosity or skepticism. One of the physical culture schools gave the two investigators a special demonstration first with and then without bathing suits. The Chicagoans probably will be home in time to make a comparative study of Berlin nudity and the semi-nudity of the Chicago bathing beaches and report conclusions.

Travelers have observed that youth as revealed in the American watering resorts and water sports and in Germany is of really superb physique, as a rule. German youth and American youth, in this observation, are rated as reaching about the same standard of graceful muscular development. The nudity cult hasn't had much play as such on these shores, excepting with the Dukhobors of western Canada, but summer water front costuming requires Greek symmetry if the citizen is not to be conscious of looking a sight. If the body is to be seen it must be strong, graceful, and finely proportioned.

BONUS PATRIOTISM.

By a vote of 499 to 138 the New York convention of the American Legion demands the immediate payment of the so-called veterans' bonus. This action was taken at the climax of an exciting and at times wildly disorderly session, says the news account. It is an appropriate result of excitement and disorder. It does not represent deliberation and good sense. It does not represent even the self-interest of the majority of ex-service men. If granted, it would bring consequences not only to the ex-service men but to the whole nation which in present conditions would be disastrous. As President Coolidge said in 1923, "the government has not money to distribute to any class of its citizens that it does not take from the pockets of the people and the payment of a bonus to millions of our former soldiers could only be accomplished at a cost to the whole community, including the veterans themselves, far outweighing the benefits intended to be conferred." That was true in 1923. It is a truth more vital today. The pockets of the people from which this payment to a class must come are nearer empty than they were then.

The ex-service men already receive in various forms benefits which absorb a quarter of the huge expenditures of the federal government. The excessive demand for more ignores every consideration of justice to the hard pressed people of the nation and every consideration of sound policy in public finance. The nation has shown and is showing towards the ex-service men the greatest liberality in our history. The whole people are carrying a heavy load on their behalf and there is no shadow of an excuse for further exactions. To grant them would be as offensive to justice as it would be ruinous to the nation already desperately struggling to recover the foundations of public and private welfare.

The American Legion is under the influence of a reckless and irresponsible leadership. It is woefully misguided and disparaging the influence all patriotic citizens hoped it would exert for the strength and prosperity of the republic.

A GREAT PUBLIC PROJECT.

A meeting at Aurora of civic and political leaders of the region from Peoria to the Wisconsin line on behalf of the proposed Austin-Kinzie elevated arterial highway expressed the growing realization of motor users that better access to the Chicago central district is a matter of substantial self-interest to the whole region of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. Lester J. Norris of St. Charles, president of the Fox River Valley association, who called the meeting, says that the Fox river cities realize what an asset it would be to be brought 15 minutes closer to the loop. In fact, the development of this and other superhighways giving safe and comparatively unimpeded access to and from Chicago is a concern not only of the business and people of the city but of Illinois and the midwest. The resources of Chicago should be made as easily available as possible for the benefit of all, and the state is also interested in improving the ease of access of the three and a half millions of citizens within our municipal limits to the cities and places of interest or business of the state.

We share Mr. Norris' reluctance to resort to a federal loan in aid of the Austin-Kinzie highway. If possible it should be paid for out of state funds to which the taxpayers and motor users of the metropolitan district make a very large contribution. But if a federal loan is sought there is as much justification for it as for other federal aid. A toll should meet this charge. Hugh Young, chief engineer of the Chicago plan commission, estimates that the improvement can now be made for $16,000,000, as compared with a cost of $22,000,000 estimated at the price level of 1929. This substantial saving will be lost with the rise of prices to be expected in the revival of normal conditions. But a still stronger reason for prompt action is the employment it will provide for 10,000 men. Much of the right of way is already available and construction could be started within a short time.

The Austin-Kinzie highway is a public project thoroughly sound in its conception, which the principles of modern highway development in a logical state system, as well as immediate considerations of public use and unemployment relief, strongly support.

THE PENALTY FOR DELIBERATE MURDER.

The state's attorney of Clark county will do less than his duty if, as he is quoted saying, he asks for a life sentence for the high school teacher Moor who killed his wife to relieve himself from unsatisfactory domestic conditions. Moor's confession shows that he planned to kill. He says there was no quarreling immediately before the crime, although there had been constant wrangling for months. "I simply decided that the only way out was to kill her. So I stopped the car and did just that." He could have found a way out, but that opened the way for her to marry again, and he "couldn't stand that."

Now this deliberate murderer approves the state's attorney's proposal for a plea of guilty and a life sentence. "I want to spend the rest of my life paying my debt to society by teaching in the penitentiary."

He should pay his debt to society as the people of the state of Illinois intended such debts to be paid when they fixed the death penalty. To compromise with this criminal on terms obviously satisfactory to him is to advertise the futility of justice in Clark county. There can be no doubt that Moor would never have taken the way out he selected if he had known that it would certainly lead him to the electric chair. The slackness of our justice encourages such criminals to hope for escape. Moor thought it all out—the way out for him. He bought a revolver weeks before the crime for the purpose of killing. There is no shadow of excuse for the imposition of less than the extreme penalty.

Editorial of the Day

[New York Times.]

An evil genius still pursues the farm board. One year ago this month it "swapped" 25,000,000 bushels of its surplus wheat for 1,050,000 bags of Brazilian coffee. Prices of the latter product have been rising smartly. Political disturbances are reported to have closed the port of Santos, through which Brazil ships most of her coffee to the United States. Some estimates state that reserve stocks in this country have dropped to less than two weeks' supply and that the American public may be forced temporarily to forego its morning cup of coffee. The moment is auspicious for a farm board stroke. On a rising market it should be able to dispose of a large part of the stocks it has acquired and triumphantly confront its critics with proof of the foresight it displayed a year ago.

Unfortunately, fate does not seem to have cast the farm board for a victory. When it arranged its trade last August it apparently gave Brazil entire freedom of action in disposing as she saw fit of the wheat she took. But it bound itself, so far as coffee was concerned, to hold its million bags for a year and then to dispose of them in quotas of not more than 62,500 bags a month. Accordingly, it now finds itself tied up by its own agreement. It would like to take advantage of the present opportunity. But it is pledged to sell only 6 per cent of its supply each month. In these circumstances it is now reported to be pleading with Brazil for release from its agreement or for liberalization of its terms. Thus far it has not been successful. Representatives of the Brazilian government are quoted as denying that there is a real shortage, as refusing to believe that shipments have been interrupted, and as insisting that there is "nothing to justify the modification of the contract."

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

TRAVEL BROADENS THE MIND.

We drove the old bus
Eastward.
Everybody said not to go
By way of Pittsburgh.
They said the roads around
Andy Carnegie's little town
Were filled with rich ripe
Mud that had no bottom.
That tourists headed for Pittsburgh were frequently
Never heard of again because They sank down in the mud
And kept sinking
Until they faded forever from Human sight.
That all the streets were one-way streets
And whichever way you went was Wrong
And that the Pennsylvania gendarmerie
Would pinch you and send you
To jail for life.
And even
If you got away
You would Probably get into the University of Pittsburgh which
Is fifty-two stories high,
And they would shoot you up
To the freshman class at the top and
They wouldn't let you out
Until you graduated on the Ground floor and it took
Four years to work down
From the freshman class
On the fifty-second floor.

Instead of that Pittsburgh was
A joy and a pleasure with Lovely streets so plainly
Marked that a blind man
Could drive his car through the town
And not get lost and the State constabulary and the City police were all
Nice, kind gentlemen
Who would direct you
To antique shops and Show you where Andy Carnegie
Used to shovel out ashes
Until he decided he would rather Shovel out libraries to cities and Towns all over the land.
We were a little afraid to go
Up in the towering
University but we looked up
At it and saw an aeroplane
Circling around the top and
A policeman said the aeroplane
Was the campus for the Freshmen and sophomores as
The students didn't get near
The ground where old fashioned colleges
Still have their campuses until
They got in the junior and senior Classes.
The policeman said the president of the College had his office in
One of the elevators so that
He could look in on the freshmen
After lecturing the seniors.
We were much thrilled by
The great skyscraper college,
The true expression of
The machine age.
"Say what you will," said the Policeman
Squinting up at the fifty-second story
Of the university,
"But when it comes to the Higher education, hell,
Pittsburgh's got everything
Beat a mile."

We thought a motor trip
At this time would give Us much information touching
Upon and appertaining to that
Very intriguing question
As to whether Mr. Roosevelt of
New York and Mr. Garner
Of Texas will be elected this Year
Or whether Mr. Hoover
Will remain as tenant of the White House and Mr. Curtis
Continue as presiding officer
Of the senate.
We inquired
Of filling station clerks,
Tourist boarding house
Hostesses
And fellow guests
On the front porch.
The filling station attendants
Didn't seem to know exactly but Thought the Yankees would Probably win the pennant for the American league while the Cubs had
A lead pipe cinch for the flag
In the National.
The tourist boarding house ladies
Said the weather was dreadfully
Hot even for August
And the boarders said that all
The candidates gave 'em a pain
In the neck and
That they weren't going to Vote unless a wrecking car
Hitched a chain to each
Leg and they were dragged to the Polls on election Day.

THE COMPLAINING HABIT.

A PAIN is a complaint. When a person experiences pain, something is manhandling a nerve and that part of the anatomy is complaining about the insult or injury. Incidentally, pain is a protective agency. It tells us that something is being injured. The injury may be involving other tissues far more vital to our welfare than nerves, but tissues that are dumb or else, instead of being able to cry out, can register complaint only mildly or in a way that is not easily understood. In comparison, the nerves speak in words of one syllable, and they know how to capture attention.

However, it does not follow that the causes of all pains are important. Sometimes the nerves yell loudest when they alone are being manhandled and all other tissues are escaping. Importance is not in proportion to the amount of pain, nor even to its quality—that is, not always.

Pain is sometimes not truthful. In fact, it is often a great liar. A mother quail may adopt a ruse to toll us away from her young. She may be a liar, but she is forgivable. A pain may point its finger in one direction, while the place we should concentrate our attention lies the other way. It is not good judgment to believe all that pain tells us.

However, we must admit that pain is very serviceable—to physicians at least. The patient may think he is paying too much for the help his pain is to him, but, even for the sufferer, pain may be of service.

Nevertheless, we want to register objection to the complaining habit. It is always a nuisance and who can say anything in its favor? We object to all complaining habits—to the groucher, the social kicker, the potential discontent, and the man who thinks the world owes him a living but is behind on its payments. In this instance the objection lies against the pains that persist after the cause is gone. A man has a leg amputated and thereafter feels a pain in the place where his brain says his toes belong. Another person has had a pain in the abdomen. It lasted a long time. The cause disappears. He has acquired the habit, and he continues to feel uncomfortable and to complain about it. Another man is in an accident. He is hurt. He sues for damages. His case is not reached on the court call for two years. His pains keep up until after he has been on the witness stand and told about them. By this time the pain habit has become fixed and he is a confirmed complainer.

This line of moralizing was suggested by a letter from a man whose history illustrates just the opposite picture. This man has been out of work a long time. He was depressed, melancholy, and hopeless. His introspection was adding fuel to the flame of his discontent. He suffered an injury. He was jolted out of his introspection—knocked out of his ruts of depression. His eyes turned out instead of in. And when this happened he gained courage and pep.

MANY ALBINO NEGROES.

Mrs. A. R. writes: Is there anything in the colored race similar to an albino in the white race? While attending our emancipation day exercises my husband and I saw a perfectly white Negro girl about three years of age with a very dark mother. This child had such light colored eyes that one could not distinguish the color, and perfectly white kinked cottonlike hair. She had a wide nose, flat at the end, thick lips, and a low forehead.

REPLY.

There are many albino Negroes. The proportion seems to be higher than among whites. Albinism affects pigment only. It has no relation to shape of nose or other features, nor is it due in any measure to infusion of Caucasian blood. The facial expression of an albino has features peculiar to it, but these are secondary.

DRIVING MAY BE CAUSE.

D. S. P. writes: Is it possible for automobile driving to cause neuritis in arm and shoulder? I had a bad case two years ago that I thought was caused by excessive or prolonged use of the arm in writing. I want to thank your column and a correspondent for the suggested use of moleskin adhesive plaster on foot calluses. It has given me complete relief.

REPLY.

It is.

COLD BATHS HARMLESS.

Mrs. M. L. writes: Do you think cold baths taken at home all summer long, mostly before retiring, harm me? I am 36 years old and suffer frequent headaches.

REPLY.

No.

ALBUMIN IN THE BLOOD.

W. L. writes: An examination of the urine reveals albumin. Is this dangerous? I am 31 years old.

REPLY.

Albuminuria may or may not be dangerous. What else abnormal does the analysis show? What other symptoms are there?

BARKING DOGS.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—[Friend of the People.]—We wish to make a complaint against the owner of two big dogs and four puppies next door to us. The barking goes on almost continuously day and night and is so loud that it makes sleep and rest impossible. The dogs are kept on the porch and our bedroom windows face all this noise. C. K.

An officer visited the address complained of, warned the owner of the dogs that if the dogs became a public nuisance court action would be taken against him, and issued summons for his appearance in court for failure to have the proper license. Officers will see that the above warning is heeded.

NOT IF VOLUNTARILY PAID.

Boscobel, Wis., Aug. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—When my father passed away his will read among other things that two city lots were to be left to my brother, who lives in another city. The taxes on these two city lots for the past five years have been paid by me, as well as assessments, and the tax receipts are in my name. Can I collect from my brother the amount paid for taxes and assessments or have I any right to the property since I paid these bills? L. H.

If you have paid them voluntarily without any request from your brother or any express or implied agreement on his part to reimburse you, then you would not be entitled to hold him.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

AUTO ACCIDENT.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—An auto accident occurred in which one man was killed, another crippled through negligence of the driver of the second car. This driver carried no insurance and refuses to pay anything to the crippled man's family or to the family of the man he killed. 1. Is there any law forcing payment of expenses in a case like this? The coroner did not hold the responsible party until relatives arrived. The driver was released without bail and as he lives in another state (Oklahoma) it is difficult to get in touch with him. 2. Did the coroner act right according to law in releasing this man immediately? 3. What would you advise be done? The driver has money but refuses any responsibility. E. K.

1. If the second driver was to blame and the first driver was not, then clearly a civil judgment could be recovered. Collection of such judgment would depend on the second driver's assets. If it could be proved that the second driver was not merely negligent but reckless, then he could be put in jail.
2. The coroner has no responsibility to arrest.
3. Employ an attorney.

TAX DEED.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Does the tax deed to property which is behind two years in taxes give the holder the right to possess the property, or (2) is it only a lien on said property? J. A. S.

1. No.
2. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 30, 1916.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Will the railroad brotherhoods which have provisionally ordered a strike on all railroads, beginning Sept. 3, decide to postpone the date pending consideration by congress of emergency bills presented by President Wilson? There are reports that a resolution may be placed before the senate and house asking the unions to withhold final execution of the strike order. President Wilson submitted six legislative proposals to a joint session of congress which he addressed today. The bills constitute the most remarkable program of legislation submitted to congress by a chief executive in a generation and propose radical changes in industrial, commercial, and economic conditions. Mr. Wilson seeks to have them passed by both houses within the next four days in order to stave off the walkout.

CHICAGO.—The first outward preparation by the railways to meet a general strike emergency came yesterday. The Santa Fe, which, because it has been hiring strikebreakers for months, is likely to be the first battleground, issued an order to its agents directing them to refuse to receive shipment of perishables and live stock at once. Other railroads took similar action except that they set the time limit at next Saturday instead of "at once." The Southern Pacific warned prospective travelers that they may be subjected to "perplexing delays after Sunday night."

CHICAGO.—It was estimated by a statistician that there is enough meat, eggs, and vegetables in cold storage in Chicago to supply the city for two years, even should a railroad strike come. However, according to Frederick W. Upham of the Consumers' company, if a strike cuts off the supply of coal the coal in the yards of the city will be exhausted within five days. Thus, with no coal the storage houses will be without power to generate cold air for their refrigerating plants and food supplies will quickly spoil.

CHICAGO.—A general strike of the 6,000 freight handlers in Chicago was called last night for 1 o'clock this afternoon. It may be stopped if the railroads grant the demands of the union at a conference this morning.

BERLIN. — The emperor has dismissed Gen. Eric von Falkenhayn and appointed Field Marshal von Hindenburg chief of the general staff. Gen. von Ludendorf, Gen. von Hindenburg's chief of staff, has been appointed first quartermaster general.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States armored cruiser Memphis was driven ashore on the rocks of the outer harbor of San Domingo and is expected to be a total loss. Twenty men who were returning to the cruiser in a motorboat after shore leave were drowned. A sudden violent swell drove the cruiser ashore. It formerly was the armored cruiser Tennessee. It is of 14,500 tons, and has 23,000 horse power. It carries 900 men.

WAR SUMMARY.—King Ferdinand goes to the front to lead the Rumanians as they effect a junction with the Russians in the Carpathians. The Austrians repel Russian attacks in the Carpathians. Italian troops are reported to have gained brilliant successes along the Trentino front. Greeks are leaving Germany as the belief grows that war is inevitable between Greece and the central powers. Paris reports that on the Verdun front French troops made progress near Thiaumont wood. German attacks in the vicinity of Fluery and Vaux fort are repulsed.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—The first national turf tennis championship of 1916 was decided when W. M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin of San Francisco successfully defended their doubles title against Maurice E. McLoughlin and Ward Dawson of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3.

CHICAGO. — Society editors took pleasure Sunday in announcing the engagement of Miss Ruth Mary Dow, 408 Briar place, to A. Stamford White Jr., son of the former president of the Board of Trade. It develops that while the engagement was being announced Miss Dow was Mrs. White all the time. On the day before the announcement the pair eloped to Joliet and were married by a Presbyterian minister. She returned to her home and he to his, keeping the marriage secret, but finally the bride confessed to her mother.

THE CHILDREN'S BUREAU.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—I regret the article which appeared in this morning's issue criticizing the work of the federal children's bureau, the criticism being based upon a relatively unimportant incident referred to by Katherine Lenroot.

I have known well the work of the bureau since its beginning twenty years ago. Its personnel should not be referred to as "bureaucrats." As a matter of fact it is one of the great organizations which has been kept out of politics, and its personnel has always been selected because of their particular training and qualifications.

You would need to know of the terrible things that happened to children, even in the name of charity, before the establishment of the bureau; of the neglected children herded with the insane, the epileptic, and the diseased in our almshouses; of the children who were "bound out" into lives of actual slavery with no opportunity for education; of the children who were brutally taken away from parents because of poverty and incarcerated in institutions, and in many instances subsequently shamefully neglected; of the parents who died needlessly in many parts of the country because of lack of medical provision.

The federal children's bureau and the Child Welfare League of America have been able to effect marvelous changes in many parts of the United States in the protection of these children. Consequently they have made it possible for hundreds of thousands of needy children to receive benefits which were formerly unknown.

Illinois has been the beneficiary of the federal children's bureau in many ways. The Illinois Children's Home and Aid society depends upon the bureau for much constructive information in behalf of its state-wide work for neglected children.

Because of the terrible days through which we are passing, in which little children are the greatest sufferers, I very earnestly hope that THE TRIBUNE will be willing to examine into the merits of this important branch of our national government, so that at this time when the service of the bureau is most greatly needed it will not be further hampered because of lack of adequate appropriation. C. V. WILLIAMS, Superintendent Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society.

SOUTH PARK DEBTS.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—In your issue of Wednesday, Aug. 24, you carried an article wherein you make the statement that the south park commissioners have debts, exclusive of tax anticipation warrants outstanding and also exclusive of bond indebtedness, amounting to $8,505,646. This figure is incorrect, as our books show today that our debts [unpaid bills for material, services, etc.] amount to only $164,593.

It would appear that this figure of $8,505,646 was furnished to you by the county board. Inasmuch as it is a misleading statement and does not show the true status of the "debts" of the south park commissioners, we respectfully request that you correct the erroneous impression that your readers would receive.

K. A. MORRISON,
Chief Accountant, South Park Commissioners.

CAR LOADINGS.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Some of our statistical wiseacres, peering at the car loading figures, shake their heads dismally over the outlook. The hoped for pickup, they glumly mumble, hasn't made itself evident on the carload barometer. Perhaps not. But how about motor truck haulage in local zones? Haven't these same statistical medicine men been among the chief commiserators of railway security holders, lamenting the inroads the trucks have made in the l. c. l. business of the roads? Perhaps business is really busier than railway figures indicate. J. ESPOIRE.

THE OLD SWIMMING HOLE.

Calumet City, Ill., Aug. 24.—One year ago today swimming was free at the clay hole at 159th and Torrence avenue; today, after the county has erected an iron fence and constructed an elaborate springboard, the price for a citizen and an overburdened taxpayer for one swim is 25 cents without towel or soap, and stand in line one-half hour in order to get in; also, they're charging for pop 10 cents because of no competition.

JOHN J. SCHUMAN.

COSTS OF PRODUCTION ON THE FARM.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—While it may be doubtful if the farmer strike which is spreading over the central west will result in any improvement in the farm situation, everybody must recognize that its objective, that of raising the level of farm prices to the point which will yield a fair return to the producer, is a worthy one.

As is usual in movements like this, we hear some rather wild statements. For instance, wide publicity was recently given to a statement emanating from Des Moines concerning the cost of producing corn and pork on Iowa farms. According to this statement it cost the Iowa farmer 92 cents a bushel to grow corn and $11.25 a hundred to produce pork. These costs are approximately three times the present market price of corn and two and a half times the price of hogs on the Chicago market.

Just where this corn cost originated I am not advised, but the hog cost apparently was computed by applying the ratio of 12.25 bushels of corn as being required to produce 100 pounds of pork.

I made some investigation to determine what is the cost of producing corn, and the best evidence I could find was the 1931 report of the department of farm organization and management of the Illinois College of Agriculture, which is tabulating the results obtained on a group of farms located in Champaign and Piatt counties, Illinois, reporting the results for 1931. According to this report the average cost of producing corn on these farms was 43 cents a bushel, which included a charge of $12 an acre for interest and taxes. The actual production cost, less interest and taxes, was a little less than 22 cents a bushel. In these costs an allowance of 21 cents an hour was made for the farmer's own labor in growing and harvesting the crops.

If we use the 42 cent corn cost as a basis of the more generally accepted ratio of 10 bushels of corn being required to produce 100 pounds of pork, we find the cost of raising hogs $4.20 instead of $11.25, as stated in the Des Moines dispatch. HARRY G. DAVIS,

CONGRATULATIONS.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—I take pleasure in transmitting herewith a certified copy of a resolution adopted by the city council of the city of Chicago at a regular meeting held July 28, 1932, extending congratulations for your successful promotion of the Golden Gloves tournament, as follows:

"Resolved, That the city council of the city of Chicago hereby extends congratulations to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for its wonderful success in promoting and conducting the Germany-United States Golden Gloves tournament."

PETER J. BRADY,
City Clerk.

COUNTY HOSPITAL DIETS.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—My mother has been a patient at the county hospital for several months, being operated on several times, in each case losing a quantity of blood. In order to regain her strength after each operation she requires such food as vegetables, eggs, soups, etc. Such food the Cook county hospital cannot afford, even with the prices of such items being low.

I put in a complaint in the warden's office and the gentleman in charge remarked to me, "I have been here 22 years and this is the second complaint I have received relative to the food served to the patients." [I wonder if he would be satisfied with a glass of milk for lunch.] C. KOVAC.

ROOSEVELT AT COLUMBUS.

Oak Park, Ill., Aug. 20.—The speech of Mr. Roosevelt at Columbus, O., is, to my mind, the best political utterance of the last decade. It completely demolishes the painted scenery which Mr. Hoover showed to the American people a week ago in his acceptance speech.

The campaign has just begun, but it is already evident that Mr. Roosevelt will keep his opponents on the jump if they attempt to meet him frequently in an intellectual combat.

The country will await with interest Mr. Hoover's rejoinder to Mr. Roosevelt. The Republican candidate has his work cut out for him. CHARLES SPENCER.

Getting the Message Home

GETTING the advertiser's message in the newspaper is one thing. Getting it home is another thing.

A recent house-to-house survey which included practically every home in 12 widely separated suburban towns in the New York Market shows that 72.8 per cent of the weekday morning newspapers sold in these towns are carried away from the home by commuters . . . and only 27.2 per cent remain at home to be read by various members of the family.

The survey shows that the evening newspapers stay in more than twice as many homes as the weekday morning newspapers . . . and that The Sun goes and stays in far more homes than any other weekday newspaper, morning or evening.

The Sun alone, according to the survey, stays in more homes than all the weekday morning newspapers combined . . . in two-and-a-half times as many homes as the Herald Tribune; nearly three times as many homes as the Times; twelve times as many homes as the News; nineteen times as many homes as the American.

The Sun alone is read in nearly as many homes in these suburbs as all the other evening newspapers combined . . . in twice as many homes as the World-Telegram; two-and-a-half times as many homes as the Post; four times as many homes as the Journal.

The towns included in this survey are all high-grade residential suburbs, situated in all parts of the suburban area. Similar surveys in a number of the better-class residential districts within New York City show that there, too, The Sun goes, stays and is read in more homes than any other weekday newspaper.

Advertisers who want to reach the better-class homes in the New York Market can reach them through The Sun. If you want your message to go home, put it in The Sun.

These are the Suburban Towns included in the Survey . . . and practically every home in each town was canvassed.

ECUADOR REBELS IN FLIGHT; ARMY RETAKES CAPITAL

Troops Assault City; Many Slain.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Aug. 29.—(AP)—President-elect Neptali Bonifaz' rebels were dislodged from the capital city of Quito today after a brisk engagement, the government announced, and federal troops regained control for the first time since Saturday.

The insurgents were said to be streaming out of the city toward the north with the federals in close pursuit. Their defeat was the climax of a siege in which infantry, artillery and airplanes were employed with telling effect.

Quito was retaken after six hours of fierce combat, in which many participants on both sides were killed or wounded. The total number of the casualties was not announced, but relief ambulances could be seen carting away bodies in a continual procession.

Battle in Streets.

Loyal forces not only had to battle with the soldiers of the revolting garrison but also with many civilians who had taken up arms in the rebel cause. The defenders poured volleys of bullets into the ranks of the loyalists from behind parapets and the besiegers had to fight their way in street by street until the last remnants of their opponents had been eradicated.

The whereabouts of Senor Bonifaz was not known. He was believed to be in hiding. Acting President Moreno took refuge in the Argentine legation when the fighting broke out and presumably is still there.

Bonifaz was elected president last October and was to have taken office Sept. 1. Recently congress declared him ineligible on the ground he was a Peruvian citizen rather than an Eucadorean.

Bolivian Cabinet Quits.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Minister of Government Enrique Hertzog announced tonight that the Bolivian cabinet had resigned and it was generally believed that a nonpartisan ministry would be formed.

Members of the cabinet are holding a protracted session with the thought of reaching an accord on the terms of their resignations. The government was formed last March and has had a difficult struggle with internal problems and an acceptable foreign policy.

Shortly before this action was taken Foreign Minister Juan M. Zalles received a note from the commission of neutrals in Washington asking the government to sign a 60 day truce with Paraguay, effective Sept. 1, to permit arbitration of the Gran Chaco conflict.

Brazil Bars Peace Mission.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The departure of an unofficial peace mission for Santos to arrange a truce between federal forces and the rebelling Sao Paulists was postponed tonight because of government opposition. Its future plans were uncertain.

Minister of Marine Guimaraes announced today that the cruiser Bahia would sail without the arbiters representing the Conservative party and commercial interests, and reiterated his insistence that the insurrectionists must lay down their arms before peace is broached.

CURTISS-WRIGHT SUED FOR $3,070,000 ON CHARGE OF SLANDER

New York, Aug. 29.—[Special.]—A suit for $3,070,000 damages against the Curtiss-Wright corporation and others was filed in the Supreme court today by Elmer H. Holmes, investment broker, and Holmes Airport, Inc., on the contention that malicious statements to bankers, investors and newspapers damaged development of the Holmes airport at Jackson Heights, Queens.

The defendants are Curtiss-Wright corporation, its subsidiaries, New York Air Terminals, Inc.; New York Airways, Inc., and Pan-American Airways, Inc., and Richard F. Hoyt, member of Hayden, Stone & Co., investment bankers, interested in Curtiss-Wright corporation.

Mr. Holmes demands $1,000,000 damages for himself and $2,070,000 damages for Holmes Airport, Inc. He said he acquired 200 acres of land in Jackson Heights in 1928 for the airport. Then the Curtiss-Wright corporation began to develop its North Beach airport, two miles away, he said, and there followed a campaign which resulted in the alleged injury, the complaint states.

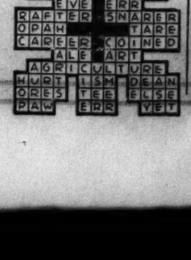
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



BRITISH MILLS CLOSE; POLICE FIGHT STRIKERS

Walkout Is Estimated 2-3 Effective.

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Mounted police were summoned to put down a struggle today between cotton mill strikers and a group of women who had ignored the order to 200,000 weavers in Lancashire cotton mills to walk out. Otherwise, however, the wage war opened peacefully. Many thousands of weavers refused to join the walkout.

There kere no authentic figures as to how many weavers struck today. Estimates varied from 100,000 to 131,000. Andrew Naesmith, leader of the weavers' union, estimated that the walkout was about two-thirds effective. Many mills were able to continue with depleted staffs. Others, due to private agreements with the workers, arranged yesterday, opened at full capacity this morning.

Pickets Boo Workers.

Union leaders made no claims that there was complete obedience to the strike order, but they are banking on the pressure of pickets and the boos of strikers gathered by the hundreds outside the mill gates to force the others to quit. Some mills opened this morning but were compelled to shut after lunch.

A direct appeal to King George to intervene through the government in the dispute was sent to Balmoral today by Joe Compton, a former Laborite member of parliament, who wields great influence in the mill districts.

Prime Minister MacDonald and J. H. Thomas, dominions secretary, arrived at Balmoral tonight as guests of the king, and it is generally believed that government intervention will be discussed.

Bus Workers Threaten Strike.

Other labor troubles threatened in Londay today when delegates representing 20,000 drivers and conductors of London buses gathered at Transport House under leadership of Ernest Beven, general secretary of the transport and general workers' union, to discuss pay reductions and alterations in working conditions.

Scores of bus men gathered at the entrance to the building wearing red rosettes and demanding admittance. They were moved on by police to a nearby hall where an immediate walkout was demanded.

The delegates held a stormy session. Unable to agree after meeting all day, they adjourned until tomorrow.

Anxious to Avoid Strike.

Union leaders are anxious to avoid a strike and are attempting to obtain from the delegates instructions to negotiate with the London General Omnibus company. If the delegates refuse to meet with their employers, there will probably be another ballot on a strike, which has already been approved by a majority of 3 to 1. The company's notices of changes in wages and working conditions will become effective in three weeks.

CLUB CALLS ON 102 COUNTIES TO AID IN WAR ON BILLBOARDS

An appeal for assistance in a drive to rid Illinois highways of disfiguring and dangerous billboards was mailed yesterday to 102 Illinois county highway superintendents by the Lake Forest Garden club, under the supervision of Mrs. Howard C. Phillips, chairman of the billboard and roadside committee.

Included was a copy of the "Roadside Bulletin," containing a full report of the survey of the billboard situation, made under the auspices of the club by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lawton, with numerous photographs. The latter illustrate traffic perils caused by the legal and the illegal signs, and the disfigurement of the scenery by the thousands of "snipe" or small signs tacked to trees, fences and barns.

The letter states: "Work of this kind [cleanup of the signs] is being done in many states. Pennsylvania removed 33,000 such signs in one cleanup. It is very desirable that the Illinois highways be cleared of this illegal advertising in view of the large number of motorists expected in 1933.

"We are asking that you not only coöperate in removing illegal signs from roads, but also that you may actively support us in our efforts to eliminate the billboard nuisance on private property.

"The outdoor advertising associations are planning a very large amount of billboard advertising in 1933 on all the state highways leading toward Chicago and the Century of Progress exposition.

"We feel no service will be done the state, the city or the exposition by thus making our highways ugly and in many cases dangerous, and we hope that you will exert every effort to prevent this along the highways in your jurisdiction."

REOPEN POLICE RADIO CENTER IN NEW QUARTERS

Frank Rafferty, chief radio engineer for the police department, flipped a pair of switches yesterday, and without interruption of its service, the police radio system began to function in its new headquarters in the central police building at 11th and State streets.

The new soundproof quarters on the twelfth floor of the building replace former cramped quarters in a penthouse on the roof of the building, where the radio headquarters were first established about two years ago. Chief Inspector Matthew Zimmer represented Police Commissioner Allman at the brief ceremonies by which the new station was opened.

The actual broadcasting stations through which the short wave messages are sent to police squads are located in the Wabash avenue, Warren avenue and Town Hall stations, but all of the announcements are made from the central building. Complaints from the public over Police 1213 telephones are also received there, and operators in the radio headquarters also have direct lines to all district police stations and to a number of suburban police stations.

Last year 438,854 complaints and alarms from the public were received over Police 1313, of which 116,000 were immediately flashed by radio to police squads operating in Chicago and its suburbs.

Politics Lives in Biography of Beveridge

Bowers' Book Describes Turn of Century.

BY JANET AYER FAIRBANK.
(Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank.)

"Beveridge and the Progressive Era," by Claude G. Bowers [Houghton-Mifflin]. Published today.

IN his "Beveridge and the Progressive Era" Claude G. Bowers has performed a threefold feat. He has produced an extraordinarily fine and solid biography, a comprehensive history of thirty years of American politics, and as absorbing a piece of narrative writing as it has been my good fortune to read in a long time.

Ordinarily nothing is more dead than the immediate past; Mr. Bowers has accomplished the miracle of giving it life. His story of the awakening and the development of independent political thought in the United States is a thrilling tale which will interest every American who reads it. For those who espoused the idealistic idea known as the Progressive party it has an especial and touching interest, for it invokes with kindly clearness that crusading time when the millennium seemed just at hand, when we believed in the magic of legislative cures for all evils, and when we had no doubts—not even of ourselves. "Onward, Christian Soldiers"; how we sang it, our hearts upon our lips! If a cause can be important because of the ardor of its supporters, then the Progressive cause deserved a eulogy, and it has devolved upon Mr. Bowers to understand and to immortalize its brief career.

Albert J. Beveridge was a part of the heart and brain of the Progressive party: it could not have lived without him, nor could he have come to the full expression of his political genius without it. He himself said, in talking of biographical writing, "The story of a public man, to mean anything, to be truthful . . . is part of the epic of the nation into which that man's deeds and words were woven during the period in which he wrought." Mr. Beveridge's own story is a very important part of the epic of the nation.

His life began in the way we like to think typical of American leaders. He was born on a farm, had a hard working childhood, surmounted extreme financial difficulties at college, studied and practiced law, made his name as an orator, and was elected to the United States senate when he was 35 years old. For eight years he was an active participant in what Mr. Bowers calls "the lustiest, gustiest period since Jackson" and the fact that he went in as a conservative and came out an insurgent is eloquent proof of his ability to cast off the worthless garment of outworn opinions. The growth of his intolerance of the group of old guard senators who sought to fly the Jolly Roger from the flagstaff of the national capitol is reading of an exciting sort.

He emerged from his last session of defiant crusading, to make the keynote speech at the Progressive national convention in Chicago. I have a copy of that address on my desk as I write. I have kept it because it seems to me to have in it a quality of inspiration unusual in political oratory. This speech of Albert Beveridge's expresses the fundamental doctrines of democracy, and is as applicable today as it was when he delivered it. In its extreme simplicity and fire of purpose it remains a model. I recall Mr. Beveridge as he delivered it, standing slim and exalted in the old Coliseum. So far as I am concerned, it established a high water mark in political speaking which nothing else has ever erased.

When the Progressives went down to defeat Beveridge had already begun his Life of John Marshall, a biography acclaimed by statesmen, critics, and historians, which won the Roosevelt Foundation prize. He worked with extreme conscientiousness, and brought to bear his unique equipment as a writer. "The chapters on the trial of Burr fairly reek with politics," says Bowers. Without Beveridge's political experience it would not have been possible for him to have written them.

The world war interrupted him and he went to Europe in search of material for articles. There, as in his earlier journeys to the Philippines and Manchuria, he got what he went after. He visited both the German and the allied trenches and interviewed important men of all the countries involved. When the war was over he was again aroused from work on his Marshall by the league of nations agitation. He was greatly alarmed at the prospect of the United States becoming a member, and snatched time for innumerable letters and addresses on the subject.

Later he made one more gesture toward political life: he allowed himself to be persuaded to run again for the senate, and went through the disheartening experience of the Harding campaign. The only adverse criticism I have for the biography is that the speeches Mr. Beveridge made at that time are not given as fully as his earlier ones, but I realize that space was undoubtedly a consideration.

His public life over, he turned with complete satisfaction to his writing. He was unearthing in the life of Lincoln facts which no other biographer had ever discovered, and which revolutionized historians' ideas of the man. Hard as he had worked all his life, and generous as he had been in pouring out his vitality and strength, he never labored on anything as he did on the preparation of his great book. He died before its completion.

Mr. Bowers' book is a superb achievement. It fixes forever the political point of view and thought of the turn of the century, and preserves for all time the inspiring record of a great American citizen.

Three Smart Hats from Mainbocher Satisfy Paris Penchant for Velvet

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Hats are the unit of fashions that defy all the laws of gravity and what have you. According to nature and philosophers, everything should start from the bottom, but hats flout this rule. Practically the last thing a woman dons and certainly the height of her adornment, hats are the first fashions each season to change their styles. Long before coats, dresses, etc., have decided on their line, les chapeaux have settled in comfortably for the season. And despite denials to the contrary, they quite often have a decided influence on other fashions—in both silhouette and material.

At the races and garden parties the great Parisian modistes give an inkling of what they are going to do for fall. And from all indications, velvet will be the big factor in hats for autumn. Most of the new hats seen so far are tiny toques or those with just the briefest of brims.

In the sketch today you see three hats designed by Mainbocher, who is both dressmaker and milliner—which makes his hats doubly significant of future styles. In the upper corner is a black velvet hat with a tiny turned up brim. The crown is drawn down into folds just over the right eye and held in place by two strass buttons. In the center back there is a jutting wing of the velvet. The hat at the bottom is in dark brown velvet. It has two wings in front, and another in back of the right ear. The hat in the center is a draped turban in two tones of red velvet—a rich ruby and a burgundy.

Sally to Send Show Invitations to Guests Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

There's a lot of fun on the horizon for the hundred boys and girls who wrote winning letters to attend our last party of the season at the Oriental theater on Thursday. The picture, "Seventy Thousand Witnesses," is full of thrills—the kind one gets at a big football game, the kind derived from watching a baffling mystery slowly unravel, and the kind one has when enjoying a party with ninety-nine other boys and girls.

There's comedy in this picture, too, and Charles Ruggles is responsible for it, and there's more comedy in the stage show, where we'll see Stewart and Lash, a rollicking pair, whom you'll be sure to enjoy.

Invitations will be sent to you today if your name appeared among the winners in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

Joliet Girl Named Milking Champion of Three States

Miss Cathryne Balts, 19 years old, was declared the 1932 milkmaid champion of the Pure Milk Association of Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana last night at a meeting in St. John's hall in Joliet. Miss Balts, who lives with her parents on a farm eight miles south of Joliet, attended Joliet Junior college last year and plans to enter Northwestern university this fall to prepare for a nursing career. She was awarded a fitted overnight case as a prize.

Miss Luella Luhring of Frankfort, Ill., placed second with 15.9 pounds, Miss Elvira Hasseman of Beecher, Ill., was third with 14.6 pounds, and Miss Louise Erbentraut of Popular Grove, Ill., tied for fourth with Miss Ruth Allen of Brooklyn, Wis.

The Umbrella Gets a Place in Style World

And Borrowing Will Be Difficult Task.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

HABITUAL umbrella borrowers are going to be obliged to think up some brand new stories about sudden downpours, new clothes, and sundry other well worn out reasons why they are always without these helpful accessories in times of need.

This year it's going to be quite a calamity not to own an umbrella, because the new models are going to be cherished and appreciated as they have never been before! Good looking new umbrellas are going to be hoarded and kept under close surveillance. In other words, it looks like a season of one man and one woman umbrellas, competition being damply discouraged.

There are some new black and chromium umbrellas that will probably be carried rain or shine in order that they be kept in the family . . . they are the swankiest things any borrowing friend ever envied. Modernistic handles of this ever always bright stuff are guaranteed to shine boldly and brightly for as long as the silk sticks to the ribs, also of chromium. Closed and trimly furled it is as thin as a slender black shadow tipped with a flash of steel-like chromium.

If you like checks, small or large, you will like the black umbrellas banded with a two inch checkerboard edge and a black and white prystal handle. These you will find shaped like a confiding shepherd's crook, made to clamp rather tightly over your arm. Others have plain prystal handles that form a circle, funny bumpy knobs and flat, oblong slabs with small designs.

The black silk umbrellas practically steal the show this year . . . you can buy a night-out model, cleverly fashioned with a wide-eyed owl head as a handle . . . the owl is carved out of black wood, with orange rimmed eyes . . . everything else is black, a delightful, mysterious black, ribs, stick, silk cover, and tasseled loop to go over your wrist while you silently engage in locating the keyhole.

There is another model made with aluminum ribs that makes you think you are gazing into the inside framework of a Zeppelin . . . the ribs, tip, and handle are all of this frosty gray metal.

A couple of gay dogheads will accompany some folks around the town . . . they are the dogs that decorate the new umbrellas as a handle and a matching though smaller size on the end of the silk wrist loop. Very likable and agreeable rabbit heads with the usual flexible, twitching, long ears made of limp leather ought to bring the owner luck even if the much advertised foot is not in evidence. These rainy day rabbits are available in shiny black wood heads with dull leather ears, or in transparent prystal heads with shiny leather acoustic organs.

Umbrellas with rigid covers that copy the swagger stick are also equipped with new dog and rabbit heads for handles . . . and their smart sheath can be telescoped in a second and the short silk rain breaker emerges to do its duty before you have time to fuss about the weather.

Favorite Must Be Winning

Loretta Young Proves a Feast for Your Eyes

She Tells Antoinette Two Beauty Secrets.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I breakfasted, or lunched, or maybe it was "brunched" with Loretta Young not long ago. What's breakfast to a movie star is noonday sandwich time for the rest of us poor slaves. That is, when the stars are holidaying around New York.

But whatever the meal was, Loretta is considerable of a food distraction!

She's a golden tan girl! Her hair is almost all the way back from a regretted bleach to a natural pale tan blond. Her skin has that same pale tan color in it—natural—not suntanned. And grand green eyes that go gray and blue by night. You know, the color they term colloquially "cat's eyes." She's the slenderest thing you ever saw. Not so tall as most people think. Five feet four in stocking feet, but her heels shoot her up a couple of inches.

She gave me two good hints. One for the girl with the very long, slender neck and one for the girl with a small face, both of which are part of this rarely good looking young woman's equipment. Whether people are wearing hair short or long, Miss Young thinks the long, slender neck should be "draped" with hair below the usual back hair line.

The hair caught in a knot on the nape of the neck is not so good as hair tapered and arranged so that the neck part behind the ears is covered to shorten the neck, as it were.

Miss Young's hair is done in curls she sets herself, a bit shorter behind the ears than in the center back. There's a charming orderly disorderliness to the hair arrangement back there.

The other suggestion is that a girl with a small face should keep rouge off her cheeks for the same reason a small woman shouldn't load herself down with beads. Miss Young uses no cheek rouge, but really and truly natural looking lip coloring. Pale coral finger nail polish is her favorite. She uses black mascara on her lashes and a light dab of blue on the eyelid.

Good Morning!

Arthur Stringer's story, "The Mud Lark," becomes, as adapted, a puny, garbled little piece. Two fine players are wasted. One of them—George Brent—is ridiculously miscast. It's fortunate we've learned to admire him in other films, for, as a hick with the sniffles, he's pretty hard to take. [How I hate these disagreeable retchings for realism!] Even aside from the sniffs—thumbs down on the direction so far as I'm concerned.

The story occupies itself with a cabaret singer who goes west to marry a farmer she's never seen. A hotel maid has confessed to the lady that, following correspondence instigated by a matrimonial agency, she has sent the farmer the singer's picture in lieu of her own. The singer, desirous of leaving a life with which she's fed up, inquires of the servant:

"How'd you like $100?"

Answer: "Plenty!"

"Here's the hundred if you'll let me go to North Dakota in your place!" says the glamorous dance hall entertainer.

And so, Jim and Joan meet and marry and scrap and love and agonize—and the picture will show you what else.

Barbara Stanwyck, as always, gives a gallant performance. George Brent merely suffers—for he's too smart not to realize how badly he's being done by. You can see he hates his rôle with every breath. Playing it he seems an uncomprehending, mediocre actor. Supporting players do their goldurndest to no particular account.

W. M. Poole Is Engaged to New York Girl

Descendant of Prominent Chicago Families.

BY JUDITH CASS.

CHICAGO branches of the Poole family and their friends will be interested in the following news from New York:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carrollton Clark of New York announce the engagement of their daughter, Caroline Louisa, to William Morris Poole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Poole of New York. Miss Clark is a descendant of a prominent southern family, her grandfather being the late Maj. Adolphus Rutherford Andrews of Dallas, Tex. She is a niece of Capt. Adolphus Andrews of the United States navy, now chief of staff of the naval war college at Newport, R. I. She attended Smith college, spending her junior year at the University of Grenoble and the Sorbonne in Paris and transferred to Barnard college, from which she was graduated this year.

Mr. Poole was graduated from Philips Exeter in 1927 and from Princeton in 1931. He is a grandson of the late Abram Poole and the late John Russell Winterbotham, both of whom were prominent in pioneer Chicago history. His grandmother, Mrs. John R. Winterbotham of Chicago spends her summers in Franconia, N. H., where she has a house not far from the Ernest Pooles' summer estate. Ernest Poole is the famous novelist and Pulitzer prize winner.

Horse Show for Fort Sheridan.

The army's boast that the Fort Sheridan horse show to be held on Sept. 16, 17, and 18 will be "the biggest and best show" given in these parts in many years would seem to be materializing as plans for the exhibition progress.

All of Chicago and north shore society is interested in the show, not only because of the excellent equestrian displays the fort has staged in the past, but because it is to be the only horse show on the north shore this season.

The three day program is to be a crowded one, including a regular horse show each afternoon, an all military show in the evenings, a children's horse show on Saturday morning, and probably a polo game in addition to the afternoon exhibitions on Sunday, the closing day of the show.

As for the children's show, there is general rejoicing over the fact that Miss Libby Chase has promised to conduct it. Her show in July for youngsters of her own riding school was so successful that the Army men naturally were eager to gain her cooperation for their program.

Miss Chase, as you know, is considered one of the best riders in this vicinity. Any child between the ages of 3 and 16 is eligible, provided of course, he or she can "stay on a horse."

Thrilling War Show at Nights.

The evening military exhibition will be a thrilling spectacle divided into eight classes. There will be a field artillery drivers' contest with the guns drawn by 6 horses; marksmanship contests for both the artillery and the infantry with targets anchored in the lake; an escort wagon driving contest; competitive cavalry and infantry drills; and an anti-aircraft machine gun competition with the men firing at a target to be trailed behind an airplane. For the closing event, the committee hopes to put on a miniature air show by 20 pilots of Army planes from Selfridge field, Michigan. Tracer ammunition, which is visible in the dark, will be used in all of the firing contests.

Proceeds of the show will be divided between the fort's charity fund and the building fund for the new polo field.

Card Party for White Elephant.

Although "white elephants" are not so numerous as they used to be in more prosperous days, the White Elephant rummage shop which is run by society women for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital, will undoubtedly acquire a variety of salable articles from a card party tea to be given on Sept. 16 at Mrs. Clyde M. Carr's lovely residence in Lake Forest.

Everybody invited will be asked to bring along a white elephant for the shop. It is the custom of the shop's board to give two of these donations teas each fall, one in Lake Forest and one in town, and the friends of the Children's Memorial always respond with generous gifts.

Benefit for Holiday Home.

A bridge party to benefit Holiday home will be held tomorrow in Lake Geneva. The committee in charge includes Miss Katherine Lefens, Mrs. Frank Porter, Mrs. Albert F. Madlener, and Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell.

Since 1887 Holiday home has been the pet charity of Lake Geneva summer residents. It was started by such well known families as the Mitchells, Ryersons, Swifts, Ayers, Allertons, Cranes, Seipps, Kohlsaats, Ishams, Wheelers, and Rumseys, and the present day colonists are still giving loyal support to it every year.

Mrs. William F. Peterson, as president during the last year, has managed to combat the depression by enlarging the list of members and arousing interest in benefit affairs. The home is open from June to September each year to children and mothers from the crowded districts of Chicago.

The Thursday noon luncheons at the Lake Geneva Country club continue to be very gay feminine affairs. Most of the women who are present each week are golf devotees, so the parties are unofficially called "golf luncheons." The members include Mrs. Armin Brand, Miss Jane Brand, Miss Jeanette Peterkin, Miss Kath-

The Death Watch

By Edgar Wallace

SYNOPSIS.

Peter Dunn of Scotland Yard is in pursuit of a band of thieves who some years before had robbed the Canadian Bank of Commerce in London. The robbers spent nine years in jail for the theft, but the loot was never recovered. Peter's buddy, Inspector Sam Allerway, was dismissed in disgrace, accused of taking a bribe from the head thief, and killed himself. Peter, the only baronet in the service, kept right on working after he came into his title and fortune. It was his form of fun and he wanted to vindicate Allerway. The year after the robbers were released Peter, on a vacation, cruising on the Thames, recognizes a servant in a supposedly haunted house as one of the robbers. Peter stays to investigate. The house is owned by Mr. Hannay, and is one of two identical villas lying side by side. Hannay's has been improved, while the other is deserted and decayed. Neither Hannay nor his daughter, Pat, believes the ghost stories, but the servants leave one by one. Hannay invites Mr. Herzoff, a scientist living in the neighborhood, to be his guest. Pat, driving near her home, nearly collides with Peter's car.

INSTALLMENT VIII.

IMPERTINENCE.

"Why didn't I see it?" asked Hannay irritably, and Higgins looked pained.

"Because, sir, if I may respectfully suggest it, you were asleep, and therefore you wasn't looking. And if you was asleep and wasn't looking you couldn't see anything. That's been my experience, sir. It's got me, sir." He was very serious. "I've been with some of the best families in the country and I've never seen anything like this happen."

He looked round over his shoulder as though he expected to find some supernatural eavesdropper.

"The house is haunted, sir," he said in a lowered voice.

"Nothing of the sort," snapped Hannay. "I will see just what is going to happen."

"You won't see anything unless you keep awake, sir—that's my experience," he said.

"I'll keep awake all right," said Hannay grimly. "Have a bedroom got ready for Professor Herzoff. He's coming to stay here tonight."

When Higgins had gone:

"The death watch, my dear, as I have explained before——"

Pat groaned.

"——is a little beetle ringing up his girl friend—I know all about that. I learned it at school," she said.

He was not a pleasant sight.

Pat met the new gardener that afternoon. It was no unique experience to come across odd people working about the house whom she had never seen before. It was also no new experience to meet servants in the morning and find they had disappeared by the evening.

She came across a big man working with a hoe on the edge of the lawn. He grinned at her and nodded. He was not a pleasant sight. He had broad shoulders and a round, odd looking head. His features were irregular. He had the biggest and ugliest mouth she had ever seen in a man.

"Are you the new gardener?" she asked.

He grinned again.

"Yes, miss, I am. Name of Standey. I'm a bit new to this place, so you'll have to excuse me."

She remembered then that there had been no flowers in the house for two or three days and told him.

There was something about him she did not like. He was staring at her with frank admiration. There was in his attitude an insolence which she resented.

"I don't see why they want flowers when you're around, miss," he said with clumsy gallantry. "I don't think I am likely to grow anything as pretty as you."

She stared at him, open eyed. This was a new experience for her and not a particularly pleasant one.

"Go up to the house and see the maid," she said coldly. "Ask her what flowers she wants."

He did not stir. He stood, leaning on his hoe, his pale eyes devouring her.

"I'll be going up to get my tea in a minute——" he began.

"Go up now," she said, and he went reluctantly.

She told herself it was the sort of thing she must expect if they engaged incompetent servants. The man was probably a gardener's laborer who had seized the opportunity of promoting himself to a position which he could not adequately fill.

From the lawn to the box hedge which surrounded the western confines of the property was only a few yards. She was unaware that she had attracted an audience and not until she heard a soft laugh did she turn round quickly. It was the young man who called himself Peter.

Recovering from her surprise, she looked at him coldly.

"He was very impertinent," she said. "There seems to be an epidemic of that sort of thing."

Peter grinned.

"And I am part of the disease?" he said. "Yet the last thing in the world I want to be is impertinent. What is his name?"

She was eyeing him steadily and there was no encouragement in her glance.

"I didn't ask him for his card," she said, "and anyway you can't read," she added maliciously.

Peter grinned again.

"That was a little joke. I should have explained it at the time. All my jokes require an explanatory footnote. As a matter of fact, I am a pretty good reader."

She nodded.

"There is a board on the gate you came through," she said significantly.

"I know," said Peter. "It says 'Private. Please keep out.' I thought it was unnecessarily brusque, even rude."

For some reason or other she was exasperated; unreasonably, she agreed to herself.

"You're lucky not to have met the dog——" she began.

"He would have been lucky to have met me," said Peter quietly. "I understand your dog died with dramatic suddenness after seeing a ghost."

"Who told you that?" she gasped.

"Je sais tout—French. As a matter of fact, I'm terribly interested in your affairs, Miss Hannay. I know it's abominable of me, but I can't know too much about you, and if I could only have a talk with you for ten minutes——"

"The odd thing is that I don't want to talk to you even for one minute."

She saw him look past her and turned her head. Standey, the new gardener, was coming away from the house and walking towards her.

"That isn't odd—it's inhuman," said Peter. "You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

"Is that all you have to say?" she asked stiffly.

She half turned to leave him, but it was not so easy: the temptation was to go on talking.

"The gardener's coming back. Perhaps you'd like to ask him what he wears for dinner."

She saw Peter's face cloud.

"No, I don't think I'll wait for your attractive henchman," he said. "You and I will meet another time perhaps."

"I hope not," she said.

Script Delays 3 Barrymores in "Rasputin"

BY ROSALIND SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 29.—One of the things about the movies that a mere outsider would find hard to understand is the fact that MGM has hired the three Barrymores, presumably with some expense, to play in "Rasputin," and then has the picture stopped at intervals because the director "is out of script" and must wait until Charles MacArthur, the writer, can get additional script and dialogue written.

Charley himself wanders about the gorgeous sets looking like a haunted man. In all sympathy to Charley, it is only fair to say he did not know the czar well enough to be able to write dialogue as fluently for "Rasputin" as he did for his big hit, "The Front Page," which concerned reporters and other such folk Charley knew right well from his old Chicago newspaper days.

Incidentally the Barrymores are now on their second director, Richard Boleslavsky. Charles Brabin, who started "Rasputin," is working on "Mask of Fu Manchu," replacing Charles Vidor, new director taken off that production. Incidentally, Ethel Barrymore has an idiosyncrasy when it comes to interviews—she has no objection to men interviewers, but if a woman strays on a set she gets restive.

As for John, he will sometimes break down and tell all to a newspaper interviewer, but has no time for fan magazine writers generally. This is due no doubt to his old days as a reporter.

The zoo at Universal City, which was gradually disbanded when talkies came into style, is now being revived because of the popularity of jungle films. When sound pictures first came into fashion no one at Universal dreamed of being able to use wild animals for movies any more.

Even when Paramount wanted to make "Miss Lulu Belle" an oriental girl, instead of a mulatto, the Hays office couldn't see the story as a picture theme.

B. P. Schulberg, who was Sylvia Sidney's principal backer at the Paramount lot before he retired from management of Paramount's production activities and split with his wife, is now back handling Miss Sidney's film destinies at Paramount again. Under the new business arrangement Schulberg becomes a producer for Paramount, but only of Miss Sidney's films.

Now that Buster Keaton's ex-wife took away his new $25,000 yacht in the divorce settlement, and sold it, Buster is angling to buy a new yacht.

Vitamin C Due Frequent Place in Daily Menu

BY MARY MEADE.

Some one once told me that a frequently heard greeting in China was "Good morning, have you eaten rice?" From which we might nicely take a pointer in this country and institute a later greeting of "Good evening, have you had your vitamin C?"

At least, we should check up and be sure that we are getting the much needed amount of vitamin C into family meals these hot days. Chilly orange juice . . . tinkling lemonades . . . tomato juice cocktails . . . cabbage salads. They're all rich in this important vitamin and demand a frequent place on the menu.

But—because we all forget—just what is the importance of vitamin C? Which foods supply it best, considering price, preparation, and the actual amount of vitamin present? And is there danger these days, when we all are making pennies do double duty, of economizing on the wrong foods and eliminating important vitamin C sources?

To answer the last first, there really is just that danger. Leading doctors and scientists have warned us that an insufficient amount of vitamin C in the present low cost diets might result in outbreaks of scurvy, similar to those which developed in Europe during the world war. And while a partial lack may not cause scurvy, it brings about a general below-par physical condition and dental troubles. Children are irritable, do not grow normally, and are less resistant to infectious diseases. A stiffness and soreness of the muscles often taken for rheumatism may set in.

So, since even during prosperity the average diet often falls short of the proper amount of C, when economy is in order it is doubly important that we plan most carefully to supply adequate health insurance in the form of vitamins.

Heading the list of C sources come uncooked cabbage, oranges, lemons, tomatoes [fresh or canned], and potatoes. Other good sources of vitamin C include strawberries, lettuce, and watercress. Peaches, apricots, apples, bananas, pineapple, cantaloupe, carrots, cucumbers, onions, radishes, and peas [all served raw] also form good supplementary sources. While cooking these foods for a short time does not destroy the whole supply of vitamin, it definitely cuts its down in most foods except tomatoes. Tomatoes can be cooked and bottled as juice or canned whole and, due to their acidity, will retain practically all their load of vitamins.

Now how much vitamin C do our families need to keep them out of danger? The menu given today is supplied with a good balance of vitamin C foods. If we are able to supply in addition to some of the foods only moderately high in this vitamin, the juice and pulp of one small orange or a small glass of tomato juice, we shall have completed the day's requirement and give a margin of safety.

But lest her family grow bored by too many breakfast orange juices, the inventive cook has on hand a series of thoughts for vitamin C specials. Salads, for instance, lend themselves excellently to the job of turning out healthy families. Thin orange slices on a bed of watercress or alternating on crisp lettuce with thin slices of onion, sandwich fashion, make two good starters.

At Luncheon

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Carolyn Pape, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Pape of 9250 Pleasant avenue, to Frederic Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., son of Contessa Grace Bocchi Bianchi of Florence, Italy, was made yesterday at a luncheon at the Pape residence.

Miss Pape is a graduate of the Starrett School for Girls and of Sweet Briar college. Mr. Mercur, who is a nationally known amateur tennis player, is a graduate of Harrisburg academy and Lehigh university, and a member of Sigma Phi fraternity. Miss Pape is chairman of the annual "Ballyhoo Ball" to be held on Nov. 27 at the Stevens hotel for the benefit of the Beverly Hills Infant Welfare society.

Children Annoy Chap Calling on an Older Sister

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"In answer to your recent article on 'Why do Young Men Avoid the Girl's Home and Family.' There are thousands of reasons, chief among which you'll find outlined below. I shall limit myself largely to personal experience.

"To begin with, whether the girl's family consists of one or twelve there's always at least one who 'spills the soup on his lap,' figuratively speaking. Often the girl's little brothers or sisters pester him to give them a dime every time he turns around. Or, he has no peace of mind or body the way they paw his clothes with their soiled little fingers and hang around him. Or they gaze at him continually until he feels like a side show freak. Or, they listen to every word he says so closely that he can't be himself talking to the girl.

"In one case, the girl's people—especially her mother—put me through a questionnaire beside which the war questionnaire was nothing.

"Other homes create such a suspicious, cold atmosphere it makes you feel as nervous as the proverbial goat at the stockyards.

"In other houses I have entered, from the second I came in the girl was shoved aside and her mother took up the conversation, chattering and chattering until I got dizzy and began looking for my hat with the tail of my eye, sizing up the space between me and the nearest exit.

"Other girls' families raise daughter seventh heaven in praise until the young man's $30 a week looks like $2.98. One mother once told me so many great and historic things about her family that I shrunk to so small a stature I could have used a pencil for a walking stick.

"Still other families, while not inquisitive, hold the young man mentally under advisement and get the idea across that every word he says is being weighed in the balance, every action ditto, which certainly does not put him at ease.

"Still others treat the young man as an outsider. They freeze him out literally, holding to their wonted place at table or under their favorite reading lamp, or propped up on the divan; anyway, making him feel he has deprived them of something by his presence.

Hot Weather Should Boom Sale of Records

Get Festival Music as You Help Babies.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Here's hoping that every owner of a phonograph wiped a perspiring brow yesterday, thought of a city-ful of babies a lot hoter, and then clipped out a certain coupon from THE TRIBUNE and sent it to the music festival record department accompanied by a check.

The sale of a set of phonograph records which preserve selections as they were presented at the Chicagoland music festival on Aug. 20, is sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, to raise money for the free ice fund. The extreme heat of yesterday only brings a little closer home the discomfort of tiny babies in the tenements. Their milk supply is endangered when there is no ice.

Thus the reader who buys the music festival records not only may hear again and again the magnificent numbers sung and played by some of the best musicians in the middle west, but will have the satisfaction of helping where help is really needed, and in some measure giving a very small citizen a chance at life.

There were 125,000 persons in Soldiers' field who heard the great festival of music. Surely some of that number would find use for a permanent record of that music. The purchase of these records will mean that more ice may be delivered to destitute homes.

It is a very simple procedure. Simply clip out the coupon appearing on this page, check the records you wish and mail the coupon together with your check to Room 530, Tribune Tower, in care of the festival record department. The records are now being manufactured and will be ready for delivery about ten days after the order is placed.

From friends who sent individual gifts to the free ice fund yesterday came the following:

$1—"O," Tess Kerner, Pearl, Muriel Himmel.

Total	$ 7.00
Previously acknowledged	2,161.00
Grand total	$2,168.00

The Camp Algonquin fund which sends mothers and children from the congested districts to the Fox river camp for two weeks vacations, received the receipts of two benefits yesterday. A carnival in Warwick Woods camp, Sayner, Wis., given by a group of girls netted the fund $8.28 and good wishes for the success of the camp. In Oak Park, five children, 2 to 8 years old, Cecilia Barteau, Shirley Bell, Paul Eissler, Barbara Dutton, and John Johnson, with Betty Budd as director, gave a circus. They charged one cent admission and earned $1.

Other gifts were $3 from E. P. C., and $5 from Anonymous, making a total of $5,041.36 in the fund.

Boat Burns at Delavan Lake.

There was great excitement among the summer colonists at Delavan lake last week-end when W. R. Matteson's speedboat Light Wines to Beer caught fire. Nobody was hurt, as the guests on board jumped into the lake and swam around until a bevy of speedboats rushed out to rescue them.

The flames made a beautiful spectacle while the fire lasted, but afterwards Light Wines to Beer was a sad sight as its charred remains drifted from one end of the lake to the other, with everybody too afraid of an explosion to go near the craft.

Details of Mrs. Adeline Lobdell Atwater's marriage to Harold Cooper Pynchon last Thursday in Estes Park arrived yesterday by mail. The ceremony did not take place, as the bride's Chicago relatives assumed, at the residence of her parents, the Edwin L. Lobdells, but in the cabin of the justice of the peace facing Long's peak in Estes Park.

The bride and bridegroom rode on horseback to the justice's cabin. Richardson Rome, the artist, and Clem Yore, a novelist, were the only witnesses.

Miss Mildred Wetten will give a garden tea for Wellesley freshman tomorrow afternoon at the summer residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Wetten, at 40 Indian Hill road, Winnetka. Her assistants will include Mrs. Francis Broomell, president of the Chicago Wellesley club, Miss Margaret Broomell, Miss Louise Conway, Mrs. Horton Conrad, and Miss Elizabeth Patterson.

Frederick Haucks Will Move.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hauck (Janet Chase) are giving up their Superior street apartment in late September and moving into one of the Cliff Leonard cottages at the end of Deerpath road in Lake Forest, so Mrs. Hauck, who is decidedly talented in the matter of interior decoration, is busy these days with plans for her new house. Her parents, Mr. and Samuel T. Chase, intend to remain at their Lake Forest house throughout the winter.

Mrs. Hayden B. Harris returned to her residence at 20 Cedar street yesterday from the Highland Park hospital where she has been convalescing from a broken leg.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Wegg of 456 Surf street and their three daughters, Mary Jane, Constance, and Marjorie Ann, will return to Chicago this week from a motor trip through Canada. They will spend the early fall at their estate north of Libertyville.

Mrs. James C. Hutchins, who went to Camden, Me., in early July with her three children, spent last week at Atlantic City with her son, Chauncey. The family will return to Chicago about the middle of September.

Benefit for Women Voters.

Mrs. William G. Hibbard, energetic vice president of the Illinois League of Women Voters, is sending out invitations to a pre-view of Maurice Chevalier's new picture, "Love Me Tonight," to be held a week from Thursday evening in the gardens of her Winnetka residence.

There will be dancing after the picture and a group of debutantes will be present to usher. Proceeds of the affair will be used for the league's publication of political candidates' records this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Newton of 210 East Pearson street will depart on Thursday to spend the Labor day week-end at Lawsonia. When they return they will move into another apartment in the same building, and as soon as they are settled will plan a small house warming party.

The first fall meeting of the ticket committee of the Girl Scout organization, which will be the beneficiary of the fall series of Monday night concerts at Orchestra hall, will be held on Thursday morning at 10:30 at the residence of Mrs. William S. Monroe at 64 East Elm street. The committee includes Mrs. Richard Bentley, Mrs. John B. Bremner, Mrs. Nathan S. Davis III., Mrs. Edison Dick, Mrs. James H. Douglas Jr., Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay Jr., Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson, and Mrs. Adlai Stevenson.

LINE FORMS AS R. F. C. BEGINS TO DISCUSS LOANS

Los Angeles One of First, New York Close Up.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Los Angeles was among the very first in line today as politicians, local officials and lobbyists swarmed into the offices of the Reconstruction Finance corporation seeking loans for the "self liquidating projects" authorized by the recent relief act.

Publication today of the policy which the corporation intends to follow in making such loans was the signal for an intensive drive by the supporters of applications totaling hundreds of millions of dollars.

Two applications by Los Angeles seek an advance of 132 million dollars in order to carry to the city the water and power to be made available by the expenditure of 165 millions of federal money on Boulder dam. Of the total sum applied for the California city would like a loan of 32 millions to build an electric transmission line and 100 millions to be used to purchase the bonds of the municipal 5water company which will build an aqueduct from Boulder dam to the coast.

What New York Asks.

Next to Los Angeles in the size of its individual demands is New York, which is asking for a loan of 75 millions to build the proposed 38th street tunnel under the Hudson river to Weehawken and 55 millions for the projected triborough bridge. In addition, New York is applying for loans for two slum eradication projects.

Other applications are for loans to finance the San Francisco bay bridge, the Chesapeake bay bridge, a bridge across the Mississippi, another across the Missouri, and one from St. Louis for a slum eradication development.

Among those in the crowd of loan seekers was Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, keynoter at the recent Democratic convention, who was there to pave the way for an application for a dock construction project in his home city of Paducah.

As proof of the unofficial reports that the finance corporation will soon be ready to make "self liquidating project" loans, the board of directors today gave out the statement of the policy they will pursue.

Board Becomes Cagy.

The circular advised prospective applicants that the board intends to be as cautious in making such advances as it has been in granting relief loans, and that they must be prepared to submit every detail of their proposed project.

"No application will be considered," it said, "unless the project is shown to be self liquidating; the proposed loan is shown to be adequately secured; and complete information is supplied as to all phases of the project.

Not only must applicants set forth details of their financial responsibility, the circular stated, but they must likewise submit to the corporation "plans, specifications, maps, and explanatory memoranda, including reports by engineers, architects, appraisers, and other experts." An advisory board of engineers has already been appointed by the corporation to study these memoranda and to pass upon the question as to whether the project is reasonable and actually "self liquidating."

Five types of "self liquidating" loans were enumerated by the board as possible of granting under the relief bill. These are loans to states and municipalities; loans to regulated house corporations; loans for privately owned projects devoted to public use; loans for the protection and development of forests and loans for public owned bridges supported in part by taxation.

Increased by Bill.

The corporation's total resources, from which self liquidating projects are to be made, were increased by the emergency relief bill from two billions to three billions eight hundred millions.

No further interpretation of the term "self-liquidating" was given to the corporation other than the definition contained in the relief act.

This provision of the act clearly imposes the requirement that in order to be eligible for a loan the project must be one which will produce sufficient revenues to make it self-supporting and to return its construction cost within a reasonable time," the board stated. Attention was called to the fact that the relief measure "expressly excluded" taxation as a source of revenue for returning the cost of the project.

Applications for loans under other sections of the Reconstruction Finance act and the emergency relief bill continued to arrive at the corporation. Representatives of Florida visited the board to negotiate for a $500,000 loan from the 300 million dollar fund available to the corporation for emergency relief advances, and the interstate commerce commission approved and sent to the corporation an application by the Nickel Plate railroad for a loan of $1,400,000 to pay interest on its bonds due Sept. 1.

Home Loan Bank Active.

In the meantime another board—that of the new home loan bank system—was perfecting arrangements to open its books to subscriptions for capital stock in the banks to be set up in the twelve recently defined home loan districts.

A sales campaign to raise the 134 million dollars of capital required by the twelve banks has already been begun. On its success will depend the amount which must be furnished by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Under the act creating the system the corporation must supply that portion up to 125 million dollars of the required capital not subscribed for by member home financing institutions.

Chairman Franklin W. Fort of the home loan board declared today that there had already been a considerable easing of the mortgage loan situation as the result of the board's activity.

R. F. C. AUTHORIZES 50 MILLION COTTON STABILIZATION LOAN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Jesse H. Jones, a director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, said tonight in an address that "we have authorized $50,000,000 for cotton cooperative and cotton stabilization corporations to enable them to hold their cotton until 1933."

Jones did not elaborate on the sentence which was added to the advance text of his address just before he began to speak.

Carl Williams, vice chairman of the farm board, when asked by newspapermen whether Jones' announcement meant that the cotton controlled by farm board affiliates would be held from the markets for another year, said: "I cannot comment on that at this time."

LAWYER ACCUSES COP AND GIVES HIM BLACK EYE

A charge by Attorney Theodore W. Miller, former assistant state's attorney, that two of his women clients, arrested on the charge of being street walkers, had been made the victims of a bail bond racket at the Hudson avenue police station precipitated a fist fight yesterday in the Morals court between the attorney and Policeman Thomas Gallagher, who arrested the women.

Gallagher got a black eye. Miller was locked up for a time in the court bull pen, and later released on his own recognizance after Gallagher had signed a complaint charging him with assault and battery. Judge John F. Haas freed Attorney Miller's two clients and set the case against the attorney for hearing on Sept. 8.

Attorney Miller asserted that his clients, Rose Clayborne, 25 years old, 2236 Sedgwick street, and Florence Wagner, 25 years old, 158 Carl street, had been locked up by Gallagher and forced to pay $18 for a $25 bond for their release.

ASKS AMENDMENT TO CURE PENSION LAW INJUSTICE

Assistant Corporation Counsel George F. Mulligan yesterday wrote to Gov. Emmerson urging that amendments to the pension laws, to prevent the present 78 day pay cut of Chicago municipal employés from being reflected in their pension allowances, be included in the program of the proposed special session of the legislature.

Pensions of policemen, firemen and municipal employés are based upon their pay for the last year before they leave the service, Mr. Mulligan pointed out in his communication, which was approved by Corporation Counsel Sexton. Accordingly, employés retiring in 1933 would have their pensions reduced in ratio to the deductions made from the 1932 pay checks by the 78 day pay cut plan.

COTTON DEALERS RELATE INJURY OF U. S. RIVALRY

Pour Troubles Into Ears of Shannon Committee.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—An attack was launched against the farm board at a hearing today by the Shannon committee of congress investigating government in private business. J. B. Shannon of Missouri, chairman, and E. E. Cox [Georgia], vice chairman, are conducting the hearing.

Today's hearing was largely directed against the farm board and its stabilization plans for cotton. There was also an attack on the farm board for a venture into the poultry business in San Antonio.

"The committee feels that private cotton interests have been given ruinous competition by the farm board," Congressman Cox said.

"Gigantic Speculation."

Russell Clark, president of the New Orleans Cotton exchange, testified that stabilization operations of the American Cotton Co-operative association had been "the most gigantic speculation ever attempted in cotton and the most unsuccessful." Cotton, he pointed out, dropped from 18 cents to less than 5 cents a pound.

"The government's entry into the cotton business," he said, "has driven out hundreds of cotton merchants. These handled and distributed cotton as efficiently as the co-operative associations and, it is claimed, at lower cost. The association advanced farmers 90 per cent of the value of the cotton, let them have the profit if the market advanced, and absorbed the losses if the market declined. How can private business compete against such a system?"

Numerous Witnesses.

Harry R. Gould, president of the Spot Cotton Merchants association of New Orleans; Joseph Airy, cotton merchant; Charles W. Wells, cotton broker, and Ben J. Williams, cotton exporter, made similar statements. Texas witnesses also criticized the farm board.

N. S. Von Phul, president of the Scobey Fireproof Storage company of San Antonio, Tex., said the farm board had loaned $180,000 to the Poultry Producers association of San Antonio in September, 1930, to buy an "obsolete cold storage plant worth no more than $125,000," when there were ample private facilities in San Antonio. He said the membership rolls of the association had been padded to get the loan and that the association had to borrow money to pay interest on its loan.

CHICAGO-TOLEDO CANAL PROPOSED, SAVING 610 MILES

The suggestion that a ship canal be constructed between Toledo and the southern end of Lake Michigan, reducing the water haul between Chicago and the Atlantic over the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway by 610 miles, was made in a letter to Mayor Cermak yesterday by T. C. Hughes, engineer for the city and regional plan commission of Tulsa, Okla. Mr. Hughes estimated the cost of such a canal at $550,000,000. Corporation Counsel Sexton replied, stating that any action by the Chicago city government upon such a proposal would have to await the return of Mayor Cermak from Europe.

Infantile Paralysis Delays Start Philadelphia Schools

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—This city's public schools, which were to have opened next week, may not begin classes until about Oct. 1 on account of infantile paralysis, it was announced today. Twenty-nine new cases were reported over the week-end, bringing the total to 331 for this year, compared with 887 cases in 1916, the epidemic year.

YANKEES WHIP SOX, 10-3, 4-3; NEAR PENNANT

OFFICIALS DON'T DO RIGHT BY OUR BABE DIDRIKSON

That's What Friends in Dallas Say.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 29.—As though Babe Didrikson had not won medals and glory enough in the Olympic games and the Women's National A. A. U. meet which preceded them, some of Miss Didrikson's friends in Dallas, where she resides, complain that she would have done better if she had been given a square deal.

BABE DIDRIKSON.

Need it be brought to mind that the Babe is the young woman who can throw a baseball, spear, 8 pound shot, or standard building brick farther than any other female in any land, can hop higher and farther, free style, than any one else of her gender, can hit a golf ball 250 yards, box, wrestle, sing, sew, scrub, wash dishes, and cook?

She has other accomplishments in the athletic line, but it will save time and trouble merely to name any event and take for your answer yes, she can do that, too, and probably do it better than any other girl.

She's a Pioneer Champion.

It might be remembered, though, as a balance against hysteria over this superathlete, that girls are comparatively new to the more violent sports on her list, having until very recent years, restricted themselves to tennis, golf, swimming, hopscotch, Maypole dancing, and jacks. Therefore, the Babe is an early champion and pioneer record holder in most of the events at which she now excels and, if competition becomes more general, some day will see all her records defeated by new girls.

At present, though, she is the all around champion. She is champion of a very small and generally indifferent field, for the competition among the girls, however grim it may be in the personal sense, is not as keen as it has been among the men for many years. Records will fall in every women's meet for years until they approach their ceiling, as the men's records have, and the quarter inches and tenths of seconds begin to beat them back.

Likes 'Em All Gold.

The Babe herself is not inclined to squawk unduly. Like most athletes, she is fond of her medals and her victories and is annoyed by defeat, but when she was relegated to second place in the Olympic high jump by a questionable interpretation of her form, which was adjudged to be a dive, not a true jump, she only remarked that this ruling had marred her collection of medals.

"They were all gold, for first, up to now," the Babe said, "the medal for second in the high jump is the first silver one."

The Babe said nothing at all about any mistreatment suffered at the hands of the A. A. U., but now comes a very indignant complaint from a fellow-citizen of Dallas, who says:

"Some time before the national championships at Evanston, Ill., the Babe filed her entry for the eight events. She had been advised that the meet would be run off in two days. Then, at the last minute, a direct hindrance to her, they decided to hold all preliminaries and finals in one day. This was still all right with the Babe.

More Trouble in Chicago.

"When she reached Chicago with her chaperon, Mrs. Henry Wood of Dallas, she found herself facing a concerted attack by A. A. U. officials, including one who was interested in a Chicago team of girls and was doing his utmost to keep his team from being defeated. He insisted that the Babe limit herself to two events. Another official created a scene, harrassed the girl, and attempted to throw scares into her. He told her she would not do well in the javelin because he had girls who had been doing 150 feet in practice and said he intended to start the high jump at five feet three, which was approximately the world record at the time.

"The day before the meet an A. A. U. official offered to drive by the Babe's hotel next day and drive her and Mrs. Wood to Evanston for the meet. He did not show up and it was only after a hurried run for a taxi and a wild race to Evanston that the Babe reached the place in time to participate.

"Then they ganged events on her to keep her from a making a clean sweep and in spite of it all she won five firsts, tied for another first and finished fourth in another event out of eight to win the team championship single-handed. No man or woman ever had done this before.

"She won the javelin at 162 feet. Then, suddenly, the official who was so interested in the Chicago team ordered the event done over because the Babe had fouled. But if she had fouled, why penalize the other girls? Why not just disqualify her? Why sap her strength and energy for later events? But she won, nevertheless.

HOME AGAIN.

FRIEND ARCH: Well, Arch, I'm home again after having been away for four weeks on R. H. L.'s vacation, so to speak. So I came down bright and early to do a full day's work for you and went to my desk, which smiled at me rather pleasantly as if it had been abused and underfed in my absence.

There on the desk, apparently so placed to command attention, was a pencilled notation "Call Miss ——, Sunnyside ——," and "Miss ——, Sheldrake ——." Being a married man with two daughters, I do not, as you know, keep any personal telephone numbers. So when there is any notation to call up any one, I know Jimmy or Chuck has placed it there, and that it is some contributor, or friend, or some one who has made a hole in one.

So I called the Sunnyside number and asked, "Do you want Mr. Wake?" A rich soprano voice answered, "I do not," rather more emphatically than I thought was necessary. "Then why did you ask me to call you?" I said. The soprano replied, "I did not," and bang went the receiver.

This was disconcerting, but I tried the Sheldrake number and again asked, "Do you want Mr. Wake?" This time a contralto voice answered, "I should say not." This sort of nettled me, so I said, "Well, please don't get huffy about it. I found your telephone number on my desk." This is what I then listened to: "Well, of all the nerve. Just because I assisted in THE TRIBUNE'S Chicagoland Musical Festival do I have to be insulted by some fresh young punk? I know you and I'm going to call up your wife right away and tell her you tried to make a date with me."

Well, Arch, a great light was beginning to dawn. You see, Phil and his corps of associates used my desk and my typewriter for the promotion work on the music festival and I suppose those phone numbers were left there with other débris which I hope they'll take away soon.

Now, of course, I hadn't tried to make a date with this contralto. Why, I never had a date with a contralto in my whole life. Still, I thought I might as well phone home, anyway, so I did and said, "Did any female person phone about me?" And Mrs. Wake said, "No, were you expecting a call from a lady?" And I said, "No, not exactly, but if one does call, it isn't me." "What isn't you?" asked Mrs. W. And I said, "Anything she says."

So I think perhaps I better go home to dinner instead of staying down as I had intended. I know everything's all right at home, but I just want to be sure. Only I wish Phil wouldn't leave phone numbers of temperamental artists on my desk any more.

So then I moved aside some of the festival aftermath and opened up the typewriter. Why, the poor thing looked at me so appealingly as if it longed for horses and pugilists and baseball players instead of notes. Running my fingers over the keys, horrors, it had gone base, or is it bass? But when I get the various spacing and shift key do-dads back to normal again it'll be all right.

Now that I'm here in sports harness again I suppose you will want me to catch up on what's been going on. Probably you'll want me to go out to the Cubs games to see that pennant drive, an dto go to Hawthorne pretty often to see how improvement of the breed of thoroughbreds is progressing. At last reports it still needed considerable improvement.

Another thing, we ought to be making out football assignment schedules pretty soon so we "experts" can reserve rooms. It's all right at Champaign because Miss Brown, who has been at the hotel nearly as long as Bob Zuppke has been coaching, always digs up a room from somewhere. It's also all right at Ann Arbor, where Paul Buckley usually finds a small room for me in the Union so I won't come to live at his house.

And, of course, Windsor, across the river from Detroit, is within easy motoring distance, only Windsor has very great advantages which are not advantages for hard working reporters. It's also O. K. at Columbus, where "Saint"—You know St. John—fixes you up with a guest card at the comfortable Columbus A. C.

Now about the world series between Cubs and Yankees. Just call on me for anything you want. With Vaughan, Burns, and Pegler, I shouldn't think you'd want me to go to New York for the games there, and that's quite all right with me. You can't talk to ball players like you can to horses at Louisville just before the Derby. Horses are so much more affable. Well, "ll be seeing you tomorrow. Regards,

HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

First Since Legalizing of Sport in State.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Tommy Tickle, a 24 to 1 shot, and Battle Ax, the favorite at 3 to 1, ran a dead heat yesterday in the eighth race at Hawthorne. It was the first finish of this kind on an Illinois race track since racing was legalized.

As the horses entered the stretch Tommy Tickle was in front by a neck and G. Woolf on Battle Ax started to apply the whip. Battle Ax bounded ahead, moving up on even terms. M. Lewis then urged Tommy Tickle into longer strides, but could not gain. Head and head they galloped down the stretch, neither weakening under the terrific grind.

Forty feet from the finish line, the crowd of 10,000 sensed a dead heat and cheered for the horses to continue their thrilling duel past the judges' stand. In a few more strides Tommy Tickle and Battle Ax had reached the end of the mile and an eighth race without an inch separating them.

Hang Out Both Numbers.

There was a delay in posting the order of finish. Finally the numbers of both horses were hung out, Tommy Tickle paying $20.02 to win and Battle Ax rewarding his backers with $4.02 straight.

All the money wagered on Tommy Tickle and Battle Ax to win was segregated and paid out proportionately on the number of tickets sold on each horse. But the place and show odds were not altered by the dead heat. Tommy Tickle paid $18.88 to place and $8.48 to show. Battle Ax was at $4.34 to place and $3.00 to show.

He's Weary Willie Now.

Folks who had wagered on Switch were in a joyous mood at the incident. Those who backed Reproof from 6 to 1 down to 3 to 1 were enraged and they shouted "Weary Willie" at the little jockey when he came back to unsaddle.

The stewards were incensed and ordered Jockey Todd to bed for four days. Not exactly to bed, but they suspended him for the remainder of the meeting.

Seldom has a horse rolled up such an enormous lead as Reproof did in the early part of the 6½ furlong dash over the slow Hawthorne track. It was going that Reproof reveled in and at every stride during the early stages he pulled away from those who were trying to run him down. On the turn he was five lengths in front. A little later he was a half dozen lengths in the van.

Then came the sleepy ride of Jockey Todd. Switch was the winner. Reproof saved second money and Verity Ballot was third. Switch paid $10.26 to the two dollar investors.

It's a Claiming Race Program.

The slow track conditions changed the Hawthorne racing program into an almost solid claiming race offering. The one exception was the Kickapoo purse at six furlongs. This battle engaged some of the leading juveniles in this section.

Hope to Do, a brown son of Black Toney, carried Admiral Cary T. Grayson's silks to victory in it. He was in front all the way and after a little urging on the part of Jockey M. Lewis in the stretch drive he pulled out and won by five and a half lengths from Isaiah, which just beat Ted Clark out of second money.

Hope to Do has been running brilliantly at Hawthorne throughout the season and was heavily backed. He was the third straight favorite to win and in the betting paid $5.96. The track was slow and his time was 1:17.

GOLF PROS OPEN TITLE TOURNEY IN ST. PAUL TODAY

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Tom Creavy, the 21 year old ex-caddy from Albany, N. Y., who gave the nation's leading pros the biggest shock of 1931, will be idle tomorrow when the 36 hole qualifying round of the 16th annual Professional Golfers' association tournament opens over the Keller course, but every first rate professional in the country, with the exception of Gene Sarazen, will be quite busy.

Creavy, who defeated Denny Shute of Hudson, O., in the championship match at Providence, R. I., last year, was virtually unknown at the time. He is exempt from the 36 hole trial tomorrow, in which thirty-two will qualify for the match play bracket opening Wednesday and continuing through Saturday.

Faces Formidable Field.

When Tom does start play Wednesday, it will be against as talented a field as that which he surprised at Providence. There will be Walter Hagen, who has held the title five times, four of them in succession; Tommy Armour, who won from Sarazen in 1930; Harry Cooper, who has already demonstrated that he has found his game again by winning the Canadian open and Illinois state championships; Horton Smith, only three years older than Creavy, who has now recovered from a broken wrist; Jock Hutchison, the Chicago veteran who held the title in 1920; Frank Walsh of Chicago, runnerup to Cooper for the Illinois title, and the big brothers, Dutra, Olin, and Mortie, from California.

Sarazen Loses Chance.

One of the tragedies of the year in golf will be the absence of the stocky Sarazen, who won the pro championship in 1922, the year he first came into prominence, and then defended it successfully the following year. Gene, who made himself the greatest golfer in the game earlier in the year by winning both the British and American open crowns, was offered exemption from the sectional qualifying trials for tomorrow's tournament. He refused and insisted upon qualifying in his local district. He was off his game that day, and failed by a stroke to win a place.

Series Play Is Old Stuff to Yankees

New York, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The other combatants may cross their fingers, and insist it's too early to talk about the world series, but as far as the rest of the baseball world is concerned, the Cubs and Yankees are going to play seven games or less this fall for the world championship.

So it's particularly interesting to note that the Yankees, led by that veteran of title play, Babe Ruth, will carry into the series just about double the experience of the National league champions.

Over his record career, Ruth, going as strongly today on his shaky legs as he did in his youth, has played in nine world series, a mark no other player in history can challenge.

His personal contribution toward the thing that counts most when the pressure is tightest—experience—lifts the total to 27 years of world series play, excluding Manager Joe McCarthy and his right hand man, Coach Jimmy [Sunset] Burke, whose mental efforts failed to lift the Cubs above a single victory over the Athletics in the 1929 classic.

The Cubs, with only Kiki Cuyler, old Burleigh Grimes, and Mark Koenig boasting more than a single year of world series experience, can total only 15 years of play in baseball's annual climax.

Of these Grimes and Koenig played in six on alien fields while Cuyler, in three world series, played one in Pittsburgh in 1925, saw another from the Pirate bench in 1927, and competed again for the Cubs in the 1929 series with the Athletics. Koenig's world series experience was gathered as a member of the Yankees' infield in 1926, 1927, and 1928.

The remainder of the Cubs' veterans, Manager Charley Grimm, Riggs Stephenson, Gabby Hartnett, and Pitchers Guy Bush, Charley Root, and Pat Malone, saw only one engagement, the disastrous 1929 series. Of the pitchers Bush alone pitched a winning game, and only Koenig in the rival league; Grimes with the Cardinals last fall, and Cuyler with the Pirates in 1925 have played with world champions.

The Yanks have an abundance of triumphant campaigners. Joe Sewell and Ruth played on championship clubs before coming to the Yankees, while Herb Pennock, with the A.'s in

Cubs Go After 11th in Row Today; Root Faces Giants

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs spent their day off yesterday reflecting on the soothing qualities of rest. Their thoughts on the subject turned to speculation as to an early clinching of the pennant so there can be a heap of resting before the world series opens at the Yankee stadium on Sept. 28. The Cubs resume their series with the Giants today at Wrigley field.

The Chicagoans are well satisfied with their present lead of eight games as far as it has to do with the actual grabbing of the pennant, but if that lead is shaved by one game the Cubs will have to go up to the final week before they have a mathematical cinch. And there can be no real resting until the pennant is absolutely locked up.

Seems Soft for Yankees.

The Yankees increased their lead to 11½ games yesterday by pushing over the White Sox a couple of more times. Their remaining schedule is no more inviting than that of the Cubs except that the Yanks still have some more games with the White Sox and the Red Sox. The Cubs are looking forward to nothing as soft as that.

Because of the runaway character of all American league races in recent years the American league team always has been able to enter the world series refreshed. In contrast, until last year, the National leaguers in recent years have entered the world series suffering from the fatigue of a severe late pennant drive. Last year, you'll remember, the Cardinals ran away with the National league and were as well rested as the A's. The Cards won the world championship.

They Shy at Phils' Park.

Having all these things in mind the Cubs would like very much to clinch the pennant before they go into the Philadelphia band box for the last three games of their impending eastern trip. Playing games that mean something against the Phillies in their quaint little establishment is about the most tiring and nerve wracking experience a player, especially a pitcher, can experience, the athletes say.

It would be nice, the Cubs figure, to let the Phillies bounce baseballs off their trick right field fence. They would try to do likewise, for the purposes of the batting records and next year's contracts, but it would be in the nature of frolicsome batting practice with no strain on the nervous or muscular system.

No announcement has been made, but once the pennant is packed away Manager Grimm probably will permit Marvin Gudat to do a little first basing, Bill Jurges to play third in behalf of Capt. English, and certainly Frank Demaree will range the terrain which Riggs Stephenson has patrolled so efficiently all season.

Pitchers Want to Go On.

Of course the first stringers won't retire completely. They will have to keep in shape with daily workouts and probably will appear for several innings in each game. No one on the team is shooting at any batting records, and this will make the rest era easy to take. The pitchers, who are signed on their records of the preceding year, probably will want to stay at it up till the closing day, but this is a matter which will be controlled by Manager Grimm. It is probable, of course, that Lon Warneke will want to keep bearing down to see how much he can top the mark of 20 wins, but none of the other pitchers will have any concern except preparation for world series labor.

When the Cubs resume their series with the New York Giants this afternoon, Charley Root will take care of the Chicago pitching interests and will be opposed by the ace of the Giant staff, Carl Hubbell. If the Cubs can win today it will be eleven straight, to break the 1932 major league high run record set by the Yankees at ten.

Defer Thursday Game.

The Giants will say farewell to Wrigley field tomorrow and will be followed by the Cardinals, who wind up the great home stay of the Cubs with a four game series. Warneke will go after victory No. 20 in tomorrow's entertainment.

The Cubs and Cardinals will play a double header Saturday, the extra game having been moved over from Thursday. The extra contest was carried over from the first half of the season and had been slated to fill in a gap in the schedule on Sept. 1. The second setting of the postponed game was made by President William Veeck with the consent of the Cardinals.

RUFFING, GOMEZ TEST ARMS FOR WORLD SERIES

New Yorkers Lead by 11½ Games.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 29.—The two Yankee aces, Messrs. Vernon Gomez and Charley Ruffing, whom the Cubs will have the privilege of seeing eventually, conspired today in a little act entitled "Making it tougher for the White Sox." First the left handed Gomez whipped the woebegone Chicagoans, 10 to 3, for his 22d triumph of the year. Then Ruffing rounded out the day's double header before 15,000 by attaining his 18th victory, 4 to 3.

Now the Yanks are leading by 11½ games, and with the pennant practically secure, are shooting for a season's mark of 100 victories. They'll give the plan its first trial against the Sox tomorrow.

Sox Do Some Hitting.

About the only pleasure the Sox had from their day's work was in the compiling of more base hits than the two New York pitchers are in the habit of yielding. They bothered Gomez considerably, but not after he was given the protection of a six run sixth inning which sent Sam Jones to the showers. And against Ruffing the Sox totaled 13 safeties, four by Carey Sala, and one a homer by Red Kress, but the big right hander was always good enough to stay in front after his pals had started their run getting with two off Bill Chamberlain in the second inning.

FIRST GAME

The Sox had a one run lead for a few minutes in the third. Kress straightened out one of Gomez's foolers and bounced a triple off the center field fence. Kress had to stand on third while the next two batters popped out, but Funk saved the situation with a single which scored Red.

This slim advantage lasted until Lary doubled in the home third and scored on Combs' single. And there might have been more if Kress had not plucked Sewell's drive off the fence in right.

Gehrig doubled to right to start the fourth and scored on Lazzeri's short single and a double play. The Sox melted this advantage down into a 2 to 2 tie in the fifth. Kress doubled with two gone and scored on Grube's twisting single through short. They gave Gomez a few more annoying moments in the sixth and picked up a one run lead. Funk walked, moved along on Hayes' out, and dashed home on Seeds' hit to left. Then the struggle fell apart with a large bang.

Yankees Break Loose.

The six runs in the Yanks' sixth began to form when Appling fumbled Ruth's pop behind third. Gehrig scratched a hit to Hayes. They moved up on Lazzeri's sacrifice. A pass to Dickey filled the bases. Chapman fouled to Selph. Lary tried to pull away from a bad ball and accidentally singled to right, scoring Ruth and Gehrig. Dickey scored on a single by Gomez. Combs dropped a double in left to score Lary. Gomez and Combs went home on Sewell's single, and out went Jones. Gallivan stopped this assault, but the Yanks thumped him freely in the seventh and eighth.

SECOND GAME

The Yanks held off until the second inning of the evening argument before getting on a scoring basis. Chamberlain passed Gehrig, and Lazzeri rolled out to Sullivan. Dickey bounced a double off Hayes' wrist, Gehrig scoring. Chapman singled to center, scoring Dickey. Chapman then tried to steal second, but without success. It was well that his attempt turned out that way, because Lary followed with a triple. Ruffing ended the inning with a pop to Sullivan.

The only other run registered during Chamberlain's regime happened across in the fourth. Lazzeri walked and Dickey forced him. Chapman shot

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—The extreme outsider at 25 to 1 in an eight horse field, J. A. Coburn's Eva B, won the 30th running of the Kentucky claiming stakes, feature here today. There was interference several times from the head of the stretch to the wire and there was a delay of more than 10 minutes after the finish while the stewards deliberated a claim of foul.

Track Is Slow.

They disqualified Joseph E. Widener's Hastipast, which finished a half length back of John J. Robinson's Manya. That filly was beaten a length and a half by Eva B. After the disqualification of Hastipast, the Greentree stables Teaberry, 15 to 1, and next to the outsider in the betting, was moved into third place.

The track was slow from the rains of the weekend, and this may have contributed to the poor showing of the favorite, Mrs. George M. Seglin's Cutie Face, and other well played starters. Cutie Face was played down to 9 to 5 and was well up in the early stages but she eventually brought up back of Teaberry. All six favorites were beaten.

Owner Collects $4,050.

Eva B had been defeated several times in company much more humble than that today, which had an important bearing on her backing. The price against her went up from 15 to 1 to 25 to 1 but that did not prevent her from being a handy winner of the purse of $4,050. Sidney Renick was in the saddle.

Name Aurora Officials for 13 Day Meet

Rumors that there would be no conflict between the Aurora and Lincoln Fields autumn meetings were brushed aside yesterday when Ed Carruthers, general manager of the Aurora track, announced the list of officials for the 13 day Aurora season, which opens Saturday. They are: Sam Nuckols, presiding steward; John Carey, placing judge and clerk of the scales; Sidney Brown, paddock judge and entry clerk; A. J. Hefferman, patrol judge; Charles McLennan, racing secretary and placing judge; and George Palmer, starter.

Nuckols, a former steward in Kentucky, succeeds Martin Nathanson, who is a steward at Lincoln Fields. Palmer, a starter on many Canadian tracks, replaces Harry Morrisey, who dispatches the horses at Lincoln Fields.

A swift band of sprinters will mix in the Garden City handicap at Hawthorne this afternoon. My Dandy, Fairbypair, Supreme Sweet, Siskin, Brown Wisdom, and Pancho Lopez are in the field. The track was drying rapidly late yesterday and should be fast today.

Counterfeit admission tickets for the Hawthorne track have appeared. Approximately 200 of them were found in the ticket boxes after Saturday's racing. The Hawthorne detective force headed by John McFarland is at work on the case.

Sixty horses reached the Lincoln Fields track from Latonia yesterday. The shipment included the big western division of the Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney stable in charge of Trainer Mose Goldblatt and a score of horses in the care of Trainer Roscoe Goose.

The sale of the Fair Grounds track in New Orleans by Col. Edward R. Bradley to a syndicate of 30 sportsmen headed by Joseph A. Murphy of Chicago, was officially announced yesterday. The actual transfer of the property will take place within the next few days. A large number of Chicagoans are members of the syndicate and some of them may assist in the management of the track.

Hayworth Must Be Slipping; He Makes an Error

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 29.—(AP)—When Catcher Ray Hayworth of the Detroit Tigers dropped a third strike in the fifth inning of the second game of a double header in Philadelphia today, he ended a perfect fielding record which dated back to Sept. 2, 1931, and which is without an equal in the major leagues, so far as the record books disclose.

Excluding the game in St. Louis, in which he made his previous error, Hayworth had accepted 489 chances in an even 100 games without a flaw. He participated in five games during the last weeks of the 1931 season after Sept. 2 and in 95 this season.

The previous catcher's fielding record was made by Johnny Bassler, also of the Tigers, in 1926, when he played errorless ball for 53 games.

The dropped third strike today let Jimmy Foxx reach first and permitted Al Simmons to score.

Indians Split DoubleHeader with Tigers

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Detroit and the Athletics halved a double header today, the A's winning the first game, 3 to 2, with a six run rally in the eighth inning, and the Tigers capturing the second contest, 10 to 7, by breaking a tie with three runs in the ninth.

Detroit led the Macks 3 to 0 in the seventh inning of the opener when Eric McNair walloped a home run with Foxx on base. Then came the big parade in the eighth, giving the Athletics an impregnable lead and George Earnshaw his 17th victory of the season.

The Athletics tied up the second game in the eighth inning, but Detroit came through in the ninth with two doubles, a single, a pass and a squeeze play to gain the triumph. George Rogell hit a home run in this game. Scores:

Voigt Breaks Par in Drill for Cup Play

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Every member of the American Walker cup golf team today reported at the Brookline Country club, scene of the international matches with the British on Thursday and Friday, and all except two managed to get in impressive practice rounds.

Capt. Francis Ouimet, stricken with a heavy cold last week, felt strong enough to follow a foursome for a few holes. His physicians did not decide he was fit to go outdoors until late in the afternoon.

Johnston's Ankle Improves.

The national champion was accompanied by Harrison R. [Jimmy] Johnston of St. Paul, who arrived here suffering from a twisted ankle. He explained he received the injury while playing tennis Saturday. It did not appear to give him much trouble and made his prediction, "I'll be in shape to play Thursday," sound convincing.

Gus Moreland, new western champion, tried the course for the first time and got a 76, an exceptional performance for one making his maiden round on such a well trapped course. Hilly Howell of Richmond misjudged most of his approach shots and finished with an 81, ten over par. Maurice McCarthy, George Dunlap Jr., Charlie Seaver, and Jack Westland went over the course at least twice during the day.

Britons Also Prepare.

Capt. Tony Torrance and Leonard Crawley, last year's British champion, spent most of their time on the links practicing for the Scotch foursome play. Most of the other invaders, including John Burke, Irish champion, and John De Forest, present English titlist, worked out on the practice tee and green.

DIXON WINS, 2 UP, IN CADDY FINAL AT EVERGREEN

Walter Dixon defeated C. MacDonald, 2 up, in the championship flight final of the Evergreen Golf club's caddy tournament yesterday. Dixon, captain of the Evergreen team which won the caddies' championship of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association, had a medal card of 78, seven over par, while MacDonald, also a member of the title winning team, shot an 80.

A field of 104 competed in the tournament, the matches being at nine holes with the exception of the finals, which were over the full distance. A battle of brothers featured the class B final, in which Joe Mackey defeated his brother, Bud, 3 and 1. Jim Fagan was the class C winner, defeating Bill Long, 2 up.

and her chaperon again and they had to engage in a heated argument before he allowed her to take away the team trophy. Finally, they deprived her of first place in the broad jump, giving the victory to another girl. But the points for first place were awarded to the Babe. How do they do that?

That Los Angeles Mixup.

"Then, in Los Angeles, an official of the A. A. U. continued the harrassment of Miss Didrikson. She had thrown the discus over 140 feet repeatedly in practice. He refused to let her enter this event. It was won at 133 feet 2 inches. To cap the climax, there came that queer decision that kept her from winning the high jump. Some officials were planning a barnstorming tour for the girls. The Babe was stealing the show and was the best drawing card, but two days before the Olympic high jump she refused to join the post-Olympic tour. On the day of the jump, an official again asked the Babe to join the tour and when she finally refused he threw a railroad ticket down in front of her, and, with insulting words, told her to check out of the team's hotel before breakfast next morning."

Life in Chicago and Los Angeles thus would have been just one rousing round of insults for the Babe. That strikes me as the weakest count in the indictment, which is signed by Pat H. McCray of Dallas. There are some conniving officials wearing badges of the A. A. U. who have been capable of all the other offenses alleged. She may have been deceived, tricked and discriminated against as charged.

Insult Her? Watch Out!

But that she was insulted I hesitate to believe, knowing the Babe and having interviewed the official. He was a windy, pompous and self-important official of a familiar but, it is only fair to say, not very numerous type. But the Babe once hit Willie Stribling's younger brother, Herby, a smash on the nose and squashed it in an exhibition sparring bout, and if any official had insulted her she would have been quick to knock his ears down. As the official was not wearing his ears in splints, I feel sure he did not insult Babe Didrikson much.

Babe Own Boss

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—Although still a minor, Mildred [Babe] Didrikson, Olympic champion, can sign contracts and handle other legal affairs, the court ruled today. Miss Didrikson is 19 years old.

Ole Didrikson, Beaumont, Tex., her father, told the court that he was willing to have the court issue the order. Col. A. J. McCombs, Miss Didrikson's coach, said she does not plan to enter the professional ranks.

Damen Takes Daily Fee Golf Title, 5 and 4

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The first annual championship of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association is the property of the Glenbard Golf club for the ensuing year, due to the efforts of 24 year old Red Damen, who defeated Chase Heaton of Our Country club, 5 and 4, in the 18 hole final match yesterday afternoon at Mid-City.

The final was an anti-climax to the semi-final matches in the morning, in which both Damen and Heaton scored upsets in defeating two veterans of Chicago's national public links teams. Damen disposed of Einar Pedersen of Vernon, 3 and 2, while Heaton was a 4 and 3 victor over Gus Fetz, also of Vernon.

Rain Forces Change.

The semi-finals and finals of the tournament, which undoubtedly will become a fixture on the local tournament schedule, considering the representative entry, were scheduled for Sunday, but were postponed until yesterday on account of rain.

FINALS.
Damen—Out	534	353	443—34

Damen Wins on 14th.

The lead in the Damen-Heaton match was in doubt through the first nine, for Heaton kept chopping down Damen's original lead of 2 up at the second hole until the 9th, when Red went 3 up with a par 3. He won the 10th and the 11th by following the card, but Heaton rallied with a deuce on the 12th. They halved the 13th in par fours, and Damen won the 14th and the match when Heaton took a 4, one over par.

AMATEUR-PRO BOXING HEARING TO BE TUESDAY

The Illinois athletic commission yesterday set next Tuesday for the first of a series of hearings to determine whether approximately 2,500 amateur boxers in the state are really professionals and have accepted money for fighting. Oscar E. Carlstrom, attorney general, has informed Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the state commission that he is conducting the amateur investigation under lawful procedure and has full authority.

BAER, SCHAAF AGREE; PREDICT K. O. VICTORIES

Wind Up Training for Battle Tomorrow.

Ernie Schaaf and Max Baer, heavyweight challengers, plan only a brief workout today as the windup to training for their battle tomorrow night at the Chicago Stadium.

From Trafton's gym, Schaaf's headquarters, came the announcement that Ernie would enter the ring at about 210 pounds. At the Aurora race track where Baer has been going through his training paces for the last two weeks, Manager Ancil Hoffman said Max's poundage would be the same figure.

Schaaf concluded his boxing yesterday, while Baer packed away his sparring gloves after his workout on Sunday. Max will remain in Aurora tonight and will motor to Chicago tomorrow in time to weigh in at the boxing commission office.

Sing Knockout Chorus.

It is old stuff to quote each fighter before an important battle as declaring that they will win on knockouts, but that's just exactly what this pair of young giants say. Baer asserts that in their previous fight two years ago in New York he tapped Schaaf on the button several times and had him wobbly. Schaaf takes the viewpoint that he has improved greatly since their last meeting.

Physically, Schaaf and Baer are on a par, while their recent records show that both are in top form. Both rank well up the heavyweight ladder and with Max Schmeling and Mickey Walker are the chief contenders for Jack Sharkey's crown.

Whether Sharkey will attend will be learned today. The champion, who owns a half interest in Schaaf, has never missed any of his important fights. Johnny Buckley, who with Sharkey manages Schaaf, will leave Boston today and arrive tomorrow at noon.

Even though Baer has hidden himself away at Aurora and is almost a stranger to Chicago, he will have plenty of rooters at the ringside.

Calmes Fights Kennedy.

Three 3 rounders and a 6 round opener comprise the balance of the card. Baxter Calmes, Chicago heavyweight, faces another test against Les Kennedy, the veteran from the coast.

Leading lightweights meet in the other two 3-round bouts, one of which will mark Tracy Cox's first start in the Stadium. This Indiana lad meets Prince Saunders, the west side colored boxer. Harry Dublinsky who recently gave Champion Tony Canzoneri a tough battle, meets Andy Callahan, from the Schaaf-Buckley-Sharkey stable. The opening six round bout features two Chicagoans, Jack King and Solly Dukelsky, meeting at 150 pounds.

CARNERA TO DROP SUIT IF MAX WILL BOX HERE OCT. 12

Primo Carnera, 265 pound Italian boxer, yesterday signed contracts in the offices of the Illinois athletic commission to fight Max Schmeling in Chicago, Oct. 12, for the Southtown Irish Athletic association. A covenant in the contracts is to the effect that Carnera will drop a $50,000 suit against Schmeling in the event that he agrees to the match here. Gen. John V. Clinnin, Illinois commission chairman, has notified Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, of Carnera's agreement. Primo left last night for St. Paul, where he boxes Art Laskey Thursday.

PRIMO CARNERA.

The Carnera suit emanated from an alleged verbal agreement Jacobs made with Bill Duffy, manager of Primo, to a Schmeling-Carnera match at New York last September. Following his bout with Young Stribling at Cleveland last July, Schmeling returned to Germany. From Berlin he notified those concerned with the Carnera-Schmeling match that his eyes were injured in the battle with Stribling and he would be unable to fight Carnera.

The drift of prices again was determined by the action of rail bonds.

Principal speculative bonds to feel today's moderate selling were issues of B. & O., Alleghany corporation, Rock Island, St. Paul, Frisco and other such issues, all of which have been sharply bid up on the recent advance.

United States governments also could make no headway, largely because September financing of the government is overshadowing the market, leaving buyers loath to make present commitments.

Trading in New York City traction bonds also simmered down, and price changes were little more interesting than in the rest of the corporation market. Issues of Interborough Rapid Transit were inclined to firmness, while bonds of Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit and Manhattan Railway edged off a bit lower.

Standard Brands.

Please give me a report on Standard Brands. On what dates are dividends paid?—J. W. H.

Standard Brands, Inc., was incorporated in 1929 to consolidate Fleischmann company, Royal Baking Powder company and E. W. Gillett Company, Ltd. The Fleischmann unit, incorporated in 1905, manufactures between 85 and 90 per cent of all the yeast produced in the United States. The company manufactures Chase & Sanborn coffee.

Net income since organization has shown a slight downward trend in comparison with consolidated earnings of predecessor companies. For the first half of 1932 net was $8,043,000, or 61 cents per common share, against net of $8,461,000, or 63 cents per common share, for the corresponding 1931 period.

Net income for 1931 was $15,067,000, or $1.12 per common share. This was after realized foreign exchange losses of $208,000 and inventory deductions of $1,100,000, but before reserves for possible foreign exchange losses of $525,000. For 1930 net income was $16,402,000, or $1.22 per common share, against net of $18,344,000, or $1.37 per common share, including predecessor companies, for 1929.

Sales for 1930 exceeded 1929 sales, but the necessary consolidation and development expenses incidental to the merger were responsible for the decline in net.

These expenses were not incurred in as great a degree in 1931, but smaller sales, smaller profit margins, inventory adjustments and foreign exchange adjustments cut into net income.

The company finished 1931 in a strong current position. Current assets were $38,518,000 and current liabilities were $4,019,000. Cash assets alone were more than $20,000,000.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 96,757 shares of $7 cumulative no par preferred and 12,581,113 shares of no par common.

The common pays 30 cents per quarter. Dividends are payable quarterly, Jan. 1, etc.

Sales of yeast and vinegar products constitute a backlog of stability, but because these two already dominate their markets it appears that increased sales will have to come from other products, such as coffee, mayonnaise, condiments, etc., whose markets are more highly competitive.

Most of the consolidation expenses have already been absorbed. The company has not yet had an opportunity to demonstrate its earning power as a consolidated unit under normal business conditions.

The preferred is high grade. The common is medium grade.

Gulf States Utilities.

Will you please give me an opinion on Gulf States Utilities 5s, due 1956?—E. B. H.

They are a business man's risk.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw, was quiet today and in absence of business, prices were unchanged to 3.18c for spots. The tone was steady, with refiners said to be ready to pay this price for sugar in position to suit, but offerings were light and generally held at 3.20c. Early advances in futures which seemed to reflect the continued steadiness of the spot market were followed by partial setbacks with the market closing 2 points higher for September and 1 point higher to 1 point lower for later deliveries. The day's turnover was 13,600 tons. Prices follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
September..	1.10	1.12	1.10	1.10	1.08
December .	1.15	1.16	1.16	1.16	1.15
January .	1.14	1.16	1.12	1.12	1.13
March	1.12	1.12	1.11	1.11	1.10
May	1.15	1.15	1.15	1.15	1.14
July	1.20	1.20	1.19	1.19	1.18

Refined sugar was unchanged. Withdrawals were fair but new business was light and supplied through resales. Fine granulated was quoted at 4.25c by refiners, with second hands at from 4.12½@4.15c.

RAW SILK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Raw silk futures closed barely steady; sales, 2,900 bales. September, $1.80@1.85; December, $1.80@1.85; March, $1.84. Open market quotations [sixty day basis]. Shanghai steam extra B, $1.55; Canton double extra A, 14-16s, $1.35; Japanese crack, double extra, $2.07.

REPORTS PICKUP IN SKYSCRAPER RENT SITUATION

Field Building Manager Sees Gain.

BY AL CHASE.

All the cheerful news in La Salle street isn't coming in over the ticker—some of it's actually breezing in through the offices of skyscraper managers. Robert Carpenter, who looks after the destinies of what will be Chicago's largest office structure, the new Field building, at La Salle and Adams, yesterday stated that the rental situation has taken a decided turn for the better. Frank M. Whiston, manager of the Conway building, also owned by the Marshall Field estate, also said that there has been a definite improvement in inquiries for office space in his property.

ROBERT CARPENTER.

"In the last ten days there's been a noticeable increase in inquiries for space in the Field building," said Mr. Carpenter, "and from much more substantial parties than formerly. The most reassuring and significant feature of this show of interest is that inquirers are willing to consider up to five year leases. A few weeks ago no one would think of signing up for more than a year ahead.

"In fact, up to June there were only two classes of prospective tenants inquiring for office space, those who were looking for bargains in offices given up by firms in trouble, that is 'distress space,' and those firms who were pulling in their horns and wanted smaller quarters.

Things More Cheerful.

"Now, things are different. High class concerns are optimistically planning for the future; willing to look five years ahead and take on space for that period. These same firms a few months ago could see nothing but gloom ahead and weren't willing to commit themselves for any space, no matter how small, for more than a year."

One well known La Salle street house signed a lease for space in the new Field building at the time when nearly every one on La Salle street believed the end of the world was just around the corner. Pessimism dictated that this famous old firm should rent just as little space as they could get by with. Now, with the outlook changed, they are considering taking on the additional space they would have rented without a thought in the bull market days of 1929.

Merchandise Mart Lease.

The third large lease completed in the past month, bringing into the Merchandise Mart three leading firms in their respective fields, has been signed by the Vogue Brassiere Manufacturing company of Newark, N. J. According to Mrs. Ethel F. Allen, manager of the Chicago office of the firm, who negotiated the lease, sales and display rooms and offices will be maintained and a stock of merchandise carried for middle western retailers.

Other leases recently closed for space in the Merchandise Mart include the Simmons company, a leading manufacturer of metal furniture and bedding, and the Belding-Hemingway-Corticelli Silk company.

VALUE OF NEW YORK BANK STOCKS BILLION OVER LOWS OF MAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 29.—The sensational advance in the New York City bank stock market, which started several weeks ago, was carried further last week, resulting in a new high record being established for the current year. The total value of these issues is now more than a billion dollars above the low levels touched last May, and the average yield is now under 6 per cent for the first time since last November.

The aggregate value of 18 leading issues at present is $1,976,851,900, according to records compiled by Holt, Rose & Troster, which total represents an advance of $284,711,000 for the week, establishing not only a new high record for the current year but also the highest recorded since the third week of November, 1931, when the aggregate value was slightly more than $3,000,000,000.

PRICES AGAIN MOVE FORWARD IN COMMODITIES

Millions Added to Market Values.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Commodity markets in the United States and throughout the world yesterday made price advances that added millions to values and cheered men in all lines of business.

The surging forward of prices came on a wave of buying that was based, apparently, on widespread belief that an upturn in trade is already under way.

Rubber, silk, cotton, wheat, cocoa, wool, and copper were bid up, some of them touching new highs for the year. There was spirited demand from trade interests and the speculative public alike.

Price of Silk Up.

Silk shot up 20 cents a pound and, for the first time since early this year, reached $2. Dispatches from Tokio stated that the silk exchanges in both Yokohama and Kobe had been closed soon after the opening yesterday because a rush of buyers with no sellers brought about fears of a technical corner. In New York profit taking caused a dip, but left the market up 8 to 10 cents a pound for the day.

Other textiles were buoyant, too. Cotton early forged $1.50 a bale ahead of Saturday's closing price under excited buying which advanced December options to 9.52 cents a pound and July, 1933, contracts touched 10 cents under buying orders inspired by reports of revival in the textile industry.

Substantial profit taking in the last hour and a half cut down the early gains and the market closed near the levels of Saturday's finish.

In New York there was such an accumulation of buying orders for both trade and speculative account over the week end that these were difficult to execute. More than 10,000 bales of October and 15,000 bales of December changed hands before the opening call was completed.

Wool Moves Up.

Wool enjoyed a sympathetic rise, the maximum advance being in the November option.

All over the world foodstuffs were in demand and prices were moving upward. Grains on the Chicago Board of Trade all advanced, wheat closing with gains of well over a cent for the day. In Liverpool wheat was up a penny a bushel in the broadest advance of the year.

The cocoa market was bid up to new highs with foreign and domestic buyers vying against each other. The volume of trading was exceptionally heavy.

Sugar futures, which already have had a prolonged rise, moved ahead about two points, but buying was light because of a deadlock in the market for spot sugar between buyers and sellers.

On the New York Rubber exchange frenzied buying and covering was reflected in the best price advance of the year. Quotations shot up from 50 to 67 points. There was both speculative buying and trade demand.

Excitement Over Rubber.

Rubber traders became greatly excited over reports that manufacturers had at last become worried about the rise and were getting into the market.

Copper again took the limelight among the metals. Copper exporters yesterday advanced the price of copper for foreign shipment to 5.65 cents per pound, up 5 points and a new high price for the current movement. Good buying for British, German, and French account was reported. Domestic copper was shoved up ⅛ of a cent to 5⅛ cents per pound.

U. S. Officials Deny Norman Asks New Pact

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—Washington officials today denied reports that Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, is in the United States to discuss the international war debt situation. Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills said he had been informed Mr. Norman had come to this country simply for a vaction. He stated that he had not seen Mr. Norman and so far as he knew would not confer with him on any international matters.

Undersecretary of State William R. Castle said that so far as he knew Mr. Norman was in this country for a holiday. He joined with Mr. Mills in stating that he did not believe Mr. Norman had any authority to discuss international war debt matters.

An indication of whether the larger powers intend to resume war debt payments in December will come during the next two weeks, as most of the debt settlement agreements provide that 90 days' notice must be given of an intention to ask for a postponement of any particular payment. Thus far, Mr. Mills said, no nations have filed notice of inability to pay.

Norman Back in Maine.

Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Sir Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, returned here today after a week-end visit in New York. At the summer home of Mrs. John Markoe, where he is a guest, it was said he would be here for several days.

Visits in New York.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 29.—An official explanation of the flying week-end visit to this city of Montagu Collet Norman, governor of the Bank of England, was given today by George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of New York.

Mr. Harrison talked after financial markets here and in Europe had been flooded with these rumors:

Harrison Explains Talk.

Mr. Norman interrupted his vacation at Bar Harbor, Me., where he is visiting an old friend, Mr. Harrison said, at the latter's invitation. There was no discussion between them of the war debts nor of a bond issue of any kind, he said, and no conference of bankers was held in connection with the visit. Mr. Harrison added that Mr. Norman reached New York early Saturday morning. Except for a visit to Gov. Harrison's office in the Federal Reserve bank that day and a brief sight-seeing tour which included a trip to the observation tower of the Empire State building on Sunday, Mr. Norman spent the entire visit in Mr. Harrison's town apartment, where, Mr. Harrison said, they discussed a wide range of general topics dealing with their work as the respective heads of the central banks of the two great money markets of the world.

How Bankers See It.

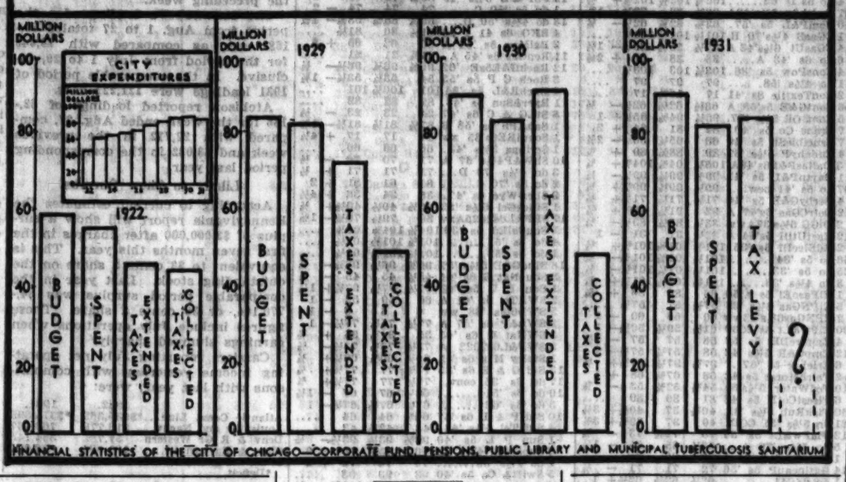
While the financial community here took little stock in the reports from England of a huge international bond issue to liquidate the war debts, the suggestion of joint action by the Bank of England and the Federal Reserve banks to restore the price level here and in England was viewed as a reasonable step, fully in accordance with the known policies of the two institutions.

Whether or not any definite plans for facilitating the rise in commodity prices were discussed by the two central banking chiefs on this occasion, it was pointed out in banking circles that the Federal Reserve banks and the Bank of England have independently been working in this direction for some time.

Deny Debt Mission.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Officials at the foreign office today disclaimed any knowledge of reports published in the United States that Montagu Norman, now in New York, is engaged in negotiations concerning war debts and tariffs.

Reason for Unpaid City Employes—Budget Increases While Tax Collections Remain Near 1922 Level



Auto Buying by Public May Turn the Tide

BY SCRUTATOR.

When recovery from the current depression gets fully under way it appears likely that goods falling in the semi-luxury category will show the sharpest upturn. The volume of necessitous commodities consumed shows relatively small variation during good times and bad.

About as much food and nearly as much clothing are used up. It is the disuse of other commodities that marks the depression cycle and their renewed use that signals the prosperous era.

There is considerable data to support the opinion that the automobile industry will be one of the chief beneficiaries from a return to more normal times.

Auto Essential or Luxury?

Whether the motor vehicle be classed as a necessity or a luxury or in between, the fact remains that its production has shrunk to greater degree than the output of necessities. In fact, for the first time in the history of the industry the abandonment of worn out cars exceeded replacements in 1931 and this situation has been even more pronounced this year.

The potential future demand for motor vehicles is shown in figures and analyses made by the magazine Steel. It is pointed out that from 1929 to 1931 production of automobiles and trucks declined 51 per cent, whereas consumption of gasoline increased 15 per cent. This indicates more intensive usage and speedier obsolescense. From 1926 to 1931 inclusive the increase in registration of motor vehicles in this country was 3,812,710, or from a total of 22,001,393 to 25,814,103. But in this six year period new car registrations totaled 19,712,569, indicating that 15,799,859 were junked or otherwise put out of commission.

Thus, replacements during these six years averaged 2,633,309 cars a year. However, in 1931 actual production was only 2,389,783 units, or the smallest number since 1921. Moreover, output for the first seven months of this year was only 1,024,239 units, a decline of 45 per cent from the corresponding period in 1931. On this basis it is figured that total production this year will be around 1,500,000 units, which would be the lowest mark since 1918.

Shortage of Cars Now.

"There is statistical warrant, therefore, for stating that despite an increase in the consumption of gasoline and an apparent broader use of automobiles," Steel says, "more units were taken out of commission in 1931 and will be in 1932 than were manufactured in those two years. As in steel, and partially responsible for it, a tremendous deficit in passenger cars and trucks has been piling up since 1929."

In support of this assertion a chart was prepared plotting the actual output of automobiles and trucks for the last 20 years and a trend line was drawn, adjusted for a declining rate of expansion in population. According to this line, normal production in 1930 would have been about 4,300,000 units, whereas actual output was only 3,356,806. In 1931 the "normal" would have been around 4,300,000 but production was only about 2,300,000. The "normal" for this year is figured around 4,400,000 compared with a probable output of only 1,500,000.

"The trend line discloses that that in 1930, 1931, and 1932 a deficit of about 5,750,000 units has accumulated," it is concluded. "This is a greater than the total production in the peak year of 1929, which was 5,360,000 cars and trucks. In other words, the automobile industry has before it about 13 consecutives months at the peak rate of 1929 to neutralize the deficit."

Details of Chart

The column labeled "budget" represent the total that the proper officials have authorized to be spent during the designated years. The second column shows the amount of money "spent." The third column is the actual amount of taxes assessed. That figure differs from the tax levies, in that "taxes extended" are the levies reduced within the limits permitted by law.

Taxes extended are the amounts which the county clerk "extends" on the tax warrants in actual assessments against the property owners. For 1931 the tax valuations have not yet been made, so that the extensions have not been made. The tax levy is presented instead.

Outsiders May Buy Up Stock Insull Pledged

It is now considered possible that outside interests may bid for the stocks of the Insull operating companies that the four New York banks propose to offer at public auction.

That auction, which is now being held up by an injunction of the federal District court here, was delayed yesterday by the banks until Wednesday. Unless the Circuit Court of Appeals gives a decision on the legality of the injunction in the interim, it is expected the sale will be postponed again.

Banks Oppose Delay.

Since the sale first was advertised last May it has been assumed that the four banks would bid in the collateral themselves. They opposed the injunction on the grounds that the collateral was sinking in value and should be sold to prevent further loss. Since the arguments were made the collateral has appreciated substantially and is now estimated to have a market value of $12,373,000. Earlier this year the collateral was worth only $6,303,000 as measured by market quotations.

Chicago Utilities Affected.

The collateral held by the New York banks consists of 50,981 shares of Commonwealth Edison, 77,516 shares of Peoples Gas Light and Coke, and 24,554 shares of Public Service of Northern Illinois. The collateral represents a part of the securities pledged by the two Insull investment trusts with the New York and Chicago banks. The four eastern banks which propose to sell the securities are the Central Hanover Bank and Trust company, Commercial National Bank and Trust, Chase National, and the Guaranty Trust company. Those banks had set a minimum price of $10,325,000 which is considerably below the present market value.

MILLIONS ASKED FROM KREUGER MATCH LEADERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 29.—Two suits against eight American directors of the International Match corporation for an accounting of $100,000,000 allegedly lost through negligence and for the recovery of $35,000,000 lost through the payment of dividends out of capital were authorized today by Oscar W. Ehrhorn, federal referee in bankruptcy.

The judgments demanded against each of the eight directors vary in amount according to the number of directors' meetings attended by them when dividends were declared. The eight defendants constitute a majority of the board of directors, it is stated.

Percy A. Rockefeller, $31,416,534.
Frederic W. Allen, $36,258,118.
Henry O. Havemeyer, $27,877,326.
Samuel F. Pryor, $28,697,326.
John McHugh, $34,377,326.
Francis L. Higginson, $21,073,168.
Donald Durant, $35,788,910.
Adrian H. Larkin, $34,595,742.

The summons and complaint, on file in the office of Referee Ehrhorn, charges that the directors allowed Ivar Kreuger to control and manage the finances of the International Match corporation despite the fact that the American public had invested $150,000,000 in it.

Cite Kreuger's Further Control.

The complaint also charges that while the International Match corporation was a holding corporation

New York, Aug. 29.—Stock prices closed irregularly lower today, after being held up through most of the day by the influence of higher commodity quotations. More than 3,800,000 shares were traded. At the day's top levels leading stocks showed gains. In the last hour, however, reaction set in, taking away most of the gains. Many of the leaders finished the day with fractional losses, but there were exceptions such as General Electric up 1⅝, Westinghouse up 1½, Anaconda up 1, Kennecott up 1. On the other hand, A. T. & T. closed at 116⅝, off ¼, and U. S. Steel tapered off ¾ to 48½ after earlier strength.

Copper Shares Advance.

Reflecting higher commodity prices, copper shares moved to new high ground, some of the leaders, including Kennecott, Anaconda and Smelters, setting new marks for the year.

Lower priced utilities were given special attention and one to two points were added to such issues as Electric Power, Foreign Power, Int. Telephone and United Corporation.

Rubber and tire shares were buoyant with that commodity. Chemicals improved moderately. Rails soon made up the losses felt at the opening. The railroad group was comparatively inactive. The usual score of preferred stock issues advanced from 3 to 10 points. The motor group was firm, but rather quiet. The two leading electrical manufacturers vied with the

A FAIR ASSUMPTION — all good stocks will eventually sell at higher prices as business conditions grow better.

Even more certain — the best American stocks will benefit most by returning prosperity.

Yet it is a question which of these to buy, for no one can predict the exact course, up or down, of any one particular stock.

$47,529,802 PAID Due in 1932

ON January 1 the companies in the Associated Gas and Electric System were faced with the necessity of paying during the current year $47,529,802 of maturing bank loans, bonds, and other obligations.

On August 15 the last of these obligations was met.

The two last steps were taken August 12 when the financing of the $7,500,000 Note issue of Staten Island Edison Corporation was completed, and on August 15 when the remainder of the $2,382,000 maturity of General Gas & Electric Corporation was met.

Wide Cooperation of Security Holders

Much of the credit for this accomplishment is due the 252,899 registered holders of Associated securities, who expressed their confidence in the System by making additional investments.

Unusual cooperation was accorded by Associated customers, of whom 116,882, or one in 12, are investors in Associated securities. During an offering in the spring, 22,279 of these customers subscribed to an issue of 8% Eight Year Gold Bonds of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, a subsidiary of the Associated Gas and Electric Company.

New Business Advance Under Way

An obstacle to continued growth is the unjustified criticism of public utility holding companies. These attacks tend to destroy confidence in their securities, and make it difficult to obtain new capital for growth. This criticism affects the interests of the holders of both their bonds and stocks.

Bonds are a safer security for those who cannot afford to take risks. A company's bonds are stronger, of course, if there is also a considerable investment in its stocks. Stocks should be purchased only by those who are able to take reasonable risks, for which the purchasers are entitled to a larger return on their investment. The public utility business, while "affected with the public interest," is now in nearly all phases highly competitive with other means for furnishing heat and power. This competition can be met successfully, however, if the managements are allowed to attract new business on fair terms, free from unreasonable or unnecessary political or governmental interference.

The Associated System is now engaged in intensive development of its electric, gas, and other services. An evidence of this is the recent organization of a business-building plan wherein all employees cooperate. With the impetus of improving business conditions, the System expects to go forward as confidently and as successfully as in the past.

INTEREST FOR THE LAKE SHORE TOWERS READY

Cash on Hand, Committee Announces.

Payment of interest due July 1, 1932, on the eighteen story cooperative Lake Shore Towers first mortgage bond issue has been arranged through the efforts of the committee for the protection of holders of bonds sold through the American Bond and Mortgage company, it was announced last night. Holders of bonds not deposited with the committee have been notified that funds for the payment of this interest are in the hands of the Chicago Title and Trust company, which as the Chicago depositary of the committee will also distribute interest due to depositors.

DAYTON KEITH. [Moffett Photo.]

The bond issue, of which $772,500 is outstanding, is secured by the cooperative apartment building at 3914-20 Lake Shore drive. It was called for deposit by the committee on July 1, 1932, when it was announced that negotiations for a reorganization providing that all of the income be used for the benefit of the bondholders were under way. These negotiations are still pending.

All Bonds Not In.

The committee's letter to bondholders points out that some of the bonds have not yet been deposited and that the deposit of these securities will be of material assistance in bringing about the reorganization.

The committee is headed by Craig B. Hazlewood and includes Frank W. Blair, Frederick G. Curry, H. K. Hallett, Dayton Keith, Joseph E. Otis, Walter J. Sugden and Charles W. Weston. George L. Wire is secretary.

Call Bonds Of 9 Issues.

Owners of bonds purchased through the Woodlawn Trust and Savings bank, in nine Chicago apartment buildings, have been notified by Martin C. Haedtler, secretary of the bondholders' Protective committee, that, owing to a default of interest, securities should be deposited so concerted action can be taken to protect the bondholders. The buildings are the Buena Vista, Garden Court, Hillcrest, King Booth, Malvern, Manhattan, Moeller, Midway Harper and Rutland apartments.

The committee is composed of Harvey C. Vernon, chairman; A. W. Tobias, P. C. Leffel, George W. Kemp, and J. A. Malooly. The group has its office at 1180 East 63d street, adjoining the safe deposit vaults in the bank building.

PUBLIC SERVICE LEADS TRADING IN MART HERE

Swift Issues Another Feature of Day.

Shares of Swift & Co., the big packing firm, sold off sharply on the Chicago exchange following the omission of the dividend, which was announced at the close of last week. The adverse dividend action came as an almost complete surprise to La Salle street, which had anticipated the authorization of the usual 25 cents disbursement.

Trading in Swift was the most active in months, with transactions reaching nearly 24,000 shares. On the opening trade in the morning the stock brought only $9.50 a share, down $4 from last weeks' final quotation.

After the first heavy transaction trading continued to be active throughout the day, with the price recovering a fraction to $10. The net loss for the day was $3.50. Shares of Swift International, an affiliated concern, were lower, closing off $1.75 at 22.

The price trend elsewhere in the stock list was erratic. Most of the active issues were reactionary, with motor accessory and radio shares closing off slightly from last week's prices.

Sharp advances in the common stocks of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois was an outstanding feature of the trading. On light turnover the no par and $100 par common stocks were bid up $10 each to $60, the best price reached in months. Both stocks showed net gains of $10. Because of the thin market in the stocks only moderate buying was sufficient to send prices soaring.

Walgreen, the star performer on the up side last week, was slightly lower yesterday on active trading.

GRAIN VALUES UP $75,000,000 ON NEW PRICES

Estimate Based on Five Leading Cereals.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Approximately 75 million dollars was added to the theoretical value of the five major grain crops as the result of a further increase in speculative buying yesterday. That buyers swept corn up 2c from Saturday's finish to the highest price since May 28 and the active futures of wheat and oats to the best figures since Aug. 11.

Corn, dormant for some months, became the favorite grain. With a rush of general commission house buying, partly for the country, the market never was halted until the December future sold up to 35¼c, and showed 4c above the low of last week. The latter advance was equal to 112 million dollars to the producer on the basis of a prospective new crop of 2 billion 800 million bu, while the upturn from the recent low added almost 80 million dollars more to the value of the other four crops.

Country Unloads Cash Corn.

Prospects that heavy feeding operations would be followed in the corn belt this fall and winter due to the ability of farmers to secure financial assistance from the agricultural credit corporations now in process of formation throughout the west had considerable to do with increasing the buying. The market was a big broad affair from the start and it gained momentum on the way up.

Fears that the country would sell cash corn on a big scale in case of an advance were realized, over 1 million bu being estimated as having been booked to arrive, but failed to check the upward swing and the close was at practically the top. Net gains were 1@1⅞c for the day. September showed the least gain, due to scattered liquidation, and closed at 32⅛@32¼c, while December was 35@35⅛c and May 39¾@39¾.

Speculative interest in corn of late has been relatively light, with the result that small orders either way had considerable influence. Yesterday's market, however, was regarded as an indication general interest had been attracted to the market.

Despite the big upturn in the last few days, corn prices are only slightly above the low point of the season. Under normal conditions little or no corn as grain is exported by the United States, so that corn is regarded as strictly a domestic affair. Unfavorable crop reports were received from various parts of the belt during the day.

Active Trade in Wheat.

Wheat again felt the effect of aggressive buying, and while the December sold off ½c early in sympathy with cotton and on profit taking, it advanced later to 58⅞c, with some stop loss orders uncovered on the way up. The finish was 1¼@1½c higher, with September 54⅝@54¾c, December, 58⅝@58¾c, and May, 63⅜@63½c. Winnipeg reversed its action of Saturday and led the advance, being up 2¼c at the last, with December at 59⅛c in Canadian funds, and was ⅞c over Chicago at the close, against ⅜c under on Saturday.

Evidence of a change in the general world's situation was seen by some observers yesterday, as foreigners came into the market as liberal buyers of Manitoba cash wheat and there was also a good business claimed in hard winters at the gulf. Total sales in all positions were estimated as high as 1,000,000 bu. Wet weather has curtailed the movement of new wheat in the Canadian northwest to some extent. Liverpool closed ¾@⅞c higher, with December at 58¼c, and reported that only Canada was pressing wheat for sale abroad.

Oats and rye followed the advance in other grains, but there was more general interest in the markets than for some time past. Oats gained ⅝@⅞c for the day, with September closing at 17⅝c, while December was 19⅞c and May 22⅜c. Rye was up ⅞@1⅛c, with September 33⅞c, December 36⅞c, and May 40⅞c.

Close Tokio Silk Markets After Violent Advance

TOKYO, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The Yokohama and Kobe silk exchanges were suspended after brief sessions today, during which prices rose violently and abnormally by nearly 100 yen per bale. This is currently about $22.60. The directors explained the closing was intended to check manipulation.

LARD MAKES SMALL GAINS

Traders in lard ignored the weakness and decline in the hog market and considered the advance in corn, cotton, and wheat an offsetting influence. A fair offering was well absorbed and the close on January and May was 5c higher, and September and October were unchanged for the day. Liverpool lard was 9d higher. Bellies were 2½c lower on futures, while cash prices were unchanged at $6.75. Export clearance of lard was 212,000 lbs and export of bacon 146,500 lbs on Saturday. Hog receipts at the west were heavier than a week ago, but only slightly less than last year. Prices follow:

PIGGLY WIGGLY SUES NATIONAL TEA FOR $1,135,000

In a suit filed in the United States District court here yesterday, the Piggly Wiggly corporation asked damages of more than $1,135,000 from the National Tea company, two subsidiary companies, and George Rassmussen, president of the companies, for alleged breach of contract, infringements of patents through the use of Piggly Wiggly patented store inventions, and the destruction of business good will.

The bill of complaint, according to an announcement by Albert H. Morrill, president of Piggly Wiggly, asks for treble damages on the ground that the corporation's rights have suffered "deliberate, wilful and persistent infringement" and asks that the defendants be restrained from using patented store inventions and business methods of the Piggly Wiggly system.

The suit charges that despite the termination of a contract with Piggly Wiggly, the National Tea company continued to make use of the Piggly Wiggly inventions and business methods. The suit was filed in behalf of the Piggly Wiggly corporation by Mr. Morrill, president of the corporation, which is 99 per cent owned by the Kroger Grocery and Baking company.

COTTON AT 10C LEVEL HIT BY PROFIT TAKING

Active buying of cotton futures by speculators, trade interests, and shorts, the aggregate volume of which has not been equalled in probably a year advanced cotton prices in Chicago and New York above the 10c level, the highest of the year and the best since June, 1931. Heavy selling to take profits brought a reaction and the establishing of small net losses for the day.

The recession was no more than the trade expectations considering the sensational upturn of late. Wall street was a big buyer at times, but the selling pressure toward the last carried prices to a close 5 to 16 points lower than Saturday. In New Orleans net losses were 1 to 8 points and in New York 3 to 7 points, the most distant deliveries suffering the greatest decline.

Spot cotton was unchanged at 9.20c, New Orleans dropped 5 points to 9c; Galveston was 9.5c, and Houston, 9.6c. Liverpool closed 32 to 34 points net nigh which reflected in the early advance in American markets. Crop news is bullish and textile trade news more favorable. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS EASY

Butter and egg futures eased ½c on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday. Statistical reports continued slightly boarish, the movement of butter last week in the ten markets increasing the surplus 2,000,000 lbs and reducing the egg shortage 16,000 cases. Buying has again turned cautious, at least for the time being. New selling and liquidation of long lines contributed to the pressure. Sales: butter, 35 cars; eggs, 43 cars. Deliveries: butter, 3 cars. Prices follow:

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 6,000; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 15,000.

Price trends were mixed and supplies unevenly distributed at the leading live stock markets yesterday. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were swelled to 40,000 by stock diverted from the "farmers' strike" area of the corn-belt.

This is the largest run since May 31 and it is largest for a Monday since April 18. While the Chicago run showed an increase of 42 per cent compared with a week ago and 31 per cent compared with a year ago, the aggregate total at the ten outside markets was smaller than a week ago and also smaller than a year ago.

Chicago Run Extra Large.

The local run comprised 44 per cent of the eleven market total yesterday. A week ago 33 per cent arrived at Chicago and a year ago 33 per cent sold here. Prices of hogs were unable to stand the pressure of receipts and a good deal of last week's gain was rubbed out in the 10@25c break. Only a small share of the run consisted of light spring pigs, the majority of offerings being packing sows and butchers from last fall's crop. All interests are aggressive after a 15@25c lower price basis had been established and clearance was thorough considering the size of offerings available at the opening. Only 5,000 remained in the pens. The three larger houses handled 22,000 head. The extreme top for sorted light hogs receded to $4.70 which compared with $4.65 Saturday when no load lots of top hogs were sold, and compared with a top of $5.00 last Friday. The general average dropped 15c more, going to $4.00. This price shows a 25c loss compared with last Friday, the high point of last week.

Cattle receipts at 18,000 were second largest of the year, but there was a scant supply of well finished medium weighty steers in the run. The latter held firm and some sold to slightly better advantage, while all other bovine stock ruled weak to 25c lower. Better action featured the trade than sellers had anticipated and the decline in plain quality offerings was not as severe as many had looked for. The pens were fairly well cleared of stock before the session ended. About 175 head reached the season's top of $10.00 soon after the start. Steers averaging in loads from 1250@1353 lbs. made that mark, large local houses and eastern interests dividing the $10.00 kinds. The bulk of steers sold for local slaughter at $7.00@9.25. The average market was not far from the high point of the year, despite yesterday's break. Butcher stock ruled weak to 25c lower. Stockers and feeders were in liberal supply and sold 15@25c lower.

Lambs Recover Losses.

Sheep receipts were light at all leading markets yesterday and prices responded in an uneven advance. Twenty-three carloads of range lambs sold within a range of $5.50@5.90. City butchers handpicked native lambs up to $6.35@6.50, while packers bought a few of these up to $6.25, getting the rank and file of native stock at $5.75 and under. Country buyers were active in the feeder division again yesterday and bid up to $5.00 for desirable western feeding lambs. Chicago receipts at 20,000, carried 12,000 directs from Denver, about 2,000 of these going through to eastern points for slaughter. Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 6,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs and 15,000 sheep, against 7,213 cattle, 19,525 hogs and 12,139 the previous Tuesday and 7,300 cattle, 19,153 hogs and 23,518 sheep a year ago.

UNITED CIGAR STORES ASKING FOR RECEIVER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 29.—The United Cigar Stores of America filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States District court today.

A. C. Allen, vice president of the company, signed the petition. Its itemized listing of assets and liabilities, and the setting forth of facts concerning the company and its plight occupy 618 pages. The Irving Trust company was appointed as receiver by Judge Coxe.

The company cited heavy losses, which have been rapidly increasing in the past few months through defaults by the company's subtenants, with no compensating adjustments in the rentals of the leases on which the company itself was liable. The losses this past month went beyond the ability of the company to stand, and threatened to run its chain store business. The company's chain store business, notwithstanding the depression, alone would have been fairly successful, and it was considered to be of such value that in the interest of all the company's creditors an attempt should be made to save it through a reorganization.

Among the principal assets of the United Cigar Stores company were listed $4,407,417 stock in trade; $1,770,690 furniture and fixtures, and $1,250,000 stocks and bonds.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Trade sentiment in grains leads more to buying side especially on breaks. Strong stock and cotton markets are looked upon as most essential to higher prices for all grains. While sharp bulges are followed by extensive taking of profits, new buying develops on breaks.

It was said at close that the large changing operations in the way of buying September and selling December around 4c, and buying September and selling May at 2¾c premium for the latter which has been a big factor for about a week, is practically over.

The Canadian and foreign situation is coming in for more attention, but it is said that action of the stock and cotton markets would be a factor for some time.

Steady increase in the open interest in wheat futures in the Chicago market has attracted special attention for a week or more. At the close on Saturday it was 155,066,000 bu, an increase of 5,000,000 bu for the day. The increase is understood to be the largest known during the month of August and at present is the largest for the period since 1929. Sales were 40,399,000 bu on Saturday. The open interest in September at the close Saturday was 3,736,000 bu old style and 166,000 bu new. The open interest in December
